PRO-ROOSEVELT ELEMENTS BUSY FILING CLAIMS

Making Demands on Administration.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—All the elements that contributed to the overwhelming re-election of Mr. Roosevelt are filing claims at the White House for their quid pro quo from the proceeds of the blank check the people gave the President to carry out the New Deal.

Labor is demanding the reconstitution of the NRA or its equivalent in order to obtain federal regulation of wages and hours of labor, government pressure to force unionization of industries and government intervention on behalf of labor in collective bargaining with employers.

The farm organizations are demanding more legislation to increase farmers' incomes, with the American Farm Bureau federation taking the lead in calling for the revival of the crop control and subsidy features of the AAA.

Silver Bloc Meeting.

The Socialists and communists and other radical groups are demanding government ownership and operation of the railroads and other industries.

The left wing of the Democratic party, the affiliated radical groups, the labor and farm organizations are united in demanding that the collectivist and other objectives of the New Deal shall be attained either by depriving the Supreme court of the power to invalidate acts of congress or by amendment of the constitution to enlarge federal power over industry and agriculture.

Up to President.

It is up to President Roosevelt to decide to what extent he will draw against the people's blank check to honor these demands. So far he has proceeded cautiously without committing himself on his course. He has stated that he has given no thought to a constitutional amendment to circumvent the Supreme court's invalidation of the NRA and AAA and otherwise to implement the New Deal. He has given it out that he is concentrating on the problem of balancing the budget. He has said that there is to be no increase of federal taxes.

Thus in all that he has said and done since the election the President has pursued a course reassuring to capital and organized business has reciprocated through the United States Chamber of Commerce with manifestations of a desire to cooperate with the administration in the consolidation of recovery.

Another "Breathing Spell."

Percolating from the post-election administration conferences, however, is information indicating that this is just another "breathing spell" that the President is giving business. His real purpose, 'tis said, is to overcome the obstacles interposed by the Supreme court to the realization of the New Deal as soon as possible in the matter calculated to be most effective. He will choose his own time and method of proceeding.

Thus, while the President may disclose his program in gerenal terms in his annual message to congress in January and in his inaugural address two weeks later he may delay legislation pending further manifestations of the attitude of the Supreme court toward the New Deal. The court during the current term will be passing on the constitutionality of the Wagner labor relations act, the public utilities act, the securities and exchange act and other New Deal legislation.

If decisions in these cases, particularly that involving labor relations, should go against the New Deal there would be an uprising of labor and other groups against the court that would aid most potently any move the President might make to curb the authority of the court or to amend the constitution.

Rulings Are Awaited.

If the court's rulings should be favorable to the New Deal, the President doubtless would attempt to gain his objective by legislation calculated to obtain the approval of the tribunal and would hold in abeyance any more drastic course of action. His course depends on whether the

REBEL COLUMN CROSSES RIVER, ENTERS MADRID

Heavy Bombing Raid Prepares Way.

CASA DE CAMPO, Spain, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Advance units of Gen. Francisco Franco's insurgent troops tonight fought their way into the University City section of Madrid. Behind violent machine gun and rifle fire the troops stormed across the Manzanares river and drove within the city limits of the besieged Spanish capital.

Five Fascist bombing planes blasted the way for the infantry. Sixty bombs were dumped into the University City section before the attackers surged forward.

Hear Sounds of Battle.

Sounds of fighting within Madrid—the explosions of hand grenades and the crackle of rifle fire—could be clearly heard at the vantage point from which correspondents watched the fighting. A pall of smoke rose over the battle area and the Manzanares river, which borders Madrid on the west.

A communique issued by insurgent headquarters said three columns of the left flank of Gen. José Varela's army made the advance and commented:

"The enemy's resistance now is overcome. When we succeeded in crossing the river we overcame the most determined resistance we have met from the Madrid troops. It was resistance of despair."

Blow Up River Bridge.

MADRID, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Madrid's defenders tonight blew up the Los Franceses railroad bridge over the Manzanares river. The bridge was dynamited after guards were surprised by Fascist insurgents' tanks which started to cross over it into the northwest section of the city.

The war command said the enemy attacked "furiously" but that the militia captured several tanks before blowing up the bridge.

During the day at least 50 persons were killed and 200 wounded in two Fascist air raids. More than 100 civilians and soldiers were killed in the week-end series of raids and at least 300 persons were wounded.

Promenaders Trapped.

Insurgent artillery today sent shells screaming into the northern end of the Grand Via, Madrid's main trafic artery. Shell after shell ripped paving blocks from the street in an area less than a quarter of a mile from the exact center of the city.

The second air raid today caught promenaders in the Avenue de Pabloiglesias. Flying shrapnel filled the street with dead and screaming injured. Local first aid stations sent emergency calls for more doctors and nurses to take care of the wounded.

The largest fleet of insurgent war planes yet to bomb Madrid swept over the city at 9:10 a. m. Twelve bombers escorted by fourteen pursuit planes appeared from the west, flying low.

Defying a barrage of anti-aircraft fire, the attackers headed directly for government troop concentrations in University City in the northwest section of Madrid.

Pay Second Visit.

The bombers spread their cargo over the whole northwestern section, including the Arguelles and Vallehermose districts. Several workers' tenements collapsed. Bombs hit the North railway station, Moncloa public park, and the Rosales promenade.

Six bombers returned in the afternoon and killed and injured many in bombardment of Cuatro Caminos, workers'- district, where there is a water reservoir.

Two of the attacking planes in the second visit were reported downed by 15 government ships guarding the city.

The bombers in the first attack shuffled about in determined search of government fortifications and dropped at least a dozen bombs along the trench system just outside the city.

Loyalists' Planes Too Late.

Four government planes on patrol duty dashed for aid before attacking the Fascist armada. Twelve government ships took the air within a few minutes, but the raiders had disappeared. However, the government planes bombed insurgent airdromes at Avila, Toledo, Torrijos, and Navalmoral. It was claimed twenty rebel planes were destroyed.

Several bombs were reported to have fallen near the Madrid model jail where thousands of political

Lady Astor's Nephew Falls to His Death

New York, Nov. 15.—(AP)—David Brooks, nephew of Lady Astor and son-in-law of James A. Moffett, vice president of the Standard Oil company of California, plunged to his death early today from a 14th floor Park avenue apartment.

Brooks lost his balance, police said, while opening a window in his bedroom. His bride of only four months, the former Adelaide Moffett, heard her husband scream while she was in their living room.

She ran into the bedroom and collapsed. After telling an incoherent story to Detective Charles Watkins, who called the death an accident, she was put to bed under care of a physician.

Tragedy Follows Visit.

The 26 year old broker and his wife had just returned home from visiting friends at about 3 a. m. Taxicab drivers and others in the street saw the body strike the sidewalk.

The body fell in East 65th street nearly opposite the town house of President Roosevelt. Moffett, father-in-law of the young man, was former federal housing administrator and previously served the President as head of the NRA oil administration committee.

A little over two years ago, on Oct. 26, 1934, Mrs. Adelaide Taft Moffett, his estranged wife and mother of Adelaide Brooks, fell to her death from an eighth floor apartment in the same neighborhood. Police said it was accidental. Two weeks later Moffett married Mrs. Adelaide Kim Moran, widow of Joseph F. Moran, millionaire shipbuilder.

Wedding a Surprise.

The Brooks wedding on July 14, in the Municipal building here was a surprise to New York society. Reginald Langhorne Brooks, brother of the bridegroom, and Randolph Burke were the witnesses.

Brooks was the son of Reginald Brooks of New York and the former Mrs. Robert H. Brand of London, one of the five Langhorne sisters of Greenwood, Va. Brooks' aunt, Lady Astor, the former Nancy Langhorne and the first woman to win a seat in the British parliament, was a visitor in the United States last summer.

Brook's young widow caused a sensation in social circles several years ago when she sang over the radio under the name of Diana Dorrance.

SEW UP HEART OF MAN KNIFED IN STREET ROW

Performing a rare operation, County hospital surgeons early yesterday sewed up the heart of a man who had been stabbed with a stiletto or long, thin knife. Last night they gave him a good chance to live, although heart wounds are almost always fatal.

The patient is Charles Pearson, 42 years old, 310 South Halsted street, a printer. He was stabbed during a quarrel in front of 13 South Halsted street. Police seized George Murray, 30 years old, 617 Madison street, a salesman, as the alleged assailant.

At the County hospital Drs. J. Lester Wilkie and Philip Shapiro discovered that the knife had cut the left ventricle of the heart. A difficult operation, which lasted four hours, was begun. The heart was sewed. Pearson was given a transfusion. He at once began to rally.

Girl Pilot, 16, Loses Life on Mercy Flight

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—An amateur girl airplane pilot sacrificed her life near here tonight on a projected "mercy" flight to International Falls, Minn. She was Priscilla Murphy, 16 year old Brookline, Mass., school girl and daughter of a famous scientist.

She was killed and two men with her were injured seriously when their monoplane crashed and burst into flames at Navarino, south of this city. The men were Pilot John N. Shobe of the Shobe Airlines of Boston, and Henry Nadeau of Nashua, N. H.

Falls Shortly After Takeoff.

The accident occurred shortly after the plane took off from the Syracuse airport at Amboy. It could not be determined whether Miss Murphy or Shobe was piloting at the time.

The "mercy" flight was intended to take Nadeau to the bedside of his dying father whom he had not seen for 37 years. Miss Murphy, regarded an able pilot despite her years, volunteered to aid Shobe, a veteran pilot, operate the plane on the long trip. "I'm not a bit nervous about flying," she remarked. "In fact, I'm looking forward to it." Her job was to have relieved Shobe at the controls from time to time.

Skill as Flyer Praised.

Brookline, Mass., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Priscilla Murphy, who was killed in an airplane crash tonight, learned to fly this summer after just seven and a quarter hours of instructions.

The pretty young aviatrix took her first lesson last May 22 on her sixteenth birthday, the first day it was legal for her to begin her course under department of commerce regulations. Twenty-two days later, on June 11, she flew solo at East Boston airport for the first time.

The girl, according to John N. Shobe, veteran aviator and instructor who was injured in tonight's crash, had "the most nearly perfect qualifications for a flyer of any woman I ever saw.

She was the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William P. Murphy. Her father, connected with the Peter Bent Brigham hospital, shared the Nobel prize in 1934 with Dr. George R. Minot of Boston for discovery of the value of liver in treating anaemia.

Priscilla attended the Brimmer school, where she was in her third year. She had one brother, William P. Murphy Jr., 13.

Shobe, one of the best known commercial pilots and instructors in New England, has more than 6,000 flying hours to his credit.

Warn General Not to Return to Death Area

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

La Grange, Ky., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt, who awaits arraignment on a charge of murdering his beautiful fiancée, Mrs. Verna Garr Taylor, member of one of the state's oldest aristocratic families, is in seclusion in Louisville today because he dares not return to his 800 acre estate six miles south of this village, which was her home.

J. Ballard Clark, attorney representing the Taylor family, disclosed today he has warned the general his life would not be safe if he returns. Clark said he sent the message to the defendant because he feared the general's appearance might precipitate mob violence by friends of the Taylor and Garr families in Oldham and Henry counties.

Under Doctor's Care.

At the same time it was disclosed tonight that Gen. Denhardt, who is a former adjutant general of the Kentucky National Guard, a hero of three wars and formerly lieutenant governor, is under the care of doctors and has a nurse in constant attendance. He is suffering from a heart ailment and shock, according to Dr. Arthur T. McCormack, state health commissioner of Kentucky, who posted the $25,000 bond under which the general won temporary freedom.

Dr. McCormack refused to reveal the name of the physician attending Gen. Denhardt.

He said that Gen. Denhardt is in Louisville and proposes to follow the advice of friends and stay there in seclusion until his examination trial, scheduled for Nov. 20 at New Castle, Ky., seat of Henry county, in which the shooting occurred.

Bullet Through Her Heart.

On the night of Nov. 6, when Mrs. Taylor's body was found crumpled beside a lonely highway five miles east of La Grange, Gen. Denhardt said she had committed suicide. There was a bullet hole through her heart and the general's .45 caliber army revolver lay beside her. The general, who had driven her to the spot in his small automobile, told investigators she had left the car, run up the road and shot herself.

Although this story was accepted at first, the feeling has grown in this vicinity that Gen. Denhardt, who was known to possess a violent temper, killed Mrs. Taylor because she had informed him that she had decided not to marry him. They had informed close friends they proposed to be wed about Nov. 15, but Mrs. Taylor's family had objected strenuously.

Lawyer Tells of Warning.

"I sent word to Henry Denhardt through his lawyers to stay away from here if he valued his life," Clark said tonight, "merely because I was afraid of what the folks around here might do.

"Henry had many enemies; he was ruthless in using his power while he had it, and he wasn't liked. Mrs. Taylor was liked by every one who knew her. If ever a woman was an angel she was, and so the feeling against him here has become intense."

Members of the Taylor family disclosed here tonight that Denhardt had first told peace officers who questioned him about the tragedy that Mrs. Taylor had threatened to commit suicide earlier on the day of Nov. 6 and leave a note exonerating him.

Tells of "Despondency."

He said that she had taken his revolver out of the compartment where it was kept in his car, but that he had taken it away from her and locked it up. He insisted during the questioning that she had been despondent "about something in her life which had no connection with me."

SYPHILIS TESTS FOR EXPECTANT MOTHERS URGED

New York, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Wasserman blood tests for all expectant mothers in New York City as a step toward controling the spread of syphilis is being urged by the department of health, according to Dr. Israel Weinstein, assistant director of the bureau of health education.

A study of 5,000 expectant mothers under the supervision of the department's pre-natal station disclosed 200 of them were infected with the disease, Dr. Weinstein said. All the latter, he added, have been placed under treatment and it is expected their children will escape congenital syphilis.

"The fact that her child's life is at stake," the physician said, "should make every expectant mother take the test. Blindness and deafness, as well as terrible chronic diseases, may be traced to congenital syphilis, for the mother can transmit the disease to her baby."

SECOND ROBBER IS SOUGHT WITH $25,000 LOOT

2 Victims Identify Dead Gunman.

Shortly before midnight Saturday John F. Cuneo, wealthy president of the Cuneo Press, and his wife, the former Julia Shepherd, were held up by two bandits in front of their home at 3300 Lake Shore drive and robbed of jewelry valued at more than $25,000. Seven hours later a man identified as one of the bandits was found shot to death in an automobile parked in front of 3450 North Racine avenue.

The dead man was John Benedetto, 40 years old, of 1104 South Main street, Rockford, who was engaged to wed next February. He had a police record as a racketeer and gambler. None of the stolen gems were found on him, leading investigators to a theory that he was murdered by his accomplice who fled with all of the loot. The second man was being sought by police last night.

Held Prisoners for a Time.

Mrs. Cuneo was deprived of her gems and $190 in cash was taken from her husband as they sat in their sixteen cylinder town car in front of the apartment building. The couple and their chauffeur, Frank Grubb, 915 Roscoe street, were then kidnaped by the gunmen and Grubb was forced to drive to Pine Grove avenue near Wellington street. There the bandits ejected the Cuneos and Grubb from the car and drove away. A few hours later the Cuneo car was found abandoned in front of 634 Oakdale avenue, several blocks away.

At 7 o'clock yesterday morning a newsboy, Robert Benson, 12 years old, 1210 Roscoe street, saw an automobile parked at the curb of 3450 North Racine avenue with a man slumped over the wheel. The Town Hall police were notified and Capt. Patrick O'Connell and Sergt. Michael Ahern hurried to the scene, accompanied by Supervising Captain John Stege.

Shot Five Times from Rear.

They found the man at the wheel was dead—evidently shot without warning. A bullet which had been fired into the back of his head was imbedded in the ignition switch of the car. In the victim's shoulders were four other bullet wounds.

The license plate on the front of the car was crumpled in an effort to conceal two of the numbers. The back license plate bore evidence of having been crumpled, then straightened.

Cards and papers in the man's pocket identified him as Benedetto. In his pocket also was found $30 in cash. The police immediately recalled the Cuneo holdup and notified Mr. Cuneo, who rushed to the scene.

Certain in His Identification.

"That looks like the man," he said, "but I'd like to see him standing up."

Benedetto's body was taken to the county morgue, where attendants held it upright. Cuneo promptly declared he was positive of his identification as he recognized a diamond on the little finger of the left hand as a stone worn by one of the holdup men. Cuneo also recognized Benedetto's light fedora hat, light topcoat, and pink checked necktie.

When Mrs. Cuneo arrived at the morgue, she looked at the body and said: "There is no other man in the world that resembles the bandit as this one does. I thought at the time of the robbery that he was typical of the Little Caesar character I once saw in the movies."

Recognized as Loiterer.

William Maxwell, doorman at the apartment building where the Cuneos live, identified the body as that of one of the two men he had seen loitering in front of the building for an hour before the Cuneos arrived. Maxwell said he had not suspected the men, believing them to be two of the WPA employés who have been in the neighborhood during the past few weeks. Maxwell did not see the holdup.

The police surmised that the robbery was carefully planned. They said that apparently the gunmen had automobiles "planted" for hours in front of 634 Oakdale and 3450 North Racine avenue.

According to the police, Benedetto and his companion probably drove the Cuneo car to Oakdale avenue, abandoned it, and drove in their own car to the Racine avenue address. There, probably, the loot was to be divided and the men planned to separate in the two automobiles.

Then, either one gunman carried out a premeditated plan to gain all the loot, or the two quarreled because they found a fair division of the gems impossible.

The jewelry consists of a $10,000 engagement ring bearing a 7½ carat diamond surrounded by six baguette diamonds; a $15,000 bracelet decked with 150 baguette diamonds, three large square diamonds and 246 small round diamonds, and a small diamond ring. The last was taken from Mr. Cuneo, who treasured it as a keepsake given to him by his mother.

From stories of two residents of the North Racine avenue neighborhood, police deduced that Benedetto was slain shortly before 1 o'clock yesterday morning. Everett L. Sumner, 1218 Cornelia avenue, an address around the corner from where the gunman's body was found, said he heard a number of shots shortly before 1 a. m. and also heard an automobile speeding away. Joseph Load, 1201 Cornelia avenue, said he saw the automobile parked on Racine avenue about 1 a. m. but did not notice the body slumped over the wheel.

Fined as Rockford Gambler.

Police records show that in January, 1930, Benedetto was arrested by federal agents in Milwaukee for violation of the prohibition laws, but there is no notation of the disposition of the case. Recently he was arrested twice in Rockford on charges of operating a gambling house, was found guilty, and fined.

Benedetto is supposed to have owned and managed the "Jolly Fifty," a former gambling house at ...in and Morgan streets in Rock...d, until six months ago. At that time, police were informed, he sold the premises to George Turner and Harry Byron, who gave their addresses as McHenry, Ill.

On June 28, the day after the deal was consummated, Byron and Turner and the latter's wife were driving from Rockford to Chicago. A few miles east of Rockford three gunmen drove up beside them and fired, seriously wounding Mrs. Turner. At a Belvidere hospital, she gave her address as 2438 North Shore avenue, Chicago.

Woman Denies Knowing Benedetto.

Byron and Turner never returned to Rockford, according to police. At the North Shore avenue address, Mrs. Turner said yesterday that she had never heard of Benedetto. She also stated that her husband was away from home most of the day and that she did not know his business.

That Benedetto was probably in financial difficulties was told to police last evening by Fred Kohler, 1715 Bryn Mawr avenue, a wrestling promoter. Benedetto had also engaged in promoting wrestling bouts in Rockford and an agreement terminating his contract with Kohler was found in the dead gunman's pocket.

Kohler said he entered into a promotion contract with Benedetto two months ago, but decided to cancel it when he learned of Benedetto's reputation. He had paid Benedetto $150 and owed him $100 more on the dissolution agreement.

Hat Check Girl Tells Story.

Anne Amedio, 18 years old, 842 Cambridge avenue, was questioned by police after her name and address were found on Benedetto. The girl said that she met Benedetto six months ago in Donaldsonville, La., where he was visiting his parents. She and her uncle drove to Chicago with him and she worked as a hat check girl for Benedetto for a time.

In an effort to establish an alibi for Benedetto, his movements before the Cuneo holdup were told yesterday by his nephew, Tony Inzerilla, 27 years old, and Nellie Caruana, 20 years old, both of Rockford. Inzerilla, who lives in Benedetto's Rockford apartment, said he saw his uncle in that city at 9 o'clock Saturday night. That would be 10 o'clock Chicago time.

Engaged to Wed Next February.

Miss Caruana, who lives at 819 Montague street, Rockford, said she saw Benedetto there shortly before 10 o'clock Rockford time. Police learned that invitations to the wedding next February of Benedetto and the Caruana girl had been sent out.

The Cuneos were held up as they returned home from the Erlanger theater, where Grubb had called for them with their car.

One of the bandits, Benedetto, yanked open the rear door of the car, thrust a gun at the Cuneos and announced: "This is a stickup." He got into the rear seat and his companion jumped in front with Grubb, ordering him to drive south.

Mrs. Cuneo kicked at Benedetto with both feet, causing him to yell with pain. He thrust her back, and threatened her with the gun. Mr. Cuneo placated him, telling him: "Don't hurt anybody. We'll give you everything we have."

ALL LARGE DIAMONDS 'FINGER-PRINTED' AND LISTED, SAYS DEALER

Methods of tracing stolen diamonds have been developed along the lines of finger print identification, an official of a large jewelry store said yesterday. He said a big diamond, such as the 7½ carat stone stolen from Mrs. John F. Cuneo Saturday night, could be identified later, even though recut.

"All diamonds of more than one carat sold by respectable jewelry houses," the official said, "are cataloged just as are finger prints. Ninety per cent of the diamonds in the world have flaws. The cutter can always recognize these flaws even if the stone has been recut.

"It might be difficult, however, to prove such an identification in court if the diamond has been cut down. For instance, if the 7½ carat stone were reduced to 7 carats by some of the crooked diamond cutters who operate in New York, the original cutter would recognize the stone by the flaws but a criminal lawyer could make much of the fact that the stone in evidence does not weigh as much as the one stolen."

During the depression there was little demand for diamonds as large as the one stolen from Mrs. Cuneo, but the market has increased now, the official said. He conceded that if the stolen diamond were sold in Europe and worn there, it would be difficult to prove its identity and bring it back here.

PLAY POKES FUN AT GODS; BANNED BY RED CENSORS

'Mocks Baptism,' Moscow Edict Says.

MOSCOW, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Soviet rulers of the theater rose up today against Poet Demyan Bedny because he ridiculed Baptism in Russia and poked fun at ancient Gods in a new comic opera, The Titans.

The art committee of the council of people's commissars, the soviet board of censors, ordered the opera withdrawn from the Kamerny theater as "alien to soviet art."

P. Kerzhentzeff, chairman of the art committee, carried his criticism into articles today in the official newspapers Pravda and Izvestia, and observers professed belief Bedny, member of the communist party and resident of the Kremlin, was headed for serious difficulties.

Mocks Russia's Progress.

The art committee gave three reasons for banning The Titans:

"The opera gave an anti-historical and mocking picture of baptism in Russia which in reality was a progressive stage in the history of the Russian peoples since it facilitated bringing the Slav peoples into closer touch with those of higher civilization.

"The opera attempts to glorify the robbers of Kiev in czarist Russia as a revolutionary element, which is contrary to historical facts and thoroughly false in political tendencies.

"The opera also besmirches the knights and gods of Russian mythology who in popular fancy represent heroic traits of the Russian people."

Scores Reference to Orgy.

Bedny portrayed the knights as cowards and drunkards and depicted baptism in Russia, following the conversion to Christianity of the tenth century ruler, Prince Vladimir, as the result of a drunken orgy.

[Vladimir was a pagan for many years, with 800 concubines and many wives. He was converted to the orthodox religion after a survey by his envoys of the religions of various countries.]

Pennsylvania College Girl Hangs Self Near Campus

Chambersburg, Pa., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The body of Miss Kathryn Murray, 22, a senior at Wilson college here, was found hanging today from the limb of a tree near the college campus, Coroner A. W. Thrush said she had committed suicide.

POLICE CHARITY FERVOR SCARES SUNDAY DRIVERS

BY HAL FOUST.

Police sirens sounded in Chicago's heavy Sunday traffic yesterday. It wasn't a crime wave, at least not in the ordinary sense. Some motorists, however, grumbled that it was a crime.

The following anecdote explains what it was all about. The locale may be considered as any of Chicago's boulevards. The same thing was happening throughout the city.

Z-z-z-r-r-r . . .

The police siren startles a law abiding automobile owner taking his family for a Sunday ride. The uniformed driver of the police car jerks a thumb to signal the overtaken automobile to the curb.

Effect Is Certain.

There isn't one citizen in a hundred who is not a bit uneasy under such circumstances. What will the charges be? Was I going too fast? Did I overlook a stop sign?

The policeman, leaving his police car, walks up to the citizen's automobile and opens the door in a businesslike manner. From a hip pocket of the uniform comes the book of court summonses. Then comes the gag line.

Tribune Car Halted.

THE TRIBUNE roadster was halted in this fashion on the outer drive yesterday afternoon. The policeman, a bit belated, recognized his intended customer [or is victim the proper word?].

"I know it has earmarks of a shakedown because drivers are frightened when we stop them," said the policeman, "but don't get me in bad with my captain. It isn't my idea that I'm doing this. I was given a dozen tickets and told to sell them or eat them."

Called Worthy Charity.

Mayor Kelly's Christmas fund is acknowledged as a worthy charity. This year, it is planned to raise enough money to clothe 65,000 children for the winter. The football game likewise is a worthwhile sporting event. It is held on Nov. 28 in Soldiers' field between the public high school champions and the Catholic high school champions of Chicago. And the tickets are reasonably priced at $1 each.

But motorists don't like to be solicited by sirens, police cars, and men with stars, guns and arrest books, several of them complained yesterday.

Rosenwald Fund Donates $100,000 to Hospital Plan

A gift of $100,000 to the American Hospital association for development of voluntary hospital insurance was announced last night by Edwin R. Embree, president of the Julius Rosenwald Fund. The hospital insurance plan contemplates hospitalization for persons of small means. They would pay $6 to $12 a year insurance. Study of the plan will be carried on through a special committee of which Dr. C. Rufus Rorem is executive director.

STORY OF BULLET SHEDS NEW LIGHT ON RUSSELL CASE

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 15.—(AP)—The statement of 12 year old Jimmy Kirkwood that he saw police pry a bullet from a wooden settee near where the body of Reid Russell was found on the estate of Gouverneur Morris, noted novelist, last September brought a new element tonight into a renewed investigation of Russell's death.

The boy, son of Lila Lee, film actress, told a Los Angeles Examiner reporter today he saw the officers pry the missil from the bench behind the lawn swing where the body was found. He said the bullet dropped into high grass and the officers hunted for it without success.

Mrs. Morris Informed.

Mrs. Morris, wife of the novelist, said Jimmy told her of the incident shortly afterward. Failure to find the bullet was one ground upon which Russell's mother demanded reopening of the investigation after officials had concluded Russell's death was a suicide.

Capt. Clyde Plummer of the district attorney's staf announced experiments would be conducted at the Morris home tomorrow in an effort to determine the probable course of a bullet fired under circumstances such as those indicated by the investigation as existing at the time.

Bullet to Be Traced.

Decision to reënact the death scene was announced by Capt. Plummer after Morris, his wife, and Miss Lee, appeared voluntarily yesterday to tell what they knew of the death of the young man, with whom they were friendly.

Police tomorrow will shoot the death weapon, which was found on Russell's lap, into an object of the approximate solidity of the human head, then trace the bullet.

If it is easily found, said Plummer, it will indicate that Russell did not die in the lawn swing—that he was killed elsewhere and his body carried there.

MRS. GROSS ENDS EVIDENCE TODAY IN DIVORCE TRIAL

In a court session this afternoon, Attorney W. T. Alden is expected to conclude the presentation of evidence in behalf of his client, Mrs. Henry R. Gross, the former Elina Orr of the stage, who is suing her wealthy husband for divorce. The case is being heard before Judge John C. Lewe of the Superior court.

When Attorney Robert E. Cantwell has his turn to proceed for Mr. Gross, he is expected to move to dismiss the suit on several grounds. If that fails, Attorney Cantwell will call to the witness stand as many as thirty witnesses, including members of the Chicago Golf club, the Saddle and Cycle club and the Racquet club.

These witnesses will be called to testify that Mr. Gross isn't a habitual drinker as is charged in his wife's suit. They are expected to cite his athletic ability in tennis, squash, and golf and his early arrival daily at his office as evidence that he isn't addicted to liquor.

HOBO, AN ALLEY CAT THAT SAW THE WORLD, DIES

Known in Many Lands as Traveling Feline.

Hobo, an alley cat with a temperament that fitted him for traveling and mingling with all classes of people without fright, died on Nov. 7 in San Antonio, Tex., according to word received yesterday.

Hobo was visiting in San Antonio with his mistress, Mrs. J. B. Kerrott, 541 Wellington avenue, the wife of an executive of the Reincke-Ellis-Younggreen & Finn advertising agency. Mrs. Kerrott is still in Texas but Hobo's passing was confirmed here by Mr. Kerrott.

He Saw the World.

The cat was a native of Chicago. He was large and blackish brown and white of a genuine alley cat mixture. Eight years ago he appeared at the Kerrotts' back door as a kitten. Mrs. Kerrott traveled extensively and Hobo went with her to 15 foreign countries and almost every state in the Union, always traveling first class by plane, train, ship, or automobile.

Never afraid in any situation, Hobo had a brilliant faculty for "staying put," according to Mr. Kerrott. When his mistress went shopping in loop department stores she usually put Hobo on a counter where he would await her return without fidgeting or worrying.

An Autograph Collector.

The cat became known to many store clerks, airplane pilots and stewardesses, conductors and ship captains. Mrs. Kerrott collected for Hobo 500 distinguished autographs and a scrap book of press clippings.

Hobo died of an intestinal ailment. Mr. Kerrott said the cat was fond of grasshoppers and butterflies and that this might have had something to do with his untimely end.

STRIVE IN VAIN TO SAVE BABY.

A fire department rescue squad worked more than a half an hour in an unsuccessful effort early yesterday to revive Frances Riley, 4 months old, 3064 East 79th street, who was found suffocated in a baby carriage.

HITLER PROBES 'RELIABILITY' OF EVERY CITIZEN

Seeks Political Histories in Households.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—The "political reliability" of every German citizen is now subject to careful investigation by officials of the Nazi party. A questionnaire distributed to households demands information concerning the political history of each member of a household. The questionnaire is arranged like an index card and is destined to be filed in the party offices.

Simultaneously systematic control of all Nazi party members is proceeding, with the aim of ousting those who have failed to live up to Nazi standards. This "cleaning up" is causing a certain amount of nervousness since the decisions of the Labor courts have shown that dismissal from the party justifies instant dismissal from jobs.

Nine Duties for "Block Leaders."

To carry out these new tasks the internal party organization has undergone a change. Hitherto, "block leaders" were entrusted with jobs of looking after a dozen party members. Henceforth every "block leader" must take care of sixty households whether or not the members belong to the Nazi party. "Block leaders" are made responsible that those under their charge "understand the Nazi philosophical and political tasks of our time." It is admitted that the "multiple nature of the tasks of block leaders demands the appointment of specially gifted men who must be allowed a certain time to carry out difficult tasks."

The four year plan "to free Germany from foreign raw material imports" also calls for the reorganization of the structure of industry.

"The aim is that the ministry of economics shall confine itself to laying down guiding principles for whose carrying out industrial groups and chambers are to be held responsible," Dr. Hjalmar Schacht said in his capacity as minister of national economy.

Instructions Are Issued.

"Groups and chambers must see to it that raw material supplies are used economically," he advised. "Also, they must take the initiative in developing raw material production. To prevent waste of material there must be widespread standardization. Unification of bookkeeping and price calculation systems must also be introduced to simplify official control."

While cartels and syndicates are acknowledged to be "still necessary for the present," they, in the future, can reach no decision before first submitting it for approval to the national chamber of economics and the national group of "commerce and industry."

KING BREAKS ANOTHER TRADITION; FLIES FLAG ON PALACE IN ABSENCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Considerable comment was aroused here today by the fact that the royal standard was flying over Buckingham palace, although King Edward VIII of England was supposed to be at his country home at Fort Belvedere.

It is customary to fly the flag over the building in which the king is residing, but never in his absence. According to residents of London, this is the first time on record in which any king ordered a flag to be flown in his absence. Some circles have taken this to mean he prefers not to attract attention to his week-end holiday in the country.

"Aunt Bessie" with Wally.

TRIAL OF ZINTAK FOR SHORTAGE TO BEGIN TOMORROW

Frank V. Zintak, ousted clerk of the Superior court, is to go on trial tomorrow before a jury in the Criminal court of Judge Robert C. O'Connell on a charge of embezzling $26,500 of funds in court custody. Zintak was ousted from office several months ago after an audit disclosed the shortage in the accounts of his office. He has paid back $25,639.35 to the county, the amount he estimated as the shortage. Zintak will be defended by Attorney Benedict Short, who was defense counsel for Robert M. Sweitzer.

IOWA FARMER IS BIG INTEREST OF GOVERNOR ELECT

Kraschel Favors Only Part of New Deal.

BY ERNEST KIRSCHTEN.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Nelson G. Kraschel [pronounced "Crash-l," with the accent on the first syllable] today is the governor-elect of Iowa thanks to the second Roosevelt landslide.

Even his flair for oratory, developed as an outstanding auctioneer of pure bred cattle, takes little credit from the New Deal for his narrow margin of less than 2,500 votes over George A. Wilson of Des Moines, his Republican opponent.

But what is a little amazing about this victory of Gov. Clyde Herring's right hand man is the fact that less than two years ago he was engaged in a serious dispute with PWA Administrator Harold Ickes, a dispute that resulted in Kraschel's removal as executive secretary of the state's advisory public works board, a radio denunciation by Ickes in which the then lieutenant-governor was held up as a warning to those who "play fast and loose" with PWA funds, and his subsequent indictment by a federal grand jury.

Only Grants Sought.

Kraschel was accused of inducing counties and towns to apply for PWA grants but to forego the 70 per cent loans that were offered by Washington. Instead, they were advised that they might float bonds through Carleton Beh, a Des Moines broker well known to both Herring and Kraschel.

The case against the governor-elect was dismissed, but in the meantime he said some bitter things about Ickes, defending his conduct on the ground that funds were more quickly obtained through Beh, and at a lower interest rate.

During the recent campaign, Kraschel's friends intimated that Ickes had offered to come into the state to make a speech in his behalf, but just as soon as the official canvass had assured him of victory, the governor-elect said he never had heard of such an offer and that he was glad he had not had Ickes' aid.

Promises to Back New Deal.

Kraschel, however, refuses to admit that there is any ground in all this for rumors of a possible break between himself and the national administration.

"I have promised to coöperate," he said, "and once I am sworn into office I intend to keep that promise."

And he backed up this statement by hurrying to Washington for a conference with Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, just as soon as he was sure of his election.

Kraschel, who is 47, tall, and with just the slightest suggestion of gray in his blond hair, is definitiy a product of the depression and the New Deal era—so far as politics are concerned. Before 1932, except for an abortive bid for a seat in the state senate in 1920, his interests were confined to auctioneering and to his home and family in Harlan, a city of 4,000, just 100 miles west of Des Moines, in which he settled on coming to Iowa from Macon county, Ill., in 1910.

Defeated in Senate Race.

It was in 1932 that he received the only defeat in the present phase of his career, and it was in the same year that he was elected to his first state office. The defeat came at the hands of the late Senator Louis Murphy when Kraschel sought the Democratic senatorial nomination, and the victory came a few months later when he was elected lieutenant governor, a post he has held ever since.

"My interest in state politics grew out of my interest in the farmers and cattle men of the state," Kraschel explained. "As an auctioneer of pure bred cattle, I felt the bad times even before the farmers were aware of them. There just weren't any more sales. So I decided to turn to the one field in which I could do something about the situation—and that meant politics."

The next governor of the Hawkeye state was first impressed with politics as a remedy for farm ills by former Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace back in 1922, he said, but it is the program of the younger Wallace that he is inclined to follow—with reservations.

For Iowa Farmers First.

"I believe in Iowa first," he said. "I favor conservation, but I don't want to see good Iowa land put out of production. I don't want to see less dependable areas built up at the expense of this state. Here in Iowa and in the bordering states is the most dependable farm producing area in all the United States, and I want to see it get the contract to furnish the nation's food supply."

Kraschel has indicated that he has no extensive legislation program to present to a lower house that is evenly divided and a state senate in which his Republican adversaries have a majority of six. He feels that a great many laws were passed hastily in the last few years and that it might be wise to study them with a view to modifying or strengthening them. But he does want to see the Iowa farm mortgage moratorium and the three point tax plan extended when they expire early next year. The present tax setup imposes levies on personal and corporate incomes, as well as a sales tax.

Born in Illinois.

Kraschel was born in downstate Illinois on Oct. 27, 1889, but went to Harlan soon after being graduated from the Macon High school. There he met his wife, a Grinnell college graduate. They were married in 1913, and now have three sons, Frederick, 22; Richard, 16; and James, 12. The elder is studying law at Iowa State university and made several campaign speeches for his father this fall.

"We are both proud to hear people refer to our brick colonial house as the show place of Harlan," said Mrs. Kraschel, "and when my husband is at home, nothing pleases him more than to get into some old clothes and putter about the garden.

"Of course, he likes fishing, too. I and the boys go with him, but we never seem to catch anything. And he gets a big kick out of steak fries and picnics. He'd rather go into the woods with some of our friends than to a fancy social affair."

Big Interest in Sales.

But you can't talk with the governor elect long without realizing that his greatest interest is still in cattle sales. He has carried on this business in almost every state in the Union and for such clients as Edward VIII. and and Queen Mary. And there's a story they tell about his oratorical auctioneering:

"I guess you'll be able to sell 'most everything I've got here except this old horse," a farmer client said to him once. "I've had the animal since before I was married."

"You just watch me," came Kraschel's quick reply.

When it came time to sell the horse, he launched into a very touching account of its history. He told how its owner had hitched it to a buggy to go "sparking." That brought a bid. Then he told how the farmer had used it on his wedding day. Came another bid. And how it had been driven through the night to get the doctor when the first child fell sick. Still a better bid! Finally the horse was sold for $50.

"Well, said Kraschel when he rejoined the farmer, "I did pretty well for you."

"Shucks," said the other, "you got me so stirred up that I told a fellow to bid the animal in for me."

DELIVER SOCIAL SECURITY BLANKS IN MAILS TODAY

Distribution of between 800,000 and 1,000,000 social security application blanks will be started today by mailmen. The deliveries will be made after the regular letter deliveries, entailing an extra round for the mailmen. According to Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen, the blanks are to be given to employers who in turn will distribute them among employés. Each applicant—or employé—will be given two blanks, identified as "SS4" and "SS5." The first must be filled out and returned by the employé either to the postoffice or to the mailman by Nov. 24. The second is retained by the applicant. Application blanks for employers are to be distributed later.

WOMEN EVINCE NEW INTERESTS AT AUTO SHOW

BY KAY HALL.

The ladies, heretofore interested only in the cute chromium gadgets and interior luxuries of an automobile, yesterday gave evidence that their mechanical education is progressing. Women duplicated the wise looks of their menfolk at the 37th annual Chicago automobile show as they toured the International amphitheater, inspecting cutaway motors, bisected bodies and lubrication systems.

Femininity accounted for about half of the record second day crowd of 35,000 which brought a two-day total attendance to 75,000. H. T. Hollingshead, chairman of the show committee, predicted last night that the eight day exhibition would attract more than 300,000 persons.

Mirrors Have Appeal.

That women have retained some of their old sense of automotive values was seen in the acute interest they took in the new mirrors which several manufacturers have placed behind the lether sun visors that swing downward to within nose powdering range. Salesmen reported that 30 per cent of the buyers are spending the extra $1.50 to have the mirrors installed.

Larger rear luggage compartments this year serve a dual purpose, one satisfying the need for more space for baggage and the second serving to fill out the rear of the automobiles to streamlined proportions.

Trailer Exhibits Popular.

Entire families jammed the section where the trailers are shown in a tourist camp setting; trees overhead and leaves underfoot. The models exhibited range from the simplest, with nothing but sleeping quarters, to the modern home on wheels. The latter include about everything in apartment house luxury with the exception, perhaps, of a patio. One model even has servants' quarters forward.

The highlight of the show is the "Brides of the Nations" program, an extravaganza of automobiles and international beauties. Young women of six nationalities, gowned in bridal costumes of their countries, are presented at each performance in an exhibition of cars. The "brides" appear in a setting of huge filmy drapes. Music is by Cavello's band. The bride of America, Miss Maxine Greenwell, climaxes the performance with a walk across a 100 foot runway to a waiting automobile. She wears white satin with a 25 foot train.

DE LANNOY FAMILY HISTORY FOUND; MAY BE ROOSEVELT KIN

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Nov. 15.—Documents relating to the De Lannoy family from the region of Lille, believed to be ancestors of President Roosevelt through the Delanos, have been discovered in the grand duchy of Luxembourg, according to a dispatch published today by Le Matin. A complete genealogy was found preserved in the château de Clervaux. The documents reveal that in 1617 Claude de Lannoy married Claudine D'Eltz de Clervaux, heiress of the Clervaux overlordship.

Numerous documents relating to Claude de Lannoy give him the titles of Count de Lamottry, baron of Clervaux and Ennery, lord of Clervaux and of Bletange, and knight of the Golden Fleece. He was a general camp master of the lowlands, a member of the supreme war council of the king of Spain, and governor of Maastrict and the city and county of Namur. His descendants resided in Clervaux several centuries and one branch of the family emigrated to America during the eighteenth century, it is stated.

RUNAWAY MOTOR LEADS TO BODY OF TRAIN VICTIM

Gallup, N. M., Nov. 15.—(AP)—A riderless, runaway rail motor car raced through the Santa Fe yards here today and wrecked itself at a closed switch.

Later a freight train, with shreds of a man's clothing on the engine, arrived. That sent peace officers and rail officials on a search which led to discovery of the mangled body of W. F. Brock, 24 year old motor car maintainer, sixteen miles east of here.

Witnesses told a coroner's jury the man probably fell from the car and was killed, or knocked unconscious onto the track, where the body was run over and dragged by a freight train. The train crew did not see the body.

LAUNCH QUIZ ON COERCION STORY AT U. S. PROJECT

Administrator Takes Up Homesteaders' Charges

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Assistant Resettlement Administrator C. B. Baldwin said today his office would investigate complaints that 150 homesteaders of the Cumberland homsteads project at Crossville, Tenn., were being "coerced and intimidated" in financial operations of the project.

Four employés of the project appealed to President Roosevelt yesterday for an investigation of their charges that project managers were forcing homesteaders to accept 50 per cent of payments due them.

Tells of Warning Four.

Project Manager William Macy Stanton said at Crossville he had warned the four men they would be dismissed unless they signed a voucher for "settlement of your credit hours on a basis of 50 per cent cash payment."

Baldwin said today that "the matter of credit hours has caused some confusion at several projects. The credit hour system was inherited by the resettlement administration on those projects which were started as subsistence homesteads under the interior department."

System Is Explained.

He said the credit hour system, used only on the old subsistence projects, required payment for services of homsteaders to be made on the basis of one-half actual payment and the other as "credit hours" to be applied on the payment of their homes.

"In some instances, homesteaders have wanted to leave the project and have demanded full payment instead of the part time payment and credit hour application," Baldwin said.

GLENVIEW POLICE CHIEF KILLED IN HIGHWAY CRASH

Girl Driver and 6 Others Are Injured.

Jack V. Miller, police chief of Glenview, was injured fatally yesterday when his automobile collided with a car driven by Miss Jean Volenec, 23 years old, 3024 South 52d court, Cicero, at the intersection of Algonquin and Barrington roads, five miles southwest of Barrington. Miller, 44 years old, lived at 2100 Grove avenue, Glenview.

Miss Volenec and the six other occupants of the two cars were injured, and were taken to the Sherman hospital in Elgin. Two of them, Walter J. Hoffman and Raymond Lavernes, also of Glenview, were on a hunting trip with Miller when the accident occurred. In Miss Volenec's car were Miss Marjorie Treml, 19, 3511 Gunderson avenue, Berwyn; Tony Radecki, 40, 7313 Oakwood avenue, Lyons; his wife, Sylvia, 38, and Anton Horonatka, 43, of Chicago, who were returning from a wedding celebration in Barrington.

Police said the accident occurred when Miss Volenec drove past a stop sign for Algonquin road into the path of Miller's machine. She was held by state police for the inquest today.

Six Others Die.

Six other persons in Cook county died yesterday from injuries sustained in automobile accidents. Four youths were burned to death and a companion was injured fatally in an accident at Wichert, Ill., near Kankakee, and a Chicagoan was killed in the crash of two machines near La Salle. The Cook county deaths were:

Elvie Thweatt, 32, Hayes hotel, 6345 University avenue. Fatally injured when the car he was driving swerved and crashed head-on into a northbound street car in State street near 13th street.

George Laue, 28, 14502 Tohlers court, Dolton. Died after his car collided at Main and Chicago streets, Dolton, with one owned by Ray Herrick, 36, 4238 Magaoun avenue, East Chicago, Ind. Herrick was injured. He and his companion, Frank Kaminski, 38, 23 State street, Hammond, Ind., were held.

Woman, about 39, colored, unidentified. Killed at South Park avenue and 44th street by a car driven by Emerson Hongo, 34, colored, 3202 South Park avenue.

Richard Jaske, 60, 2817 East 103d street. Died in South Chicago hospital of injuries incurred Saturday when struck by hit and run automobile as he was alighting from a southbound street car at Commercial avenue and 103d street.

Mrs. Elizabeth Healy, 48, 1441 Congress street. Died in the county hospital of injuries incurred Saturday when she was struck by hit and run automobile at Jackson boulevard and Laflin street.

George Kimpel, 76, 5148 Prairie avenue. Died in St. Bernard hospital, supposedly of injuries incurred when he was struck by automobile on Nov. 2 at State and 59th streets.

Victor Baldi, 42, 5328 Parker avenue, was killed and four other persons were injured critically in a collision of two cars six miles east of La Salle, Ill. Baldi was on a missionary trip with the Rev. Peter Menconi, 2024 Iowa street, pastor of the Christian sasembly, 1352 West Erie street, and Mrs. Jose H. Palermo and her son, Phillip, of 2445 West Huron street.

The car driven by Baldi collided head-on with one driven by Martin Ernat, La Salle farmer, police said. Baldi was vice president of a Chicago candy company.

Youths' Car Hits Train.

In the accident at Wichert, eight miles southeast of Kankakee, the car crashed into a moving Chicago and Eastern Illinois freight train. They were returning from a roadhouse dance.

The dead, all of whom resided in Momence, were: Earl Royce, 19; Robert Lyons, 19; and his brother Edward, 22; Clark Steele, 25, driver of the car, and Arnold Anderson, 22. After hitting the train the car burst into flames and all but Robert Lyons and Cecil Royce, 17, brother of Earl, were pinned in the wreckage. Cecil Royce was injured seriously.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 886 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 670 were killed in Chicago. In the same period 16,960 persons were injured in trafic accidents within the city.

800 POUND TAPIR UNDERGOES RARE SURGERY AT ZOO

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Alice, 800 pounds of her, was doing nicely today following a rarely performed bit of surgery—and a "major operation" for eight men who took part.

Alice is the Cincinnati zoo's tapir, long nosed, three toed relative of the horse. She developed a multiple abscess on the jowl. Dr. Sol Stephan Jr., the zoo veterinarian, tried vaccine therapy without success.

Alice's temperature rose, and after consultations, the operation was agreed upon.

Eight men threw and held Alice, who usually is docile. Then there was the matter of anesthesia. There were few "case histories" to guide them, Stephan said, and finally it became a matter of administering drop by drop. Two ounces had Alice sleeping.

FIVE BURNED TO DEATH AS FLAMES DESTROY THEIR 2 STORY HOME

Irwin, Pa., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Four children and a 20 year old youth were burned to death tonight as flames swept their frame home in Hahntown, Westmoreland county mining settlement.

The children's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gubanic, were saved by neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Gubanic slept on the first floor of the house and the children on the second.

GREEK CATHOLIC BISHOPS TO MEET HERE TOMORROW

The annual conference of bishops of the Russian Orthodox Greek Catholic church of America will convene tomorrow in Holy Trinity cathedral, 1121 Leavitt street, and hold sessions lasting through next Sunday under the presidency of Metropolitan Theophilus, archbishop of San Francisco.

The prelates represent a half million Russian churchmen, according to the Very Rev. Sergius Snegireff, dean of the cathedral, who added that the coming conference is the first of its kind to be held in Chicago.

In addition to Metropolitan Theophilus, Archbishops Adam of Philadelphia, Tikhon of Seattle, and Vitale of New Jersey, will attend the sessions. Among prelates expecting to attend the conclave are Bishops Arsenius of Detroit, Jehosophat of Winnipeg, Leonty of Chicago and Minneapolis, Benjamin of Pittsburgh, and Jeronem of Montreal.

TOPPING ENGLISH WOOL HOSE

(Made in England expressly for The Store for Men)

Along with roast beef, ale, and crumpets, the English are also famous for wool and what they do with it. One of the things they do best with it is knit "6 x 3" ribbed wool or silk-and-wool hose. And while many good houses here in America manufacture these hose well, discriminating men still agree that the English sock is best, if you can afford it.

You can afford it, now. We sent our buyer across the water last Spring. He visited all the fine old mills, and made arrangements for the production of a line of English wool socks exclusive with us. And by setting up these staple lines, he made it possible for us to offer you fine English-made goods at prices no higher than are ordinarily charged for domestic products. ITALY SETS OUT TO TAME LAST OF ETHIOPIAN REBELS

Still Must Subdue Fourth of Country.

ADDIS ABABA, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Italian columns are on the move again in Ethiopia to complete conquest of the land of the ousted Emperor Haile Selassie.

Six months after troops occupied this capital city and Premier Mussolini proclaimed the annexation of Ethiopia, the war still is in progress against unconquered chieftains.

Classed as Bandits.

With the end of the rainy season Italian columns are pushing westward toward the Sudanese border and Gore, reputed seat of what remains of an autonomous Ethiopian government, and southward through Galla and Sidamo provinces toward the Kenya frontier.

Ethiopian irregulars—the Italians call them bandits—are fighting bitterly to prevent the invaders from extending their dominion. The territory which the Italians have not yet occupied represents approximately one-fourth of all Ethiopia.

It includes Walega province, to the west of Addis Ababa, an area reputed to be rich in mineral resources, and a fertile lake district to the south.

50,000 Still Holding Out.

The unsubjugated warriors are estimated by Italian military sources to number about 50,000. Many of them are well equipped with machine guns, modern artillery, anti-aircraft and anti-tank guns.

One such group, numbering some 1,600 men under Degiac Fiere Mariam, clashed with an Italian column only 40 miles from here. The battle lasted seven hours. The Ethiopians finally were put to flight, leaving more than 300 warriors dead on the field of battle. The Italian casualties were not announced.

Equally bitter engagements have been fought in remoter sections. Nevertheless, the army hopes to complete the work of conquest before the next rainy season starts.

ITALY TO CELEBRATE FIRST BIRTHDAY OF LEAGUE SANCTIONS

ROME, Nov. 15.—(AP)—One of the strangest national observances on the historical calendar—the "Day of Ignominy and Iniquity"—will be celebrated by Italians Wednesday. To Italians it is "sanctions day," first anniversary of the date upon which fifty-two members of the league of nations ordered an economic siege against Italy.

A year ago Premier Mussolini ordered every Italian communal palace to be provided with a plaque recalling the "shamefulness of this concerted attack on Italy." On Wednesday Fascist officials will gather before these plaques. Victors against the siege and in the Ethiopian campaign which brought sanctions upon Italy, they will hear broadcast patriotic addresses.

Broadcasters will recall for them the famous communique from the Fascist grand council asking the people to oppose sanctions with "implacable resistance," and the communes to mark the hateful day in marble. Flags and bunting will fly in every city and town. The Fascist grand council will meet for the first time this fall to discuss plans for the future of the empire.

ADVERTISING MAN KILLED.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Robert Fuess, 33, advertising manager of The Daily Telephone was injured fatally early this morning when the automobile in which he was riding crashed against a concrete trafic signal post in the center of a city street intersection.

JEWS OF LONDON HIT BILL AIMED TO PROTECT RACE

Omission of Penalties Stirs Anger.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 15. — Representatives of all of London's Jewish organizations met today under the auspices of the "Jewish People's Council Against Fascism and Anti-Semitism" and went on record as opposing a bill which is coming up in parliament tomorrow designed to protect them against Fascists.

Although the delegates heartily approve the idea of the bill—to prevent the wearing of political uniforms, the creation of semi-military organizations, and to punish inciters of race hatred—they say the present bill is "dangerous."

Criticize Loose Wording.

Under the "public order bill" now being studied, the loose wording would make it possible that "people who merely remonstrated against lying statements might be liable to a heavy fine or imprisonment or both," it is argued.

J. Jacobs of the council's executive committee said the Jews are angry at the omission of specific mention in the bill of penalties for "racial incitements."

"We do not want Jews put into a favored section of the community," he said. "All we ask is that there be legislation to prevent the incitement of one section of the population against another."

Socialists Oppose Measure.

Opposition to the bill also was expressed by the National Council for Civil Liberties and the Socialist league, left wing labor organization headed by Sir Stafford Cripps. The Socialists describe the clause empowering the police to ban processions threatening disorders, as "dangerous in the extreme to the working class' liberty."

The liberties council directed its chief criticism at the section making acts or statements of an adherent of any organization admissible in evidence upon the prosecution of the organization's leaders. This was denounced as "a complete reversal of the principle in English law that a man is only responsible for his own acts or those he has directly authorized."

The bill is the result of an uproar caused in London on several recent occasions when Sir Oswald Mosley, Fascist leader, tried to parade through Jewish and foreign sections with his Black Shirts.

Sir John Simon, home secretary, insisted he was powerless under existing laws to forbid parades. Sir Philip Game, commissioner of metropolitan police, took it upon himself to halt the parades when the trouble started, but was unable to forbid them in advance.

BURGLARS LOOT STORE.

Allegan, Mich., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The Liberty market was looted by burglars last night of an undetermined amount of merchandise.

prisoners are held. One missil fell near the Buensuceso hospital.

The aerial bombardment, coupled with artillery shelling of the neighborhood during the night, led the government to decide to move the prisoners—but where was not yet determined. The artillery shelling and short exchanges of machine gun fire came just after midnight

Prepare for "Big Push."

The military governor, Gen. José Miaja, said his forces were consolidating their positions preparatory to launching a "big push" against the Fascist besiegers.

As a precaution in the event of gas attacks, the government ordered published a list of all-night drug stores that could supply first aid.

The reported capture of a quantity of gas masks and munitions in fighting at Casa de Campo hunting park, west of Madrid, led the government to believe the enemy might resort to the use of gas.

The defense junta announced the government had appropriated an additional 25,000,000 pesetas [about $3,250,000] for war operations in the Madrid sector.

Will Question Captives.

Gen. Miaja ordered that "henceforth every aviator will be respected by the army or civilians who may have captured him.

"A pilot who takes to a parachute in combat under no circumstances should be fired upon. It is often times difficult to identify a man coming down in a parachute, and the possibility exists that he may be one of our own men.

"If he is an enemy, he may be able to give us information which would prove valuable in our operations.

"Without offending him either by word or deed, he will be brought to general staf headquarters. In the event he is wounded, he will be taken to the first place where he can be given medical attention. Any one violating these orders will be punished severely."

The general also warned citizens not to gather in the streets when planes are overhead, and asserted that "many victims of recent raids would have been spared if they had been strictly ordered against leaving shelters.

Seek Evidence of Gas Use.

TALAVERA DE LA REINA, Spain, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Several Fascist soldiers who collapsed in front line trenches were brought here today for medical examination to determine whether they had been gassed.

Fascist officers said the soldiers reported aerial bombs which did not explode fell near them with a strange "fizzing" sound.

"The soldiers who collapsed vomited and felt a painful, burning sensation about the eyes," one officer said.

[The Madrid government has denied use of gas in the civil war.]

REBELS CUT GAP IN STRONG LINE OF MADRID ARMY

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CUATRO VIENTOS, Spain, Nov. 14.—[Delayed by censor.]—The loyalists' defense line, which, on both sides of this observation post, has been holding steady for the last five days, broke today and Gen. Jose Varela's rebel troops leaped ahead on a short segment of road they still must cover before entering Madrid.

At nightfall, along the Talavera highway, extreme rebel posts were at the 3 kilometer [2 mile] mark from the Puerta del Sol [Madrid's main plaza].

Loyalist Guns Silenced.

Loyalists were driven back all along the line south and southwest of Madrid. The rebel batteries at Cuatro Vientos changed the direction of fire from northeast to southeast, and were getting very little reply. The loyalists seemed to have exhausted their burst of energy of the last few days, and were returning to their usual method of running after a brief fight.

They have again come to grief in their misguided attempt to outflank the rebels. A force of 2,000 of them which was trying to get to the rear of Gen. Varela's army on its left flank was trapped by today's rebel advance, and now has no choice but to fight to death or surrender. In the hands of a competent military man their attempted movement should have been one of elementary simplicity, but the loyalists appear to have no officers knowing the rudiments of their trade.

Tell of Fights in Streets.

The fighting today was out of my sight down in the Manzanares valley, but I could see clearly that the area was sandbagged, as if the loyalists intended to make a stand there. It also seemed as if damage had been done to one part of the royal palace.

Along this road the loyalists had abandoned rows of workmen's little houses where yesterday they evidently meant to fight. Some residents of those houses who were interviewed supplied one fact which, if true, is an explanation of the loyalists' faintheartedness—that sharp street fighting now is going on in Madrid streets.

The combatants may be a different faction of the loyalists. Also it is possible the rebels in the city, who have been keeping under cover, now have organized themselves, trying to help the besieging armies. Three days ago we heard a report that an armed band of rebels, in a surprise attack, wrecked a Madrid office.

French Reds Urged to Join Madrid Defense Army

LENS, France, Nov. 15.—(AP)—The communist leader Maurice Thorez tonight urged Frenchmen to enlist in the international column of anti-Fascist fighting for the Spanish government in the battles for Madrid. Thorez said his two brothers-in-law already had joined the column.

FIVE ARE KILLED BY RAILROAD MAN FIRED FROM JOB

EDMONTON, Alta., Nov. 16 [Monday].—[Canadian Press.]—Five persons, including a 3 year old boy, were killed Saturday at Tieland, 100 miles north of Edmonton, police were informed today.

The body of a man, who police declared was responsible for the five deaths, was found near railroad tracks running through Tieland. The dead:

Carl Sheits, alleged to have been the slayer, whose body was found near the railroad tracks.

Police said they were informed Joe Garry and Mrs. Erna Ristock, Mrs. Nelson's sister, and an unidentified girl were shot at when they discovered the bodies. They escaped uninjured.

PERIOD STYLES

By CALEB

A CUSTOMER recently asked us how period things originate. It's something like this.

In France, a new luxury-loving Louis ascends the throne! Courtiers lavishly encourage artists to make what befits the times—and an ornate style comes gradually into being. A direct-acting Napoleon of simple taste is emperor! Reaction from the fancy, feminine curves is found in a style characterized by restraint and simplicity and more straight lines. Empire is born!

Through the long years, people come to tire of living in surroundings designed or stimulated by those who are dead politically or organically. They reach out to express in furniture, fabrics, architecture, writings, and other creative forms, what they feel is the temper of their own times.

The styles they create simmer through the years. The unworthy and dross elements gradually subside and depart, and the elements of enduring worth survive.

If they are living when the past is revered, there is little original or bold in their work. If they live in an age of forward-looking and ferment, they will slight old starting points. Then neo-designs or new expressions result.

Not always are new styles new. They may be today's adaptations of styles a thousand years old. In furniture we must still work in three dimensions. A chair or table or low dresser of modern type cannot be so radical a departure from a similar piece of furniture of the Bethlehem of two thousand years ago.

In fabrics, threads must still be interwoven as of old. Changes come in the weight and texture of the threads—in the way they are interassociated and in their colors. In paintings, color use changes, and the pendulum of time carries effort from realism to emotionalism and the abstract, and back. Meanwhile, devotees of novelty carry on their particular skills and obey their individual impulses in bays and harbors off the main current of the trend.

Our times are peculiarly fermentative. The present generation has seen more changes in social alignments, political organism, and scientific developments than any three generations have seen heretofore.

As a consequence, the troubled waters of contemporary artists' souls have done strange things to the creations they have cast upon the shores of time. In furniture, paintings, sculpture, fabrics, architecture, and all else this is true. Some of it has been very bad. What is good will be picked up and preserved—cherished because it is worth while. Tomorrow some things current now may be the "period" styles of this generation.

PRO-ROOSEVELT ELEMENTS BUSY FILING CLAIMS

Making Their Demands on Administration.

Supreme court, as Dooley said, follows the election returns.

While promising no further increase in taxes at the approaching session of congress Mr. Roosevelt is reported to have under consideration some modification of the prohibitive tax on undistributed earnings of corporations to meet the objections of business that the law is hamstringing corporations possessing no accumulated reserves and thereby retarding recovery. He has made it plain, however, that any such modification will not apply to 1936 profits because "the government needs the money."

Roosevelt to Submit Plan.

The President will submit to congress a plan for the reorganization of the administrative branch of the government, consolidating and eliminating various agencies and bringing the alphabetical units into the permanent setup with about 300,000 emergency employés covered into the civil service.

A number of emergency grants of power terminate in 1937. Among them are the power to devalue the dollar still further and the power of the RFC to make loans. Such emergency powers were based on the exigencies of the depression. Inasmuch as Mr. Roosevelt has declared in the election canvass and more recently in his Thanksgiving proclamation that the depression is over much interest attaches to the attitude he will assume toward the lapse of these emergency powers.

Another question that will come before congress at the coming session is the extension of the neutrality act which expires in May. The President also is preparing to press for ratification of a new treaty with Canada for the construction of the St. Lawrence seaway.

Revives His Confidence.

The increased Democratic membership of the senate has given him confidence that a revival of this project will be successful and possibly a resurrection of the plan to put the United States into the world court. Both of these undertakings, though backed by the President, were defeated in the senate in his first term.

While cautiously withholding commitment on his New Deal program the President and his cabinet have been giving aid and comfort to labor and agriculture.

LANDON MAKES PLEA FOR AID IN CHARITY DRIVES

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas said tonight in an appeal for public participation in charity drives that it is an "American characteristic" to forget differences in critical times to achieve worth while ends.

The defeated Republican presidential candidate spoke over a nationwide radio hookup in behalf of the national mobilization for human needs.

"It is both fitting and typical," he said, "that after a hard fought presidential campaign we should all join in this great mobilization. In nearly every one of our American communities people of good will are uniting to accomplish this worthy community job.

"We are all engaged in this country in trying to build a better world. We must think more often of the individual need for better hearts and better heads if we are to reach our goal. Leadership, inspiration, and results of our national mobilization must be achieved through our own understanding, our own desires, and by our own hands."

GERMAN DRIVE ON RUSSIA IS SEEN IN PACT SCRAPPING

Czechs Cut Off from Sea, Paris Fears.

PARIS, Nov. 15.—(AP)—The beginning of a German campaign against Russia and eastern Europe was seen by French officials today as one possible development of Germany's renunciation of the Versailles peace treaty navigation clauses.

Germany on Saturday announced resumption of sovereignty over her internal waterways, including the strategic Kiel canal, heretofore administered by international commissions authorized by the Versailles pact.

See Threat to Czecho.

Officials here pointed out that Germany now was in a position to cut off Czechoslovakia from the sea and smother her world commerce if she wished.

"Germany can make Czechoslovakia choose between her world commerce and her alliances, especially with Russia," one official said. "She can demand that Czechoslovakia take a benevolent attitude in the event of a possible Russo-German war, or cut her off from world markets."

One official said it "is hard to see how energetic protest can be made after violation of military clauses of the treaty were allowed to go unpunished."

French Protest Recalled.

France protested vigorously to the league of nations when Germany marched troops into the Rhineland early this year.

Premier Leon Blum's government awaited replies today from interested governments in his move for a collective protest to Berlin. A final decision would await their answers, it was said.

[Resumption of control of the Kiel canal gives Germany control of the waterway linking the North and Baltic seas. Authoritative Berlin sources yesterday said Czechoslovakia's rights to free ports at Hamburg and Stettin, a ninety-nine year grant under the Versailles treaty, would not be affected.]

NATIONAL STAMP WEEK DISPLAYS TO BEGIN TODAY

Rare postage stamps will be on display in Chicago stores and theaters today and the rest of the week as part of the Central Federation of Stamp Clubs' observation of National Philatelic Week, according to Mrs. Alice C. Westphal, publicity director of the federation.

The week's program will get under way tonight at a philatelic rally to be held at 7:30 p. m. in the Hotel Sovereign, 6200 North Kenmore avenue. Among the speakers will be Mayor Kelly, Postmaster E. J. Kruetgen, and C. B. Ellenberger, third assistant postmaster general.

Various programs have been arranged for the rest of the week, and to end the week's celebration there will be a dinner and dance on Saturday evening at Vassar house, 540 North Michigan avenue.

REVEAL PAROLES FOR 469 JOLIET CONVICTS IN YEAR

450 More Are Released from Pontiac.

Records of the state parole board disclosed yesterday that 469 convicts were released from Joliet penitentiary from Jan. 1 to Sept. 30 this year and in the same period 450 were freed from Pontiac reformatory. Many of these parolees were second and third offenders and in all cases the board kept secret the names of the convicts.

Action of the board in releasing repeaters with long criminal records who have violated previous paroles has been criticized by public officials and civic leaders during the last few days.

Released Without Warning.

It has been pointed out that many of these convicts are dangerous characters and in most cases the public has not been warned of their release.

As one means of stripping the secrecy from the parole board's operations, Judge Robert C. O'Connell, acting chief justice of the Criminal court, and Judge John F. Prystalski of the Circuit court have suggested that criminals be sentenced to definite maximum and minimum terms, instead of indeterminate terms. In this manner, it would be known definitely when these convicts were eligible for parole.

Parolees' Records Listed.

The records of eighteen second and third offenders released by the parole board this year, discovered yesterday from a study of the board's proceedings, follow:

GEORGE CARTER, 40 years old, colored. Sentenced to Pontiac reformatory May 22, 1922, for assault to rob. Paroled June 1, 1925. Sentenced to Joliet for burglary June 18 1932. Paroled again last August.

ROY J. FOX, 28 years old. Entered Joliet for forgery Feb. 4, 1929. Paroled June 25, 1935. Returned to Joliet for violation of parole June 15, 1933. Paroled again last August.

WILLIAM GILMORE, 27 years old, colored. Sentenced to Pontiac May 21, 1928. Paroled Dec. 24, 1929. Returned for violation of parole July 23, 1930. Paroled a second time Sept. 8, 1932. Sentenced to Joliet for burglary March 2, 1933. Paroled the third time last July.

ROBERT HILL, 35 years old, colored. Dec. 22, 1924, entered Jefferson City, Mo., penitentiary on a 24 year larceny sentence. Later paroled. Returned to Jefferson City for a second larceny sentence of 8 years. Paroled May 26, 1828. Dec. 19, 1932, sentenced to Joliet for larceny. Paroled last August.

ROBERT JONES, 27 years old. Sentenced May 19, 1926, to serve 10 years in Anamosi, Ia., reformatory. Paroled three years later. Sentenced to Joliet for robbery Oct. 1, 1929. Paroled last July.

DEL KELLY, 38 years old. Sentenced to Joliet for robbery Jan. 20, 1921. Paroled Jan. 7, 1928. Again sentenced to Joliet for robbery March 13, 1931. Paroled last September.

THOMAS KELLEY, 62 years old. On Aug. 19, 1913, sentenced to Joliet for horse theft. Paroled Sept. 10, 1913. Returned for violation of parole Nov. 25, 1914. Discharged Aug. 19, 1915. Again sentenced to Joliet April 3, 1930, for burglary. Paroled last September.

JAMES N. KELSEL, 44 years old. Entered Joliet May 5, 1914, on a robbery sentence. Released on a writ Feb. 9, 1915, but returned the same day. Paroled July 2, 1917. Again sentenced to Joliet for robbery Sept. 10, 1917. Given second parole April 7, 1930. Returned for violation of parole Feb. 13, 1931. Paroled third time last July.

HARRY KESNER, 40 years old. Sentenced to Green Bay, Wis., reformatory March 9, 1921. Paroled Dec. 12, 1924. Sentenced to Joliet for robbery Dec. 2, 1927. Escaped July 9, 1933. Captured and returned Sept. 26, 1933. Again paroled last September.

WILLIAM LEWIS, 32 years old, colored. Sentenced to 5 to 15 years in Jackson, Mich., prison for robbery March 18, 1926. Entered Joliet on robbery conviction March 26, 1931. Paroled last September.

ARTHUR J. McAVOY, 41 years old. On Oct. 17, 1914, sentenced to Joliet for robbery. Paroled Nov. 29, 1915. Again sentenced to Joliet for robbery Feb. 20, 1917. Escaped June 6, 1920. Returned Oct. 26, 1932. Paroled second time last August.

QUEZON PLEDGES AID TO WORKING CLASS AT FETE IN PHILIPPINES

MANILA, Nov. 15.—(AP)—The Philippine commonwealth began the second year of its existence today with President Manuel Quezon expressing a desire for "changes in national economy" looking toward "betterment of the working class without serious injury to capital and without endangering our social and political institutions."

Addressing an anniversary gathering Quezon said the greatest concern today is "satisfying the average man and woman constituting our society."

"The time is past," he declared, "when we can overlook the fortunes of men and women who toil on our farms and in our factories."

Parades and patriotic programs throughout the islands marked the first anniversary of the commonwealth government, which was inaugurated Nov. 15, 1935, pending the establishment of complete independence from the United States in ten years.

Main interest centered in Manila, where Quezon spoke at a dedication of a tablet in honor of those who worked for Philippine independence.

POLICE TO LIST ALL MORONS IN HUNT FOR KILLER

Police will seek to register all known morons in the district commanded by Supervising Captain John Stege, he announced yesterday, as a result of the murder Friday evening of Antoinette Tiritilli, 5 years old, 1521 Flournoy street. The child was slashed to death by a moron during an attempted attack behind the McLaren school, 1500 Flournoy street.

Meanwhile police continued their search for Joseph Brabeck, ex-convict, as the principal suspect in the slaying. Four other suspects were in custody yesterday. Brabeck, who served three prison sentences, two of them for moronic crimes, has been at liberty since he was released from the penitentiary in 1932.

Capt. Stege, whose division comprises most of the west side and who also is temporarily in charge of north side police work, said the hunt for the attacker would be simplified greatly if names and records of known morons were on file, by districts, in police stations. Another move was taken yesterday by Capt. John Egan of the Maxwell street police, who asked pastors of churches in the west side vicinity of the crime to request parishioners to volunteer information concerning persons suspected of moronic tendencies.

Funeral services for the slain child will be held tomorrow morning in Our Lady of Pompei church, 1224 McAllister place.

Hunter Killed as He Clubs Wounded Rabbit with Gun

Edward Piggott, 29 years old, 3528 Pierce avenue, was killed in a hunting accident yesterday in the southeastern part of Du Page county. Piggott had wounded a rabbit and was clubbing it with his double barreled shotgun when the weapon was discharged.

PAROLE REFORM NOW.

The Illinois assembly meets in January. The most important public service it can perform is the reform of parole.

There can be no honest question of the urgent need for this reform. There can be no respectable excuse for its further postponement.

It can be accomplished at this session. There is no need for prolonged discussion. Parole conditions have been thoroughly studied and expert proposals are available. What is now needed is the preparation of definite measures to be ready for the legislature to consider and to act upon. A committee made up of authorities on parole, such as Col. Chamberlin of the Chicago Crime commission, Judge Andrew Bruce of Northwestern university, Professors Sutherland and Burgess of the University of Chicago, Dean Harno of the University of Illinois law school, with appropriate members of the legislature, could formulate these measures without loss of time. We urge Gov. Horner to appoint such a committee at once. We urge the press and civic bodies of the state to put the full weight of their influence behind it and its recommendations.

By this means and, we think, by this means only, can we be assured of a prompt relief from the evils of parole administration and of a reform that is a reform. If the situation is left to the usual political processes we shall have either more delay or inefficient and ill-advised measures which will be worse than nothing, for they will serve only to quiet public demand and postpone fundamental action.

In fact the gist of parole reform is to take parole administration completely out of politics. It is now up to its neck in politics. That's what is the matter with it. It will be a failure and a menace as long as it is in politics. There should be no more politics in parole than in the army and navy, for parole honestly and competently administered is a part of our defense against crime.

And because parole is in politics, politics will resist real reform, which involves first of all the removal of parole from politics.

This means a hard fight, but the fight can be won. It can be won for sound measures backed by the press and civic leadership of the state.

THE PROFESSIONAL IN SPORTS.

Fred Perry's decision to turn professional is expected to give him $100,000 in profits the first year and to cost Great Britain the Davis cup. The British do not see how they can retain the cup without Perry on their team, but their sporting writers say that Perry has given enough to English tennis and that he would be a chump not to get something for himself now. He is guaranteed $50,000 by his contract and his percentage on the receipts may add another fifty thousand.

Tennis has long been a game in which it was difficult to draw a line to separate some of the amateurs from professionals. These amateurs at least were making their living out of the game. Amateur standards are elastic. The college baseball player who used to try to earn a little school money by playing semi-pro summer baseball for a resort club under an assumed name could go back to school with the money he had earned, but if he was found out as an under-cover resort player, his college baseball days were over. The same thing would happen to a college football player if he was found playing a game for money on some professional team, although he might need the money to get through school and that was the best way he could earn it.

These are rigid rules and the colleges, within certain limitations, try to be rigid. From time to time it is rumored that there are goings on which are not as inflexible as college ethics would have them, but it is hard to keep the alumni from snaring a fine prep player when they see him and know what a sophomore back he will make. Tennis has made much ado about amateur standing. If a college player of any sport could get a substantial part of his living out of it he'd think he was in luck.

It is said that an increasing number of boys of athletic ability and inclination who want to develop a proficiency while they are young and in school are giving an eye to golf as the best of all the sports. A coaching career after school in football may contain many unpleasant experiences. If the coach himself is the eleven or more men who win a game, he is also the same number of men who lose it, and a coach can count his days as he counts the rising scores of the opposing and winning teams. His days will be as few as their scores are many and as many as his own touchdowns are numerous.

A golf professional is not so likely to be fired if several influential members of the club can't bring their game up or if they begin to fall off it. In golf a player is his own dub and that remorseless and glorious bit of justice makes professionalism in golf appear more attractive to many young fellows who expect to earn their living in one sport or another than many other activities which might temporarily offer more money and get more applause.

AN ENGINEERING TRIUMPH.

The dedication the other day of the bridge across San Francisco bay, connecting San Francisco and Oakland, brought much praise to American engineers. Obviously, the men who designed and supervised the construction of an eight-mile bridge over navigable water deserve all the plaudits they are receiving.

Americans take pride in the professional competence and in the daring and ingenuity of American engineers. It is curious, then, that the engineers are not more generally consulted by legislative and executive officers of government when projects are in contemplation. If that had been more generally done a great deal of money would have been saved.

The American Society of Consulting Engineers not long ago found it necessary to express its resentment of the fact that men in the profession are frequently called upon to design and construct public works which the engineers know to be wasteful. In this category are power projects where there is no market for the power or where the present power supply is adequate, river improvements which will carry no commerce and dams to reclaim land not needed for agriculture.

This is still a young country. It offers endless opportunity for sound engineering improvements. It is a pity that the training and skill of the men in the engineering profession is frequently thrown away on pork barrel public works when it might be used for the enrichment of the nation for generations to come.

THE BRITISH EMPIRE AND THE BRITISH FLEET.

Among the leading historical questions of the present is the future of the British empire. Speculative legists and historians and economists find much in the world to engage their consideration. There is the economic and political drift of Russia and the fate of European dictatorships when the strong man dies and struggle for his place begins among the rivals who will spring up in countries for which no legal continuance of government is guaranteed.

There is the trend of the American democracy in which new forces with new objectives have come to the front and have gained recognition and power. They are plainly recognized by some Americans, dimly apperceived by others and apparently are out of the consciousness of many.

In Great Britain, as David Darrah of THE TRIBUNE recently wrote, there is growing curiosity regarding the substance of the empire and the union of its dominions. There would be at this time after the death of a long reigning and respected king and emperor, liked for his character and his conduct, and the succession of a new king. The British naturally may wonder which king is to be their last.

Under the British constitution as it stands the king may be a symbol of state. He is, of course, much more than that despite the limitations of his power. In the empire the crown is regarded as the common bond. The various parliaments enact their laws. The various people elect their representatives. They all remain, widely distributed as they are, the subjects of the king.

If anything happens to the British monarchy where does the empire go? There is more than tradition, sentiment and common loyalty in this association. There is security, not so much for Great Britain itself as for the other territories. Great Britain has been supported in times of danger by the dominions but to them there is not only a British king but a British fleet.

There are sound material and realistic arguments for the empire outside of sentiment. When the American states formed their Union their security was one of the principal reasons for their decision to sink many of their formidable political differences and band together. They had good cause to fear the future if they faced it each alone or in smaller groups of states.

British sea power, now being built up, may not have the same old command of the seas formerly granted it as a natural right, but it is there and it is the one thing a far away dominion could rely upon if threatened by a powerful enemy.

FURNACE BAKED BEANS.

[Sioux City Journal.]

Boston's fame is great because of many things, not the least of which is a culinary art that produces brown bread and baked beans. And in the baking of beans many methods are employed in and out of Boston. There are beanhole beans, oven baked beans, beans baked in fireless cookers, beans baked in pressure cookers, and perhaps other kinds of baked beans. They're all good. Baked beans are baked beans, and that to most persons who are fond of them is eloquent enough.

A method of baking beans that is simple and exceedingly effective is to use the furnace in mild weather. This, in order that the fire be low enough to permit the baking to be done on the ledge just inside the furnace door.

As a radio announcer was accustomed to say, "This is what you do": Boil navy beans gently for an hour or two, or until they become somewhat tender. Pour off the water and save it. Then take a crock, a stone jar, of a size small enough to rest safely on the ledge of the furnace. Put in a layer of beans, an inch and a half or two inches deep. Over this sprinkle brown sugar, or molasses. Then put in thin strips of fat and lean fresh pork. Then more beans, more sugar or molasses, and more pork. Continue this until the crock is filled to within an inch or so of the top. Then pour in the water in which the beans were boiled until it reaches the top of the crock. Now put the lid on the crock and go to the basement.

The crock, securely covered and with its precious contents intact, is placed on the ledge inside the furnace door. One will need a heavy pair of canvas gloves within 15 or 20 minutes, for the crock must be turned frequently throughout the evening. That is in order that the beans may be baked uniformly all around. Turn the crock every 15 or 20 minutes, one-third or one-fourth of the way, and bake for two to three hours.

The fire should not be too high. The furnace really is quite a hot oven when used for this purpose. A little experience will guide one as to the amount of fire one requires to bake the beans until they are just right. This recipe is not from a cookbook, but from actual experience in turning out for years furnace baked beans that cannot be surpassed through the use of any other method. Of course there are many other things one may do in addition to make the baked beans more of a success, but in this no recipe for real corn bread is offered. That may come later, but naturally it could be expected to depend at least in a degree on the size of this year's crop. With corn so scarce and so precious, perhaps human beings should not consume it.

"TO THINE OWN SELF BE TRUE."

I am minded to tell you of a precise old gentleman in our Hometown who was methodically climbing the stairs to a lawyer's office when his foot slipped on the top step. He was heard to address himself as follows: "O dear, that will never do; we had better try it again." Which he did, with due punctilio descending and reascending. Then he commended himself sweetly with, "There, that was much better." Anon.

BOYS' BOOKS.

With gay companions have I ridden far,
Fought, loved, and laughed in tavern and in camp.
D'Artagnan, Chicot, Henry of Navarre,
His white plume waving, as he stormed the ramp
And, jesting, conquered, led me and the tramp
Of mail-clad marching men was music meet
To set my blood to dancing with the tamp
Of drum and eager rhythm of their feet.

After Proust and Dreiser, Huxley and the rest,
A rousing song with Porthos still is best.

What misty far horizons have I sought,
Neath golden Christophers on purple sails:
Or piped all hands for boarders, grimly fought
With tarry pig-tailed devils o'er the rails.
With Ratlin I have reefed, 'mid tearing gales
On Carib seas, the thundering royals and taut:
Seen the Dutchman flying ghostly: heard the hails
Of nameless craft by unknown shipmen wrought.

Wells, Lewis, Walpole, Frankau have no zest.

CHARM COMPARISON.

The new boy friend asked Ora Fice to dinner and took her to a loop hotel. She didn't tell him it was her first experience of the sort, and he was charmed by her gracious appreciation. No detail escaped her attention. The impeccable gleam of the silver, the muted music, the tasteful decorations, the superbly gowned women and the handsome men, the delicious food, all warmed her to deep enchantment. She was, for a time, speechless, and the boy friend thought of her as cloaked in mystery. . . . Lingering over their cigarets, his eyes sought hers. He gestured. "Like it?" he asked. Her soft hand crept into his and her parted lips gave forth a sigh of happiness. "It sure beats a hamburger joint, don't it?" she whispered.

JOYOUS JUSTICE.

Pleasurably we reprint the last verse of a poem written by Justice of the Peace W. H. Lowry of Mercer, Mo., expressive of his joy in uniting an Iowa couple in the bonds [sing to the tune of Oh Susanna]:

And now we turn to Iowa,
The land of corn so tall,
With lots of boys and girls down there,
Whom charms of love enthrall.
We think of towns and farms and homes
With grand and strong appeal,
And so we gladly tie the knot
Just for a lonesome wheel.

PLACES FOR ALL.

N. K. B., who regrets the lack of membership in a Woman's club, has a simple problem. There are three ways she may find intelligent, fun loving women of moderate means who would be companionable. Your church has women's organizations both social and useful. The merely social minded will find formal and informal recreational and instructional classes in the nearest park fieldhouse. The third worthwhile group with a wide range of opportunity is your local Parent-Teachers association. No intelligent woman in Chicago need be bored or lonesome. G. H. E.

WHEN WE SEE DOUBLE.

EVERY now and then some one will state that whatever he looks at seems doubled. One silver dollar is two, but when he reaches for them two hands are present — one for each coin! No, it isn't a delusion. The trouble is that each eye forms a separate image.

When this type of vision [diplopia] develops out of a clear sky we may know that something has gone wrong with the machinery which holds the eyes in exact balance. Ordinarily, what each eye sees is fused into one through the action of the muscles of the eyeballs. Their combined pull is regulated by nerve impulses from the brain. Because of this complicated mechanism it is surprising that this visual defect is not complained of more often.

The best known variety follows overindulgence in alcoholic beverages. Here the nervous system control of the ocular muscles is lost temporarily so that focusing becomes difficult or impossible. It subsides promptly, however, when the drug has been eliminated from the system.

In botulism, which is a food poisoning contracted by eating home canned vegetables containing the bacillus botulinus, one or more nerves supplying the eye muscles are nearly always involved, resulting in twin vision of objects. This may be quite serious and paralysis of one or more muscles may remain permanently.

Persons past middle age who are afflicted with arteriosclerosis occasionally will suffer a hemorrhage or plugging of a small blood vessel with consequent injury to the nerves controling the muscles. Not only will double vision be an aftermath but drooping of the lid and paralysis of nearly all the muscles supplying one eye may ensue. This is of the same nature as a "stroke" in which other portions of the body are rendered helpless. As is the case with apoplexy the symptoms may clear up rather quickly or they may endure indefinitly.

Syphilis is another cause of twofold vision and acts in the same way as the vascular disease just described. In some instances the condition is diagnosed accurately only after the appearance of double sight, which at once suggests that a Wassermann test be made. When the difficulty is due to this disease and proper treatment is instituted promptly complete relief from the symptom usually occurs.

Accidents—especially a fall on the head or a fractured skull—frequently bring about diplopia. The nerve most commonly injured in this way is the sixth, which functions in turning the eye outward. The ensuing paralysis turns the eye in the opposite direction in a very conspicuous fashion.

Double vision is most troublesome when it first comes on. The simplest way of aiding the patient is to cover one eye with a frosted glass during the time when help by treatment or spontaneous recovery may be expected. Some persons are able later to ignore the image formed by one eye and the opaque glass can then be dispensed with. Children learn rapidly to suppress this disturbing duplicate sight. In older persons, however, the annoyance may persist through life unless something is done to remove it.

Various measures may be undertaken when the situation has remained stationary for from one to several months. In cases of partial paralysis it is often possible to superimpose what the two eyes see by means of prisms worn in the glasses. This prevents dual vision as long as the head is held in a certain position, which patients learn to do rather easily.

In more complete paralysis surgery is the only means of cure. The attack upon partially paralyzed muscles is somewhat involved, but much improvement can be obtained by a properly selected operation and it is a mistake for sufferers to believe that there is no remedy for this form of "seeing double."

HICCUPS.

A. R. writes: What is the explanation for hiccups? Has the mental condition [fixation of mind] any bearing on the case? What is the cure?

REPLY.

Hiccup may occur in a healthy person, and as such is a symptom of no significance. It can appear as the result of hearty laughter or tickling, or come on without the slightest apparent reason. If the condition becomes persistent it may reach an alarming stage. In such a situation there is probably some difficulty with the phrenic nerve which supplies the diaphragm [the huge muscle that divides the abdomen from the chest] or some irritation of the diaphragm itself. Functional hiccup takes place chiefly in neurotic young women between 15 and 25 years of age. The patient may "hic" continuously throughout her waking hours for weeks. When asleep the symptom will disappear. Hiccup is also associated with uremia, alcoholic intoxication, etc.

Treatment depends upon the cause in the particular case. Relief may be obtained, in most instances, by vomiting, holding the breath, taking slowly a dozen swallows of water, or placing the fingers firmly on the sides of the neck.

VITAMIN A.

E, L. E. writes:

1. What complications arise from taking too much vitamin A?

2. What is considered the maximum daily dose per unit weight of a human weighing approximately 150 pounds?

REPLY.

1. Some authorities report that excess doses of vitamin A produce undesirable changes in the bones and damage the kidneys and other soft tissues.

2. A normal adult requires the same amount of vitamin A that is contained in from one-half to one ounce of cod liver oil. This substance may not be taken at all, but the vitamin may be obtained from other foods, for example, whole milk, cream, butter, egg yolk, carrots, and leafy vegetables. The vitamin also occurs in liver, kidneys, and sweetbreads. The body stores this element, hence the diet may be inadequate for a reasonable period of time without affecting health. The average dose for growing children is between 5,000 and 6,000 units. This may be reduced somewhat after adult life has been reached. A daily consumption of 25,000 units or more would be considered excessive.

BABY'S EARS.

N. D. P. writes: I have a 3 month old baby whose ears have a tendency to grow outward. What can be done?

REPLY.

Your child's ears are probably not in the proper position [flat against his head] when he is lying on his side. Sometimes using adhesive tape or a light bandage will help.

A SOUTHERNER ON CHICAGO'S HOSPITALITY.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Having never been north of the Mason-Dixon line, I always had supposed northerners to be very crude and discourteous, and especially Chicagoans. Of course there was no reason for thinking that except for the tales we have heard of Chicago, but as hospitality is something of an institution in the south I had no cause for believing that I would find it in Chicago.

But find it I did before I had been here half an hour. The first time I encountered it was in the downtown business district, where we were of course very much confused. After starting a left turn and tying up trafic pretty badly we naturally began to tremble when we saw a huge policeman striding toward us, but there was no cause for our dismay, as he smilingly gave us our directions when my husband told him we were strangers and nothing was mentioned of our attempted infraction of the law. It was such a pleasant shock that I took the number on his badge, which was 7064, but since staying here I found this courtesy to be the rule rather than the exception. There have been other times when we asked directions from officers and each time were accorded the utmost courtesy.

At another time I entered a downtown theater, but after entering I found that I already had seen the picture. A doorman informed me that I might have a refund and hurried in, coming out with the manager who cheerfully refunded my money. Seeing that I was a stranger, the doorman then suggested a number of different movies and when I told him of one I wanted to see he directed me to it so clearly and explicitly that a child could have found it. Seeing that I was from the south, he suggested a couple of southern grills in Chicago, with directions to find them and the best time to go to them. When I left him he was courteously giving information to an old gentleman. That's what I call extreme hospitality.

There was only one seat at a crowded bar which my husband and I entered the other evening, but no sooner had we walked to the bar than a gentleman sitting in the seat next to the vacant one gallantly arose and offered the two seats to us. And so it has gone everywhere. The guests at our hotel, the strangers with whom we have come in contact and those whom we have met socially all have been polite and courteous as any native southerner. You may rest assured that our friends in South Carolina will hear not of southern hospitality but of Chicago hospitality. MRS. J. B. HOLSTEIN,
Charleston, S. C.

MEANEST PERSON DEFINED.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—My definition of the "meanest person" is the person who will pick up some one's pet cat or dog and keep it or sell it despite the fact that the owner is advertising and searching everywhere for it.

MRS. HARRIET R. SCHYCKER.

PRO-HITLER.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—I wish to call your attention to a great many misstatements your paper has made in regard to Germany and Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler.

I had the pleasure of spending two months' vacation in Germany this summer, and found the people very well and in a happy frame of mind. There is no unemployment problem, no gum chewing beggars to greet you, and no drunkards on the street corners.

I traveled about three thousand miles in that country, and had occasion to talk to business men and workers alike, and they all seem to be well satisfied with Adolf Hitler. He brought order out of chaos, took the young people off the streets, and made life and property safe once more.

There is a great deal of home building, and if the German people are satisfied with their form of government I am sure it is no concern of ours, as we have plenty of domestic problems facing us.

It is unjust and unkind of the American people who send a man to prison for life because a pint of liquor was found in his home to criticize any foreign country or its form of government.

Taxes are high in Germany [so are taxes in this country] but "vest pocket funds" and the spoils system are unknown.

To the unprejudiced mind and observer, Germany seems an excellent institution, a well oiled and regulated machine.

Truth, justice, and efficiency will win in the end, which will mean a better understanding of Germany and their reichsfuehrer. FRED FRANZ.

CARBON MONOXIDE.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Here is a method for preventing death by carbon monoxide gas to motorists, which usually happens during winter months, while warming engines with garage door closed.

1. Muffler must be in good condition and cutout must be closed.

2. Purchase hose 2 to 3½ feet long, size to fit over exhaust pipe.

3. Drill hole through door of garage size of hose and to the level of exhaust pipe.

4. Push hose through door hole and fit the other end over exhaust pipe.

5. Now, having door closed, warm motor without danger, as exhaust gas will pass through hose and door to the outside.

6. When motor is warm, stop engine, remove hose, open garage door.

All this is inexpensive, takes but a few seconds to operate, and will save from 50 to 100 deaths each year.

C. WINDMUELLER, M. D.

SAFETY ISLAND DELAYS.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—I will be glad when the Outer drive is complete and pedestrians will not be compelled to wait on the safety island for a second light signal in order to get across the street. Pedestrians have to give up twice as much time and must wait in the middle of trafic in all sorts of weather. Certainly that condition must not be allowed to stay much longer. R. F.

DANGEROUS WALKS.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—The condition of the city's sidewalks and street crossings in icy weather is of concern to every pedestrian. Now that the winter season is upon us we shall soon be having snow and ice, and it is not unreasonable to ask that the city develop some plan to minimize the danger of falls. Is there no city ordinance to force property owners to keep their walks cleared of snow and ice, or to scatter ashes or salt over the walks when necessary? At times the city has put down ashes over street crossings after the winter is well advanced and many people are already in hospitals on account of injuries sustained from slipping. The glass sidewalks downtown are another source of danger. In this age of improved lighting equipment there is no need for store basements to depend upon the few rays of light that filter through these glass walks, over which one has to walk precariously even on muddy days. If walking could be made safer in this town it would be greatly appreciated by A PEDESTRIAN.

SHE WELCOMES SOOT.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Never again will I ever complain about smoke, as some one does in today's TRIBUNE. For to me smoke now means happiness, contentment, prosperity, and above all, jobs. After seeing virtually nothing but smokeless chimneys for so many years, why, the very odor of it now is as sweet perfume to my tender nostrils and the sight of it a gladsome one. So let there be smoke, and the more smoke the better, for then we'll know the depression is definitly ended. Incidentally, I'd rather wash soot from my curtains a thousand times than not to be able to wash them at all, which was the case during the depression, for I couldn't afford any then.

MRS. J. G.

A COMMUNIST IN OUR MIDST.

Riverside, Ill., Nov. 13.—THE TRIBUNE certainly has a communist on its staf, for several of us have from time to time sent in articles to this column pertaining to communism and not one was ever printed. Recently I sent in a short piece about Father Coughlin, and put in, just for bait, a sentence about communism. Sure enough that sentence was taken out and the rest printed. I don't expect this will be printed but it will at least let you know we are on to you.

ANTI-RED.

JUST AN EGG AT TWILIGHT.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—What could be a worse racket than charging 25 cents for an egg sandwich just because the buyer decided to eat an egg in the evening instead of the morning when it costs 20 cents? And who would think of looking at the menu to check the price of an egg sandwich before ordering? F. S.

A DIFFERENT LINDSTROM.

Mr. Carl E. Lindstrom of 1180 East 63d street requests us to say that he is not the C. Lindstrom whose letter concerning the insurance services of the Retail Grocers and Butchers' association was recently published in this column.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

WANTS TO BREAK WILL.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Mother died in 1936, leaving one son $100, second son $25, daughter-in-law $50, and residue of estate to divorced wife of second son. Couple were divorced in 1922 and the will was drawn in 1920 and filed with court clerk in May, 1936. The value of the estate is about $7,500. Mother and divorced wife also had joint bank account and safety deposit box.

1. Would it be possible to break the will?

2. Could bank deposit and deposit box be attached?

3. Would action have to take place now or when?

4. Divorced wife's lawyer and office clerk witnessed will. Would that have any bearing on its validity? Divorced wife is now in possession of property and business.

5. Could she be ousted? J. M.

1. Not without proving undue influence or lack of testamentary capacity.

2. Not on the bare facts stated.

3. A will contest must be filed within one year of the commencement of probate proceedings.

4. It would not invalidate the will, but it could be considered with other evidence as having possible bearing on the undue influence question.

5. See preceding answers.

WM. H. BABCOCK IS DEAD; WIDELY KNOWN REALTOR

Direct Descendant of 1630 Colonists.

William Henry Babcock, well known real estate broker and appraiser, died yesterday in his home at 649 Michigan avenue, Evanston, after an illness of three weeks. He was 78 years old. Mr. Babcock was head of the real estate firm bearing his name.

WILLIAM H. BABCOCK.

Born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Mr. Babcock settled in Chicago in 1889, where he engaged in the fire insurance business and later the real estate business. He was the ninth in descent of James Babcock, who landed at the Massachusetts colony in 1630 and later settled in Rhode Island. Three generations of his family fought in the revolutionary war.

Served City Frequently.

On several occasions Mr. Babcock was retained as an expert appraiser by the city, particularly in the 12th street widening case, the Michigan boulevard improvements and South Water street project. He also had appraised the property of the London Guarantee building, the Stevens hotel and the La Salle-Wacker building.

Mr. Babcock was particularly interested in the sport of angling. He was a member and the first president of the Chicago Fly-Casting club and a charter member of the Izaak Walton league.

Member of Realty Boards.

He was a member of the national and local real estate boards and served as a member of the advisory council of the board of local improvements under the late Mayor Dever. He was a member and past president of the Camp Fire club.

Surviving are his three sons, R. Fayerweather Babcock, commercial artist; Henry A. of Los Angeles, and Frederick M. Babcock, head of the appraisal department of the Federal Housing administration at Washington, D. C.

Mr. Babcock had been a resident of Evanston since 1912. His wife died several years ago.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at St. Luke's Episcopal church in Evanston.

POLICE SHOOT 3 CHARGED WITH EXTORTION PLOT

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 15.—(AP) City detectives shot and wounded three men, one fatally and two critically, today in an alleged attempt to extort $2,000 from Andrew A. Brown, manager of the National Battery company.

Of the other two, Paul Wingate, 27, was reported in a "very critical condition." He was shot in the right shoulder and chest.

Paul Spano, 24, was shot in the neck. Calia was shot three times in the chest.

Detectives John Flavin and John Clifford Jr. were assigned to guard Brown after he reported the trio had threatened his life if he failed to meet their demands.

NATION'S FAMED SCIENTISTS MEET TODAY AT U. OF C.

Movies of Sun to Mark Academy Session.

Almost every subject in the purview of laboratory research workers from the male sex hormone to solar rainbows 150,000 miles long will be discussed beginning today at the University of Chicago as the National Academy of Sciences, most eminent of American learned societies, opens its autumn meeting.

Several hundred famed specialists in the physical and biological sciences will take part in the three day gathering. Nearly 100 reports on various studies will be submitted by both members and nonmembers. The sessions, which will be held morning and afternoon in Eckhart and Breasted halls on the Midway, will be open to the public. There also will be a public lecture at 8 o'clock tonight in Mandel hall on "Transformation of Organic Designs" by Prof. William King Gregory of the American Museum of Natural History, New York.

Movies of Sun to Be Shown.

Projection of the first motion pictures obtained of the surface of the sun probably will be an outstanding feature of this morning's program. These pictures, showing great jets of flame shooting as high as 100,000 miles, rainbows 150,000 miles long and other solar pyrotechnics, were made by Drs. Robert R. McMath and Edison Pettit of the University of Michigan.

The films were "shot" at the new solar tower of the McMath-Hulburt observatory at Lake Angelus, near Pontiac, Mich. It was possible to obtain them by using a spectroheliograph, a device that spreads the light of the sun into a spectrum and makes it possible to select any wave length of an element for photography. This new device enabled the astronomers to eliminate the brilliant sunlight which had always blotted out previous pictures and permitted observations only during an eclipse.

Report on Milky Way.

Two other astronomers on today's program are Dr. Joel Stebbins of the Mount Wilson [Cal.] observatory and Dr. A. E. Whitford of the University of Wisconsin. They will report on measurements which convince them that clouds of stellart dust in the Milky Way are much heavier toward the center of the galaxy than on its edges. They believe no telescope will ever be able to pierce the center of a galaxy because of this obscuring dust.

Among many reports to be made in the biological field will be one by Dr. Fred C. Koch, professor of physiology at the University of Chicago, indicating a new form of the male sex hormone may have been discovered.

37 Papers Slated Today.

A total of thirty-seven papers will be read today, touching, among other things, on cosmic rays, scientific music, resistance to disease through natural immunity, pneumonia, and meningitis, a new body hormone, nerves, twins, diet, and blood pressure.

The academy, which was designated by congress as the fountainhead of American science in 1863, has for its president Dr. Frank R. Little, professor emeritus of embryology at the University of Chicago. Most of the members at the meeting will be from thirteen midwestern universities, the Carnegie institution, and the Institute of Public Health, Washington, and the American Museum of Natural History.

Mrs. George P. Brown Dies at 101 Yrs. at Bloomington

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—One of the oldest women of this territory, Mrs. George P. Brown, died last night at the age of 101 years. Wassaic, N. Y., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Miss Agnes Christina Laut, 65, author and social worker, died at her home here today after an illness of several weeks. Besides her many books, which were principally biographies and historical works about North America, Miss Laut wrote for newspapers and magazines.

ITALY SENDS HOME BODIES OF FORMER MONARCHS OF GREECE

BRINDISI, Italy, Nov. 15.—(AP)—The bodies of Constantine, former king of Greece, and his wife and mother were en route to Greece tonight aboard the Greek cruiser Averoff, escorted by a flotilla of Italian and Greek warships.

Constantine died 13 years ago and was buried in a crypt in a Russian Orthodox church at Florence. The crypt also has been the temporary resting place of his queen, Sophia, and his mother, Olga.

The bodies were exhumed from the crypt with religious ceremonies yesterday.

START WRECKING FAMOUS CHICAGO CHURCH TODAY

Demolition of the New England Congregational church, a landmark of the great Chicago fire of 1871, partially destroyed by fire last July, will begin today, officials of the church announced yesterday. The church stands at the corner of Delaware place and Dearborn street.

Many historically symbolic stones will be preserved for inclusion in a new church building now being contemplated, the officials said. A building fund has been opened for public subscription for the erection of a new church, according to the Rev. Theodore C. Hume, minister. The location of the new church is still to be determined.

The church now is in a temporary home in Thorne hall on McKinlock campus of Northwestern university. Plans for the proposed new church include provisions for carrying on special programs of religious music, pageantry, and drama, which are features of the church's revised program in its temporary home.

Theodore Wagner Is Dead; Noted Chemical Engineer

Chicago friends of Theodore Brentano Wagner, prominent consulting chemical engineer and nephew of Judge Theodore Brentano, former American minister to Hungary, learned yesterday of his death last Thursday in New York. Mr. Wagner, who was born in Chicago, was 67 years old. His home was in Brooklyn. Funeral services were held Saturday in Brooklyn. Surviving him are the widow, Mrs. Caroline Wild Wagner; a son, Theodore Wagner of Brooklyn; a daughter, Mrs. Benjamin R. C. Low of Manhattan, and a brother, Dr. Charles B. Wagner, 462 Briar place.

Calls Undertaker, Doctor to Home; Shoots Himself

East St. Louis, Ill., Nov. 15.—(AP)—William Franke, 53, unemployed embalmer, called an undertaker and doctor to his home today and then shot himself, police reported. Dr. J. H. Nebel and the undertaker, Charles Burke, rushed to Franke's home, arrived at the same time, and found Franke with a wound in the abdomen. Burke said Franke had telephoned, saying "you'll find my body in the bedroom."

GRANGE LEADERS URGE PERMANENT CROP INSURANCE

Convention Expected to Indorse Proposal.

Columbus, O., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Representing a cross section of the American agricultural point of view, a dozen masters of state granges urged today enactment of legislation which would make crop insurance a permanent part of the national agricultural policy.

These masters have submitted a crop insurance resolution to the seventieth annual meeting of the national grange and it was regarded likely that the organization, before it closes its session Thursday, will be on record as favoring the insurance.

Calls Program Sound.

C. C. Cogswell, master of the Kansas state grange, said he believed crop insurance a sound and constructive approach to the solution of a large part of our agricultural problem. He declared that enough information had been gathered on the subject to assure that it would be based on sound business principles.

L. J. Taber, master of the national grange, favors crop insurance on the basis that such a program would prove fully as valuable as any other form of insurance.

Cites Farmer Benefits.

"When a man's house burns he collects insurance if he has been wise enough to insure," Taber said. "When a farmer's crops are a total loss from drouth or any other cause, his loss is just as acute as if his home burned. If he can carry insurance on his crops, he at least would have something to tide him over, to help him carry on until the next harvest."

"Drouths of the last few years," said C. H. Brambie, master of the Michigan state grange, "appear to be the impelling reason behind the grange demand for crop insurance. There is urgent need to protect agriculture from destruction of crops by drouth in the future."

Engraving Official Dies of Self-Inflicted Wound

Victor Sorenson, 3822 North Seeley avenue, former superintendent of the Manz Engraving company, died yesterday in the County hospital as the result of a self-inflicted bullet wound. He had been despondent, police said, because of failing eyesight, which caused him to retire. Funeral services will be held under Masonic auspices at 1:30 p. m. Thursday, at the chapel, 3905 Lincoln avenue. Burial will be in Mount Emblem cemetery.

NOT "Just Another Cold Remedy"
THE REASON WHY
Father John's Medicine is not "just another cold remedy" but for 80 years a proven tr atment for colds, coughs due to colds, and bronchial irritations.
Important to Know in Addition:—
It is a body builder that aids in building sturdy resistance to the germs of colds and other infections.
Proof:—
Clinical tests by Dr. Frederic Damrau, New York, proved that it shortened the duration of colds in 93 per cent of cases.

In the metropolitan section of yesterday's TRIBUNE it was incorrectly stated that the Morgan Park High school P.-T. A. would meet today. The meeting will be held Thursday.

Officials of the Madison-Crawford National bank yesterday said that William M. Druley is a director of the bank but is not chairman of the board, as stated in a recent issue of THE TRIBUNE.

BEGIN STEEL PAY INCREASE TODAY FOR 18,000 HERE

Wage increases of approximately 10 per cent for 18,000 steel workers in the Chicago area go into effect today, while an additional 18,000 steel workers are refusing to sign wage agreements calling for less than a 15 per cent increase. At South Chicago and Gary, Ind., it was expected, however, that work would proceed as usual this morning while further negotiations concerning the latter group are conducted.

Groups accepting the 10 per cent increase represent 6,000 steel workers of the Gary sheet mills and 12,000 of South Chicago. For them the basic wage average is increased from 47 cents an hour to 52. The demand for a 15 per cent increase is tied up with the organization efforts of John L. Lewis, labor leader fighting the American Federation of Labor over the question of industrial versus craft unionism. It was said at Gary, however, that the dissenters here are acting independently of Lewis' organization.

Decision as to what is to be done will be made in Pittsburgh, it was reported, although negotiations for the 15 per cent increase are handled here by a group of thirty calling itself the Chicago wage district council. The 10 per cent increase was given voluntarily, according to the company announcements, to meet an expected increase in the cost of living.

Hold Burial Rites Today for Mrs. Charles Jones

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Jones, 77 years old, 4900 Hubbard street, who died Saturday in her home, will be held at 2:30 p. m. today in the Lamon Avenue Methodist church. Mrs. Jones was the widow of Policeman Charles T. Jones—who was slain by a gang of hoodlums in 1912. She had been a resident of the west side since 1888. Surviving are five children who include Policeman Frank E. Jones of the Fillmore street station and Police Sergt. William Jones, retired. Burial will be in the Forest Home cemetery.

COMMUNITY FUND PLEDGE OF $13,500 IS MADE BY STORE

A pledge of $13,500 from the Fair store and its employés and a subscription of $4,179.50 from employés of the main office of the Carnegie Illinois Steel company to the 1937 Community Fund were announced yesterday by James B. Forgan, general chairman of the campaign.

The gift of the steel company employés was praised by T. J. Carney, vice chairman of the campaign, because "it is the combined pledge of 700 employés, constituting 98 per cent of the office force and brings the average individual contribution to just under $6."

Other substantial pledges received included:

Pure Oil corporation	$5,000
American Can company	3,000
Poor & Co.	3,500
Victor Chemical works	1,000
Washburn Crosby company	1,000
Schuyler, Wienfeld & Hennessy	1,200
Cooke, Sullivan & Ricks	1,000
Crane company	3,000

The last audited report, which does not include the week-end contributions, showed that $2,205,364 has been raised toward the $3,400,000 goal.

Whisky Ship Swept Upon Beach in a Fifty Mile Gale

Traverse City, Mich., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Driven ashore during the night by a fifty mile gale, the Empire State of the Federal Motorship corporation is pounding on the beach near Sunset park in this city. The ship is carrying 5,000 barrels of whisky. Capt. William Lansing says the ship is in no danger of breaking up. The ship carries a crew of seventeen men.

Coal Freighter Aground.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 15.—(AP)—High winds and snow-swept waves sent the Sidney E. Smith, a coal freighter, aground tonight off Fairport harbor breakwall, thirty miles east of Cleveland. There was a crew of nearly thirty aboard. Fairport coast guards reported they were not in immediate danger.

Constipation
Undermines Children's Health
Your doctor will tell you that constipation is what makes so many growing children sickly. Poisons from the waste matter spread through their bodies and lower their resistance. A little Nujol every night will keep them regular as clockwork.
Mothers are the best friends of Nujol. When their children's health is at stake, they use Nujol—the remedy that medical authorities prescribe because it is so safe, so natural in its action.
Constipation is dangerous for anybody. Nujol safe for everybody. Does not affect the stomach, is not absorbed by the body.
Nujol makes up for a deficiency of natural lubricant in the intestines. It softens the waste matter and thus permits thorough and regular bowel movements without griping.
Just try Nujol regularly for the next month and see if the children don't feel better than you ever suspected they could. Ask your druggist for Nujol.

You Can Now
BANISH ACUTE CONSTIPATION IN 1 HOUR
Do As Doctors Do
Follow this method thousands have used and prescribed for years

Yes—when you need a laxative DO AS DOCTORS DO—and take no chances. Dr. V. N. of Michigan states: "I have used and prescribed Pluto Water for 40 years." Dr. H. A. O. of Wisconsin writes: "I not only prescribe Pluto Water almost daily—but use it personally."

Relief in 1 Hour
With Pluto there are no hours of overnight waiting, which allow dangerous poisons to be absorbed by the system, often resulting in that tired feeling—dull headaches—too often causing pimples, boils, colds.

Simply mix 1/5 of a glass of Pluto Water with 4/5 of a glass of hot water. You'll find this mixture pleasant, gentle, quick. It will give you a thorough bowel flush in 1 hour or less and you'll feel worlds better.

Try This—Doctors' Way
Pluto Water is bottled at the famous French Lick Springs, Indiana. It is a non-habit-forming saline mineral water. Two hundred million bottles have already been used, largely on doctors' advice. Get Pluto from your druggist—either in the 25c size or the large 50c size which contains three times the quantity. In 1 hour or less, your constipation will be relieved and you'll feel like a million.

MARITIME STRIKE FIZZLING IN EAST, OWNERS DECLARE

Insist Shipping Is Nearly Back to Normal.

New York, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Declaring that striking seamen were returning to their posts in "increasingly large numbers," R. J. Baker, president of the American Steamship Owners association, in a statement issued today, insisted that the movement of ships along the Atlantic and gulf coasts has become "practically normal."

Baker said 38 American flag vessels, carrying more than 2,000 seamen, had sailed from this port between midnight Friday and 4 o'clock this afternoon and that the strike in other ports of the east coast had "completely fizzled out."

"A number of lines are now maintaining their regular schedules," the association spokesman said. "Among these is the Eastern Steamship company, which is operating three coastwise vessels uninterruptedly out of this port and which sailed four vessels Saturday without difficulty.

239 Sailings Reported.

"Among other lines operating on schedule are the Savannah line, the Clyde-Mallory line, the United Fruit company, the Southern Pacific Steamship company, the Columbian Steamship company, and the New England Steamship company."

Baker said that reports to association headquarters showed that a total of 239 American flagships, carrying approximately 15,000 men, had sailed from New York since the strike began.

Ivan Hunter, secretary treasurer of the International Seamen's union, which has refused to approve the strike, asserted that conditions all along the Atlantic coast are improving steadily and said he saw "no indications" that ship movements were being seriously retarded at the present.

It was announced tonight by Capt. Schuyler Cummings, marine superintendent of the International Mercantile Marine, that 380 of the 500 crew members of the Washington, flagship of the United States Line, had promised to stand by the vessel for its scheduled sailing to Europe Wednesday.

New Peace Moves Made.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Two new moves designed to start peace negotiations in the maritime strike started here today.

Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady met union representatives to redraft proposals "along lines suggested by employers."

At the same time Mayor Angelo J. Rossi left by airplane for Washington presumably to discuss the strike situation with President Roosevelt. Rossi did not say what he would ask of the President, but unofficial sources said they expected him to request some form of government action.

Seventy of the more than 700 passengers stranded in Honolulu by the ship strike bought departure by paying $200 fines and taking transportation to the United States on a Japanese liner. They expressed hope the government would remit the fines, under the circumstances.

Buster Keaton Asks Cut in Alimony to $100 a Month

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Because of depleted earnings Buster Keaton wants his alimony reduced from $300 a month to $100, he said in an affidavit on file today. The comedian petitioned the court for custody of his two children, Joseph, 14, and Robert, 12, now in custody of his former wife, Mrs. Natalie Talmadge Keaton. Once he earned $150,000 a year, Keaton said; now he makes $15,000.

Sets Wedding Date

MISS ETHEL DU PONT.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Miss Ethel du Pont, whose engagement to Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. was announced yesterday by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene du Pont of Owls Nest, near here, said today that the wedding would take place in Christ Protestant Episcopal church in June.

"I am going to have a very small wedding," she told a group of newspaper reporters and photographers who came here to interview and photograph her and the President's son.

The arrival of the newsmen upset young Roosevelt's plans for spending a quiet week-end at his fiancée's home. He smiled affably, however, and greeted each visitor personally.

270 MANCHUKUO BANDITS SLAIN BY JAPANESE TROOPS

TOKIO, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Japanese-Manchukuan punitive forces in Manchukuo killed 270 bandits, captured 14, "redeemed" 76, and rescued 76 hostages during October, the government reported today.

Jap Planes Bomb Chinese.

PEIPING, Nov. 16 [Monday].—(AP)—Eight Japanese fighting planes bombed provincial fortifications in eastern Suiyuan province in an attack near Taolin, Chinese sources reported today. Three thousand infantry troops, composed of Manchukuoans and Mongol irregulars, assisted in the assault against Suiyuan defenders, the reports declared. The attackers launched six separate drives, combining infantry, aviation, heavy artillery, and tanks.

REDS' STRENGTH EXCEEDS VOTES, SAYS REV. SHEEN

3,000,000 in Parades Last Year, He Notes.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Americans were warned last night not to be deluded about the strength of communism in this country by the fact that less than 60,000 votes were cast for Earl Browder, communist candidate for President at the recent election. The warning was uttered by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen of the Catholic University of America in Washington, D. C., before a congregation which overflowed the massive church of St. Philip Neri, 72d street and Merrill avenue.

"If we had 100,000 members of the communist party in America," said Msgr. Sheen, "we would have as many communists in this country as there were in Russia at the time of the victorious communist revolution in 1917."

Estimates Total at 3,000,000.

Msgr. Sheen said that communists do not number their following by membership of party but by the number taking part in October demonstrations throughout the country. Last year, he said, there were 3,000,000 persons in America willing to parade under the communist banner.

Tactics of communists, Msgr. Sheen pointed out, do not depend for success upon weight of numbers or voting strength. He showed that a comparatively few members of the party could line up to a greater or less extent vast throngs of supporters or adherents who, consciously or unconsciously, carried out the mandates of Moscow more effectively than by casting ballots for communist candidates for public office.

For example, Msgr. Sheen quoted from an article written by Browder himself:

"For this purpose [to carry out orders from Moscow to organize the Farmer-Labor party and the American League Against War and Fascism] we must give much more support to the American League Against War and Fascism, which already represents the largest united front ever built in America."

Msgr. Sheen scoffed at the plea that American communists are successors of the American revolutionists of the war of 1776, frequently made in communist literature.

"The revolutionary war," he said, "was to throw off a foreign yoke. The real heirs of the revolution, therefore, are those who in 1936 seek to throw off the yoke of Russia."

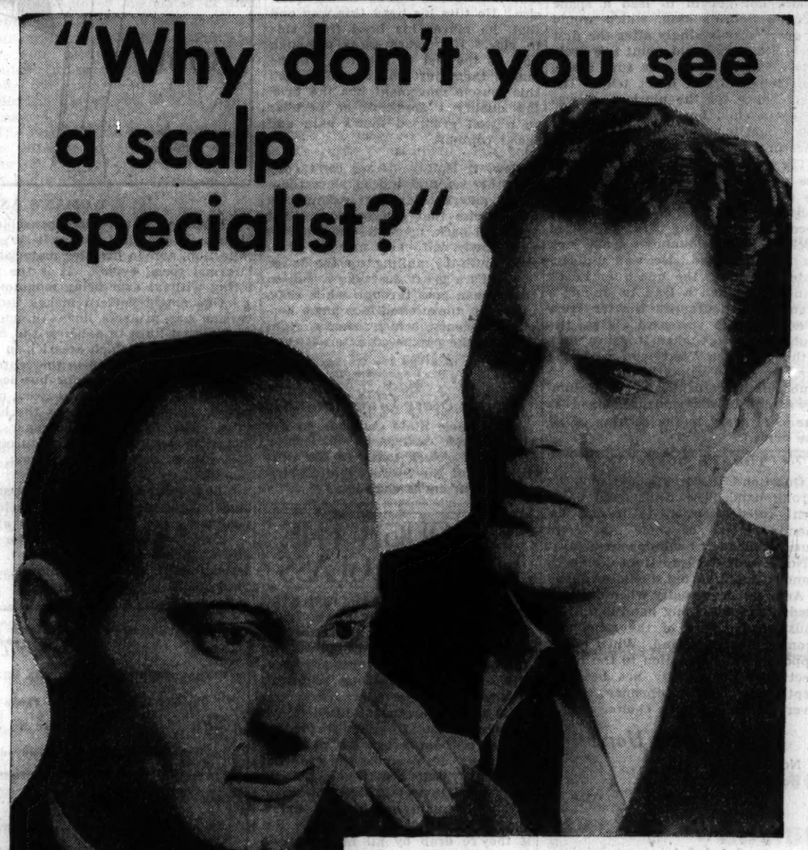
"Why don't you see a scalp specialist?"



IF You have dandruff
Your scalp is itchy
Your hair is falling
You are bald . . . .

Thomas Can Help You

IF YOU are genuinely interested in saving the hair you now have and in growing new hair on the thin or bald spots—consult a man who knows all about scalp troubles . . . a Thomas' scalp specialist. He'll tell you precisely what's wrong with your scalp and what must be done to return it to a normal, healthy condition. He knows the symptoms of the 14 external causes of baldness and he knows specifically how each must be treated. He knows exactly how to stimulate the inactive sources of hair growth so that new hair can grow again.

You Can Have Good Hair

Thomas' treatment replaces old-fashioned hit-or-miss methods with modern, scientific precision. Each case is carefully analyzed and treatment administered to meet the particular needs of the individual. For example, each type of dandruff is recognized and treated in the correct scientific manner. The Thomas' administer no general "cure-all" treatment.

You men who are gradually—almost unconsciously—slipping into the "bald-headed row" should consult a Thomas' specialist at once. He'll adapt the reliable proved Thomas' treatment to meet the exact needs of your scalp (if you are accepted for treatment). Your dandruff will go; abnormal hair fall will stop, and new hair will start to grow.

Thomas' treatment is positive, precise, dignified, and is reasonable in cost. More than a quarter-million persons have retained or regained hair by the Thomas' method. It can help you, too, to have a good head of hair. Call today for a complete scalp examination. No charge is made and you are not obligated. (If you do not live near a Thomas' office, write for a free copy of their booklet on the care of your hair and scalp.)

Admirers Revive Museum Dream of Lorado Taft

What, if anything, Chicago will do with the late Lorado Taft's long cherished plan for a $1,000,000 "dream museum," a chronological hall of sculpture, is a question friends of the noted sculptor are now asking.

An exquisite little miniature of Taft's "dream" stands in the winding, spacious studio at 6016 Ingleside avenue, where for more than twenty-five years the noted craftsman produced such masterpieces as his "Fountain of Time," Solitude of the Soul," and "The Blind." There, too, are enough full sized plaster casts with which to open the museum once it is founded.

Mr. Taft's proposal was for a vast hall of sculpture, arranged in historical sequence, but he never referred to it as anything other than the "dream museum." And the name was well chosen, for during his lifetime he made no less than six gallant, but futile, attempts to see it realized.

In this museum, he would give a perspective of the continuity of civilization by means of plaster casts of all important sculpture and all significant architecture through the ages.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

THE SPECIAL RANGE OF FIVE TO FIVE AND ONE-HALF HONOR TRICKS.

Around the five honor trick level the greatest problem is caused by hands which are too strong for an opening one no trump bid and yet too weak for a bid of two no trump. They contain five or five plus honor tricks with seven or eight honor cards, or they contain five and one-half bare honor tricks [perhaps only six honor cards]. If one no trump were bid on such a hand, partner might pass, expecting the average four honor trick holding in the opening hand, and a game would be missed. If two no trump were bid originally, partner might raise with far too little. Such hands are best opened with a one bid in a suit, when necessary an unbidable minor.

If partner is strong enough to respond at all [showing about one honor trick] the opener can jump to two or three no trump, depending upon intermediates. If partner passes, game probably is out of the question.

1. ♠ A Q 5 ♥ K J 7 ♦ A 8 5 4 ♣ A Q J — bid one diamond.
2. ♠ A K 3 ♥ 8 5 4 2 ♦ A K 7 ♣ A Q 4 — bid one club.

Partner will keep the bidding open with one no trump, holding: ♠ 8 6 2 ♥ 10 7 3 ♦ Q 6 2 ♣ K 7 5 3. The opener then will raise him to two no trump with No. 1, and to three no trump with No. 2. With less, partner would have passed the opening bid, but game could not be made.

TODAY'S HAND.

Breaking a Rule of Play.

Extraordinary conditions often demand that a player commit a so-called bridge crime. Today's hand is an example.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	1 spade	2 clubs	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	3 no trump [final bid]

On West's opening lead of the spade six declarer's normally correct play would be to duck in the dummy, since the preservation of the jack would insure two spade tricks if the queen were played by East. But, on this particular hand, declarer's real worry was not an extra trick in spades, but the matter of keeping East off the lead. If West had led from a spade holding headed by the ace-queen it was vital that East should not get in to lead a spade through South's king, which would be guarded only singly after the first trick. Declarer could count five probable diamond tricks, one sure spade, one club, and one heart trick. The best chance for the ninth trick was an extra club, but for safety's sake this would have to be established by finessing up to West.

The fact that South had only the ace and one club, added to the scarcity of entries in the dummy and the consequent danger of the club ace becoming a blocking card, influenced declarer to play dummy's spade jack on the first lead. He was unfortunate in finding the queen in East's hand, but when a lead to dummy's diamond jack dropped the ten from West the ship was saved. Now the club finesse was taken in safety and, although when West won with the king he strove valiantly to block the club suit by returning a heart, dummy's nine of diamonds remained as the vital entry to the cashing of all the clubs.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Declarer leads from the wrong hand. The right hand opponent calls attention to it and demands a lead of same suit from dummy. The left hand opponent says: "No, I want the lead from declarer's hand to stand." What should be done?

Answer: The penalty when declarer leads from the wrong hand is that he must lead a card of the same suit from the correct hand. When either opponent calls attention to the incorrect lead the penalty has been accepted and the other opponent cannot overrule his partner's choice.

Daily Exercise Gives Tone to Facial Muscles

Prevents Flabbiness of Jaw and Throat Contours.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY

It isn't the hat, girls, but what you have to offer under the hat that makes the hat a success.

The other day I took time out to study the faces of a group of men who were dining near by. These, of course, were men of some means or they would not have chosen the particular dining spot for their conclave. The thought occurred as to how a group of feminine faces from the same walk of life would compare with these rugged looking, masculine individuals. You can figure the answer as well as I.

Then why, I argued, with all the creams and lotions, etc., we women use, are our faces not of that sturdier quality that so many men's faces boast? O, yes, a feminine group will appear well groomed. The skin looks cared for, to be sure, and the makeup is good, generally speaking. But I speak of the firmness of texture, the firm looking chin and jawline muscles noted among men. I'm afraid the average man, unless he is a perfect jelly bag, with fatty tissue floundering all over chin and jawline, back of the collar, etc., stacks up better, on the average.

There is a reason. Women put all their rejuvenating faith in the jarred or bottled product. Women, let me hasten to say, must put considerable faith in these local applications, too, but they don't exercise their faces as men do. Every morning when a man shaves, he gets the benefit of excellent muscle and tissue toning exercise. He tilts his head this way and that, he moves his head from side to side. He makes faces although he'd be the last to admit it, but he makes them just the same, and all this muscle movement has the firming quality I speak of as peculiar to a well groomed man's skin and facial contour.

Now, it isn't as if we can't copy the other sex and, indeed, show them up as pikers. Here, for example, is an exercise that can be done. Tilt the head back, open the mouth wide and, slowly, with taut muscles, close the mouth by pulling up the lower jaw. It's a great deal like a motion that a man goes through while shaving. The unexercised face has a flopping tendency, which shows right through the pampered external care.

The Prairie State club will hold a philanthropic card party and fashion show at 1 o'clock today in the west ballroom of the Stevens hotel. Mrs. Joseph Murphy is chairman.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Facial glamor lies in the eyes. The woman who makes the most of her eyes couldn't possibly be described as drab. She may not be pretty or fashionable, but if her eyes are beautiful or made up to look beautiful, she's not run-of-the-mill.

It's a great argument for deft eye makeup. So look to your eyes, ladies, and give them every bit of artful attention. If your lashes are coal black and your brows likewise you won't need to worry about mascara. A bit of cream or vaseline and a good brush are all you'll need. But if they're drab by all means use a darkener and never be seen without it.

Keep the brows well groomed. Not all in a tricky line but in nature's own. And if you're blonde, don't keep the brows black. It gives a hard effect. Brown is usually better.

Don't overlook eye shadows. Never have there been such beautiful shades, such skilful blendings of shades. Dare to be different—but be deft. Experiment until you find what suits you best, but don't be too conservative.

ELEANOR NANGLE.

Three Blouses, One Pattern

WOMAN'S AND MISS' BLOUSES.

Perhaps the most indispensable single garment in any wardrobe is the blouse. In practical fabrics it serves substantially in the business or school collection, and in dressier materials it goes gracefully to a wide variety of informal social events. It is the perfect "date" garment, since it is flattering without ever being monotonous.

One single pattern makes three blouses illustrated today. The tunic version has princess lines, Directoire sleeves, a perky neckline, and slenderly fitted lines to enhance the figure. It is lovely in many of the exciting new fabrics which are rich in glamor.

The version shown in the center sketch is trim without being woodenly tailored. It is perfect for business and campus wear. It fits the figure like a glove and its sleeves reach new heights of interest. No collar, please notice, which feature makes the blouse a wonderful accessory with winter suits. The sketch at the upper right shows an adaptation of the tunic blouse shown in the larger figures. However, it is hewed down to peplum proportions, retaining the smart, high collar and long sleeves with full shoulders.

Remember that woolens and sturdy silks are perfect for practical wear, and that the most glamorous fabrics are de rigeur for dress occasions. Select your pet color, and there you are!

Style No. 3000 is designed for sizes 14, 16, and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3 yards of 39 inch material for the full length blouse. The shorter length versions require 1⅞ yards of 39 inch material.

Margaret Sullavan Becomes the Bride of Leland Hayward

Newport, R. I., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Margaret Garland Sullavan, motion picture star and now the leadying lady of "The Stage Door," current New York play, was married here this afternoon to Leland Hayward of New York.

Hayward, business manager for several screen actresses, was twice the husband of Lola Gibbs, Park avenue debutante. His father, Col. William Hayward, formerly was United States attorney for the southern district of New York.

Former Champ Gets First K. O. in Movie Role

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—It is the professional boast of Maxie Rosenbloom, ex-world's light heavyweight champion, that he never was knocked out and that you can't name a man now in the ring who ever was able to knock him down.

But when Maxie agreed to accept $1,000 a week to change trades and become a movie actor the writers and directors of "Trial Horse" at Warners played a practical joke on Maxie.

As Stan Wilson he is one of three boxers whose relations with each other build the story. The other two are Barton MacLane and Wayne Morris, a 6 foot 3 film "find" with light hair, gray eyes, a heavy chin, and an agreeable grin.

One of the early scenes shows Maxie getting floored in a bout with MacLane and coming out of the boxing arena to buy a paper from a newsboy, played by Dickie Jones, 9 years old. Maxie sees the newsboy's headline stating the fighter has been kayoed and cuffs the youngster toward the gutter with the papers flying. At this, Morris, a Texas cowhand stranded in the big city, carefully lays down his sombrero and hangs one on Maxie's chin, putting him in the gutter on the flat of his back. These make two kayos already for Rosenbloom. MacLane steps out of the arena, sees what happened, and befriends Morris.

As the plot goes along the man who is the world's champion of the ring retires to read Shakespeare in Connecticut and MacLane at last gets his chance to claim the vacated title. In the meantime Morris socks Maxie because of a difference of opinion on a personal matter. MacLane finds he must fight Maxie to advance his title claim. But a boxing commission rules Morris must fight Maxie first. You probably have guessed by now that Maxie ends that on on his back, too. Total: Four kayos for Rosenbloom.

Later the commission rules MacLane must fight Morris, but the latter demurs at trading wallops with his friend. Morris tells MacLane he cannot fight him because Morris has a contract to manage MacLane. MacLane is determined that nothing shall interfere with his climb toward a title bout. He sells Morris' fight contract to Maxie for $1 and tells Maxie that a title match will make all of them rich. Maxie hunts up Morris to tell the good news, and, boom, Morris plants Maxie's shoulder blades on the carpet for one more kayo.

At the end of the picture MacLane and Morris fight and that battle is going to be no joke. It hasn't been fought yet.

Tired Mother Often Unable to Govern Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Did you go to bed last night with the feeling that as a mother you were a failure, that you'd made a mess of things all day long, and that your children were just a little bit worse than any one else's?

Did you go to bed last night disgusted [but early] and wake up this morning fresh and rested to realize that the cause of all your troubles was tiredness?

Sometimes you'll have a terribly tiring day or two in which everything will go wrong, and you'll wonder why. Sometimes you'll be tired over a period of weeks or months, and your life with the children will seem completely awry, and you'll wonder why. But in the first instance you're more apt to recognize the cause of the trouble while in the second instance when you're chronically tired out you often don't sense the fact that is at the root of your difficulty.

So, "Am I all tired out?" is a good question to ask yourself if you're having a spell of feeling especially incompetent with the children or if they a having a spell of getting out of hand.

Of course, if the answer to your own question is "Yes," it's almost sure to be followed by a pessimistic "but." "But what can I do about it?" you'll ask yourself. "I have much housework to do, so much to do for the children!"

I know all about it. I know the thousand motions you must go through, the thousand steps you must take to run a household, or rather that you think you must go through or take. But I also know that some of the tasks you wear yourself out doing can be done differently, or skipped entirely.

Steamed puddings, although closely associated with Thanksgiving menus for years, are heavy fare following a bounteous meal. Let's serve small portions if we include a steamed pudding on the Thanksgiving menu or, better still, save the steamed pudding for a later supper or lunch when there is not so much other filling food.

Yankee Plum Pudding.

1 cup suet
1 cup New Orleans molasses
3 cups all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup sweet milk
1 cup raisins
1 cup hickory nut meats

Force the suet through the food grinder and work until creamy with the hands. Add the molasses. Sift the dry ingredients together and add alternately with the milk. Dredge the raisins and nuts with flour and add. Steam in buttered molds for three hours.

A rather simply made and not too heavy steamed cranberry pudding also makes a good Thanksgiving time dessert.

Steamed Cranberry Pudding.

3½ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup sugar
½ cup milk
1½ cups cranberries
3 beaten eggs
½ cup melted butter

Sift the dry ingredients together, stir in the milk, eggs, and butter quickly, add the cranberries and steam for three hours in a greased mold. Serve with sweetened whipped cream flavored with nutmeg.

The sauce may make or ruin the pudding. Here are recipes for two good ones, old standbys, both of them.

Creamy Sauce.

¼ cup butter
¾ cup confectioner's sugar
2 tablespoons milk
2 tablespoons melted jelly

Cream the butter and sift in the powdered sugar slowly. Cream well. Add the liquid at last slowly to avoid making the butter separate from the sugar.

May Apple.

BY NANCY CABOT.

The beauty of another of our wild plants has been captured for the delectation of the quilt makers of past and future generations. May Apples is one of the old applique patterns which were found in every well ordered household. It was a common sight to see these small apples ripining on a low plant, but the present day generation of city dwellers is stranger to this little apple which was so greatly enjoyed by country boys and girls.

When a timid knock sounded on Rudolfo's garret door last night and the Mimi motive rose from the orchestra, a crowded Civic Opera house settled back happily to enjoy the excitement of an important debut. The figure about to come through that door, every one knew, was that of Vivian Della Chiesa.

It was she, all right, and the audience gave her such a welcome that it was necessary to make a bow or two before she could turn to her host and begin an explanation of this intrusion. Excitement ran high all during the business that immediately followed, with experienced operagoers racking their brains to remember just how many minutes must elapse before that breathless pause which precedes Rodolfo's "Che Gelida Manina."

Eagerness was satisfied somewhat by the many phrases which go to Mimi, and possible anxiety allayed by the obvious fact that she was in good voice and not overly nervous.

Finally Rodolfo reached and passed his narrative, swung himself onto the chair, awaited Mimi's account of herself as excitedly as the audience.

"Mi Chiamano Mimi," Della Chiesa began, dwelling on the round, voluptuous phrase which opens the song. On she went, without an accident, to the tune's too early close. Again the house came down in a storm of applause, and the young soprano, who less than two years ago was completely unknown, realized the biggest hurdle of her career had been passed.

All this happened at a special Chicago City Opera company mounting of "La Bohème," sponsored by the Italo-American National union and the Italian community of Chicago. Its double purpose was to give Miss Della Chiesa, who is of Italian descent and an object of especial pride to her countrymen of Chicago, the best possible auspices for a debut, and to raise funds for a Chicago Italian center.

Vivian Della Chiesa was a success. Her voice quality through all the middle register is glorious, and she is capable of considerable volume without strain or roughness. Her stage presence profits by her great personal beauty, although the natural stiffness incident to a debut makes it hard to determine anything about her acting ability now.

Tito Schipa made a little speech in one of the intermissions. Five or six years ago, it seems, he heard Miss Della Chiesa and predicted a bright future. He is to sing with her next Wednesday night in "L'Elisir d' Amore."

There was so much enthusiasm in the house that the debut did not take anything away from the supporting characters. The audience was generous with all, especially with Armand Tokatyan.

Some child prodigies peter out at the end of their teens, others begin to acquire during the years that immediately precede manhood or womanhood the mental and spiritual stature absolutely necessary to the makeup of a good musician.

Of the latter variety is Mildred Waldman. Known a decade or so ago as a precocious child pianist and one of Chicago's champion wunderkinder, she returned yesterday afternoon to the Studebaker theater, scene of her first recital, to offer this city an opportunity to see for itself what the intervening ten years have done for her.

Musically, Miss Waldman is a delightful blend now of mature characteristics and others that suggest her very recently completed girlhood. Among the former is a technique so adequate that you hardly notice it any more; it seems merely a means to a higher end. Also, there are poise and intelligence in her phrasing, a clearly thought out line and a rich but controled tone in most of her playing.

On the other hand, the young woman still takes occasional delight in socking those big bass octaves and listening to them ring. An example or two came in the final movement of the "Waldstein" sonata, notably in the C minor episode; the treble octaves seemed too sharp in the A minor theme. Miss Waldman does not yet find it easy to relax and lose herself in a reposeful type of musical beauty. The broad cantilena of the Introduzione suffered somewhat from this sort of difficulty.

As a whole the big sonata was expertly done, with a strain of poetry softening its outlines and the Rondo taken at a wiser pace than in most performances. The modern group at the end, the only thing else I heard, profited by the pianist's humor and understanding as well as by her remarkable technical proficiency.

On the candlelit stage of the darkened Blackstone theater a group of twelve young artists from Berlin's Guenther school played and sang yesterday an unusual program of 15th to 18th century music. The riches which they displayed so effectively were drawn from several countries—France, Holland, Spain, Germany, Italy. Here was a course in the music of early modern times, all prepared for any one who would come.

Catherine Saurer, the pianist who played a Kimball hall recital yesterday under the auspices of the Allen Spencer Music club, is dexterous, thoughtful, and a good critic of herself. She has worked out several effective tone colors, all of which, with the possible exception of one piercingly brilliant hue, fit her calm, assured type of playing admirably. A suite by Miss Saurer herself turned out to be rich in ideas, modern without self-consciousness nor any straining after effect for its own sake.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

SEVERAL years ago a Chicago dentist and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. D. J. Normoyle, went abroad to be present at the centennial celebration of the founding of the mother house of the Sisters of Our Lady of Charity of the Good Shepherd, at Angers, France. While they were there they visited with their daughter, Jean, one of the few novitiates chosen from America to enter the mother house. During his visit, Dr. Normoyle made numerous snapshots of his daughter with the walls and cloisters of the ancient edifice as a background. A few evenings ago he went to see the movie "Cloistered" at the World Playhouse. He had heard that the picture had been filmed within the walls of a convent, but to his astonishment he recognized that the convent was the century old mother house at Angers, and he glimpsed his daughter among the white robed figures in several of the scenes.

WHEN we went to Dell Quest's art exhibit the other day, on the occasion of the Chicago Public School Art society benefit, to admire his Renoirs and Picassos, Segonzacs and Rouaults, we didn't expect to come away with items for the column. But various friends had bits to report, including Mr. Quest. And his had nothing to do with his gallery. Surrounded by fashionable guests, chrysanthemums, and congratulations, he detailed a little oddment that has to do with a ferry boat on Lake Michigan. It seems that the boat with the greatest travel record for the year is not an ocean liner or an ocean freighter, but a little ferry boat that plies between Ludington and Milwaukee three times a day. Its record is 100,000 miles a year.

A DISTINGUISHED lady of the town reported another oddment, one you might not expect from a distinguished and cultured lady. Her husband, driving from New York City to Newark to catch a plane for Chicago, told her, with some chuckling, of the building he passed on the way. The entire first floor was the quarters, so announced the sign, of the Corn Exchange bank. The entire second floor was the headquarters for a chiropodist.

THEN—and we'll probably get complaints in the mail about this—there was the man who, while looking over the new novels in his favorite bookstore, heard a black robed, white coifed nun ask a saleswoman for "Live Alone and Like It."

THE following letter, applying for a position, reached Chicago from Shanghai, via South India, and was sent on by a missionary into whose hands it had fallen:

"I am ——. It is for my personal benefit that I write to ask for a position in your honourable firm.

"I have a flexible brain that will adapt itself to your business and in consequence bring good efforts to your honourable selves. My education was impressed upon me in the Peking university, in which place I graduated Number One. I can drive a typewriter with good noise, and my English is great.

"My references are of the good, and should you hope to see me they will be read by you with great pleasure.

"My last job left me of itself for the good reason that the large man was dead. It was on no account a fault of mine.

"So, honourable sirs, what about it? If I can be of big use to you, I will arrive on some date that you should guess."

Good morning!

Judging from this yarn, Miss Hepburn, in the person of the Victorian heroine, Pamela, started the woman's rights ball rolling.

And all because of a cruel pa-pa! [Accent please, on the second syllable.]

Despite clever star, capable supporting cast and honest endeavor on the part of the director, "A Woman Rebels" is a disappointment. The story, you see, is flat and unavailing.

It's staged in the days when a lady—IF a lady!—was supposed to faint upon any provocation, and to say yea, yea, to whatever mandates of her menfolk. It paws determinedly at your sympathies, which makes you lay your ears back and wish it wouldn't be so cloying and obvious, while the musky odor of its dated melodrama gives you a faint touch of nausea.

The film is based upon an English best seller of some years ago, titled "Portrait of a Rebel" and written by one Netta Syrett. It dwells on the life of Pamela Thistlewaite, whose misfortunes—one of them having an illegitimate daughter—spur her on to a career of making life easier for other timorous maidens in distress.

The unswerving loyalty of a suitor—who has loved from the first time he saw her . . . and her final beautiful understanding with the daughter who had for many years thought herself a niece, confer upon Pamela long deferred happiness.

Miss Hepburn brings to the rôle her accustomed, bright, elusive touch. Herbert Marshall plays Old Faithful—faithfully. Elizabeth Allan is gently appealing as Pamela's ill fated sister. Donald Crisp as the father makes you think of old Barrett—the Barrett of Wimpole street, you know. Other rôles are played satisfactorily.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

The Russian Ballet Royale, which began a week's engagement in McVicker's theater last night under the sponsorship of the Federated Council of Professional and Business Women, offers a program of four choreographic episodes, staged and costumed in the hope of reflecting some of the glamor of the authentic Ballet Russe. The organization is "synthetic," for it originated in Chicago rather than in Moscow, or Paris, or Monte Carlo, and its numbers are imitations of the general trend of Russian dance-drama instead of actual excerpts from the famous repertories of the Diaghileff, Nijinsky, and De Basil companies.

Taken from the viewpoint of a "benefit," however—the effort of a clubwomen's organization to raise funds for its charitable purposes—this production may be accepted as a satisfactory affair. It conveys an idea of the true Russian ballet; it has some of the values of an elaborate dance spectacle, and its performers are fairly well schooled.

"Temple Dancer"—Hindu religious ceremonies, costumed in the manner of Leon Bakst. The star dancer of the temple fascinates a rajah, whose lawful wife puts an end to the budding romance by giving the girl a bouquet which contains a cobra. Music by Luigini and Minkus.

"Spanish Life"—Merriment and melodrama in a Spanish tavern. Dozens of Carmens and a knife duel over one of them. Idolita Del Prado wins a high grade as a castanet clicker and hip shaker. Music by Glazounoff, Rubenstein, Delibes, Saint-Saens, Albaniz and Minkus—almost enough composers to form a union.

"Moon Madness"—A melancholy episode in a French cemetery, period of 1800. A lover visits his sweetheart's grave at midnight; bats and evil spirits pursue him. Everything is Edgar Allan Poeish. He goes mad in the end. Music by Liszt and Saint-Saens.

"Christmas Dream"—A little girl reads fairy tales on Christmas eve. She dreams of an enchanted land ruled by Prince Icicle; she meets all kinds of fantastic creatures, such as birds, clowns, Chinese dolls, Dresden dolls, little bears, Arabian dolls, Russian dolls, Italian dolls, pages, harlequins, and fairly princesses. Music by Tschaikowsky.

Pietro Cavallo leads a competent orchestra.

Anne Rudolph's dance recital in the Goodman theater last night was an interesting exhibition of a creative talent in light comic characterizations, graceful abstractions, and somber dramatic moods. Miss Rudolph is a refreshing personality and an interpretive dancer of striking versatility. Her vein of humor has definite charm.

Coronation Rite to Lure Chicago Folk to London

English-Speaking Union to Send Party of Fifteen.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE spectacle of a lifetime with the added luster of a possible royal romance in the background is sufficient guarantee that Chicago will have its quota among the thousands of visitors in London for King Edward VIII.'s coronation next May.

Fifteen of the visitors will be there under the aegis of the Chicago branch of the English Speaking union, which has just completed plans for a "coronation tour," complete with hotel accommodations and seats for the coronation procession. These facilities, naturally, are at a premium, even though the king and his retinue are said to be taking a course three miles longer than customary, so that more would-be spectators will be able to catch a glimpse of him.

The English Speaking union's party, which is being limited to 15, will spend 10 days in London sightseeing and taking part in social events arranged through the London headquarters of the union, and then will tour the English countryside by motor bus for a fortnight. Miss Grace Telling will conduct the tour.

Several Others Arrange to Attend.

One Chicagoan who has long since planned to be in London for the coronation is Mrs. Stewart Johnson. She is still undecided whether to take with her her daughter, Miss Catherine Johnson, a student at Farmington. The James Ward Thornes also have arranged to go abroad for the coronation, and so have the Charles H. Bosworths, who will divide their time between their two daughters, Mrs. Trevor Stamp and Mrs. Gordon L. Padley, both of whom have homes in London.

Mrs. Jacob Baur usually pays her daughter, Mrs. Bartle Bull, a visit in London early every summer, and probably will be going over a little earlier next spring in time for the coronation. Mrs. Americus F. Callahan visited her brother-in-law and sister, Ambassador and Mrs. Robert W. Bingham, last summer, and may go over again next spring, and so may Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick, who has 10 brothers and sisters living in England ready to make her welcome.

The Man on the Blue

By Luke Short

INSTALMENT I.

AN ARROGANT OUTLAW.

"I'm not theenk that right. Here. I'm show you."

The Mexican reached for the cactus stick being used as a pointer by his companion. When he had it, he suddenly realized that he alone was holding it, that his companion had let go, had stepped away.

He looked up.

"Go on," his companion said. "Only be careful how you reach out that way again."

The Mexican hefted the stick, and was about to speak, then changed his mind and walked the twenty feet to the top of the ridge. There, the wind caught his ragged clothes, whipping faint streamers of alkali dust out behind him, molding them against his heavy, squat body, even stirring the low slung guns at his thighs.

"She's come close," he said. "Twenty maybe."

His companion said nothing, and the Mexican returned. He pointed the stick at a rough map drawn in the sand drift in the lee of the ridge. The map was a big square cut in fours, and he placed the stick almost where the lines intersected.

"I'm theenk we are here."

"Si."

"Not far in."

"Not far." The Mexican's swart face turned and his gaze shuttered to the two horses standing hipshot down the face of the ridge a dozen yards away. His eyes were harried, filled with unease, as they settled on the map again, and he moved the stick to the upper left hand square.

"Utah Terr'tory," he said, looking at his companion.

"No good. They want me."

"New Mexico Terr'tory."

"No. They want me too."

The frustration in the Mexican's eyes was eloquent as he looked at his companion.

The man stood well away from the map, so that he appeared little concerned with it. He was not tall, not heavy either, but close knit. As he stood there with his hands on his hips, his narrow small fingers splayed loosely over the gunbelts crossing each hip bone, his arrogance was regal. His clothes were ordinary—the drab blue shirt and levis of the workaday range variety, now covered with alkali dust—and so were his well-worn cedar handled Colts, his saddle softened half boots. It was his face.

He raised a hand in salute to the posse and started down the ridge.

It was small, oval, still, cold, browned to the color of oak leaves at first frost, and smooth; his eyes were rain gray, and had the opacity of slate, the surface lights of agate. Half the upper lip of his rather generous mouth was lifted in a sneer, stamped that way from habit. He stood so utterly straight and still that he contrived more than poise. It was a quality of gathering explosiveness, rather. He wore his arrogance like a banner—and a proud one.

"Them posse, she's wanting us in Colorado now. W'at is left?"

Then, as if it reminded him of his duty, he walked to the top of the ridge and looked off toward the northeast.

"She's come closer. She's more than twenty."

His companion said nothing, and he returned to the map.

"What's it like?"

The Mexican made a quick, loose gesture of impatience with his hands. "Them posse, she's close."

"What's it like?"

The Mexican sighed and said rapidly: "Mucho calor—veree hot. Long rides weeth no water. Them country, she's up and down. She's got small horses, but mean. No grass, no water and them ranchos, she's many days ride between. She's no good."

"Towns?"

"She's not many."

Again the Mexican interrupted himself to go to the top of the ridge. Once there, he looked, started to squat in a rapid, serpentlike movement, then rose slowly and cursed. He said to his companion:

"There. She's see me sure."

Slowly, his companion drew a Durham sack from his shirt pocket and in no particular haste rolled and lighted a smoke, looking off over the country to the south. The Mexican watched him.

"I think I'll try it."

The Mexican exhaled his breath sharply. "Then adios Señor Shamrock. In Arizona, they want me t'ree t'ousand dollars wor't. I'm go to Utah."

He looked at his companion a long moment, then slowly added: "Some day, I'm theenk you cough some sand from your craw. She's no good, them face. She's too tough not to bust."

"Not I'm," the Mexican said quietly. "Me, I'm not so tough."

"Adios, Shamrock."

"Adios."

The Mexican ran to his horse. He mounted in one agile leap, rammed home his spurs, and headed west traveling the side of the ridge, his jaded roan already in a gallop.

Shamrock watched him a moment, then whistled. The big, bony, blue down the slope wheeled and waled smartly up the hill to him.

He walked up the ridge and looked over it. Below, less than a quarter mile, he could see more than a dozen horsemen flailing their ponies up the flinty and treacherous footing of the slope. They saw him, for a puff of smoke folded out from the leader of the group, the dirt geysered up a score of yards down the ridge, then the slap of the shot sounded.

He swung lazily onto the Blue, settled the old and battered Stetson more securely over his blue-black hair, and was picking up his reins when he caught sight of the map in the sand. He dismounted, again lazily, and with a half dozen dragging motions of his booted foot he erased the map.

Then he mounted and turned in the saddle. There were more shots now, many of them close. With a careless gesture of insolence he raised a hand in salute to the posse and started down the ridge.

By the time the posse had reached the top of the ridge he was out of sight, headed south and a little west into the cañon country below that was blazing red in the last light of a windy day.

Just over the ridge the posse drew up and the leader dismounted. Two others followed him, and they studied the tracks, walking down the slope.

"They've split, one man said.

"That'll be him," the leader said. "Let that Mex go."

He looked off to the south, swearing softly.

"The line ain't far," one man said wearily.

LONELINESS BANISHED.

When they were gone, Harla motioned at the living room, where a bright birch fire was burning, against the chill of the October night. Her cheeks were still flushed from Strap's incriminating remarks, and she would not meet Noel's eyes.

"Shall we go in there?" she suggested.

Noel shook his head. In his feverish mood, walls seemed intolerably confining and oppressive. He wanted the largeness of the night sky and the tang of the little norther that was bringing the migrants out of the wild lands of Keewatin and Mackenzie.

As he brought a wrap for Harla and they walked out into the small rock garden where he and Spencer, one year ago, had planned the Rocco hunt, Harla tried to steer their talk into a safe channel.

"I can't tell you how glad I was, Noel, when I heard about this new position of yours. Aren't you going to say anything at all about it?"

Noel had little thought, just then, for Ottawa and his work there. Harla's nearness, the moon spangles in her hair, and above all, Strap's guileless disclosures, made Ottawa seem far away and unimportant.

"It's a newly created post," he explained, perfunctorily, "to coördinate the work of the Mounted and Provincials and other law enforcing agencies. With a hundred and fourteen such agencies in the Dominion, there's clash and duplication. I'm to keep that down, and be a sort of consultant to them all."

"A hundred and fourteen!" Harla breathed. "That sounds like work for you, Noel!"

He nodded. Yes, it would be a hard and exacting position, but a challenging one, too. It would be a work of nation-wide importance, such as he had always wanted. No more trailing individual criminals or drifting all over a continent in a nameless, friendless existence. He would be living at Ottawa, living like other people, with friends and associations. After those thirteen uprooted years it would be like walking out of prison into the sunshine.

As they stopped in a shaft of light from a window, he ventured, hesitantly, "Since Manitou, since I left you there, Harla, it's seemed a long time."

She plucked at a withered rose bloom. "Has it? I didn't notice. I was so busy—working frantically; and even so I didn't get that job completed. I hope to go back next summer and finish it."

"Perhaps I can arrange a leave by then, and we could—you and I—could go together."

"It would be an awf'ly nice trip," she admitted. "But for us to pitch off like that, so far away from everybody—wouldn't it be just a little bit scandalous, Noel?"

"Harla! Please. You know what I'm meaning—how I'd want us to go. And you know why it's been so long for me since Manitou." He took her hands in his and kept her from turning away from him. "Ever since I met you at McMurray, you've known."

"But you, Noel, there at Manitou—you wrote me off——"

"I tried to. But I couldn't. Harla——?"

She knew what he wanted to do—and yet was so awkward and hesitant and inept at doing—as he stood there with her hands in his. From his first word and glance that evening she had known what was in his heart toward her; and that knowledge had brought her a singing happiness.

"Harla——?" he repeated.

She looked up at him then. "Yes?"

"May I, dear?"

The very artlessness of the question made Harla smile. But the smile died on her lips. Back of his artlessness toward her, back of his whole ineptness and hesitancy, lay his lonely years, his long shadow years; and she could not smile at those. The tears sprang to her eyes at the mere thought of them. As her fingers tightened upon his and she stood tiptoe, she whispered:

"I've been wanting you to, Noel."

English-Speaking Union to Send Party of Fifteen.

ganization is holding Friday evening, Nov. 27, at the Drake hotel will have the unusual experience of hearing a debate on British politics approximately as it might be given at the Oxford union or in the house of commons.

Richard Kay-Shuttleworth and Arthur Greenwood, the two young Englishmen who spoke informally before the English Speaking union on their visit here last winter, are returning here especially to debate the current British political situation as official representatives of the Oxford union. Mr. Kay-Shuttleworth, grandson and heir of Lord Shuttleworth, 92 years old, former member of Gladstone's cabinet, will speak from the conservative standpoint, and Mr. Greenwood, son of Arthur Greenwood, who was in Ramsay MacDonald's cabinet, will represent liberal opinion.

The two young men spent last week-end with Samuel M. Rinaker, president of the English Speaking union, and Mrs. Rinaker in Lake Forest, but their schedule of speaking engagements is such that they had to leave Monday, and could only with difficulty arrange to return to Chicago for the dinner on the 27th. Mr. Greenwood will sail for England soon after the debate to stand for parliament.

Football games and theater openings have drawn a number of Chicagoans to the east in the last week. Mrs. Johnson went down for the Yale-Princeton and Yale-Harvard games and to see her daughter in Farmington. The Talcott Griswolds are in New York for 10 days of theater going with a game or two, and Mrs. Press Hodgkins, Mrs. Hubbell Thorne, and Mrs. John D. Ames have gone east for a brief round of theaters. Mr. Hodgkins is at Sea Island beach, in Georgia, for 10 days.

Martha Borland Ready to Leave Hospital.

Miss Martha Borland is returning home today or tomorrow from St. Luke's hospital, where she recently underwent an appendectomy.

Seven young Chicagoans are connected with the Princeton Triangle club's annual show, "Take It Away," which will be given Dec. 26 at the Civic Opera house. Charles I. Pierce, George Dunbar of Wheaton, Alfred M. Osgood of Kenilworth, and James A. Walsh Jr. are in the cast. Edward W. Kahler of Winnetka and Charles R. Stevens of Evanston are in the orchestra, and Dwight P. Green Jr. of Winnetka is program manager for the show.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra's concert in "The History and Enjoyment of Music" series sponsored by the University college of Northwestern university at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow evening at the Auditorium theater will set several precedents. This will be the first informal program of the sort ever given by the orchestra for an adult audience, and Dr. Stock for the first time will comment on the numbers played, asking individual musicians in the orchestra to illustrate his points.

The Chicago Vassar club is giving a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock today at the Fortnightly club for Dean C. Mildred Thompson of Vassar, who will make an informal address. Mildred Dennis Anderson will report on the recent Vassar Alumnæ council meeting. While Miss Thompson is here she will be the guest of Mrs. Andrew MacLeish, president of the Vassar club.

Another Intimate Opera Program Today.

Mrs. Anna Fitzu and Miss Edna Kellogg will give another in their series of "Intimate Opera Mornings" at 11 o'clock today in the Grand ballroom of the Drake hotel.

"The Social Security Program" will be discussed by Mrs. Hasseltine Byrd Taylor at a round table luncheon of the Lake Shore League of Women Voters today at the Lake Shore Drive hotel. Mrs. Taylor, who is chairman of the department of government and child welfare of the Illinois League of Women Voters, also will touch on birth control legislation and other current topics in her talk. Mrs. Mitchell D. Follansbee will preside.

Mr. and Mrs. Armand H. Peycke gave a tea yesterday afternoon in their home at 240 Rawleigh road, Kenilworth, for Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Huff of Sioux City, Ia., at which they announced the engagement of their daughter, Jane, to Jean Richard Huff. The announcement came as a surprise to most of the guests.

Miss Peycke attended Roycemore school and Ferry Hall in Lake Forest. Mr. Huff, whose father is a former mayor of Sioux City, attended Lake Forest academy and Menlo Junior college in Menlo Park, Cal.

Now Is Time to Pick Cards for Yuletide

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Christmas shopping in Chicago is guaranteed to keep you properly enthusiastic right up to the last frenzied week. You can begin immediately, if you're one of those perspicacious shoppers who take delight in a comparatively calm procedure; one of those persons who make the rest of us gnash our teeth along about Dec. 20 with their exasperating grins and bulletins of "O, I had mine wrapped days ago."

You can wait and go completely mad with the crowds of the last ten days and have the time of your life battling other late comers with money to spend. Then you can buy while the excitement is at its height. We do it every year! And it still seems the most fun!

Or you can stay snug at home base and politely and unhurriedly shop over the obliging telephone and with the expert assistance of a dozen or more personal shopping services, while some one else fills your orders after you give only vague hints about the items on your list. The services are good for embittered gentlemen with uncomfortable memories of former shopping expeditions.

However you plan the next few weeks, we're just trying this morning to arouse your attention to one important fact. Anything you want monogrammed, remember, takes from ten days to two weeks, and good results are not possible unless you allow time. This goes for stationery dies, for handkerchief orders, for anything to be marked, mufflers, lingerie, linen and the like. Christmas cards have been out for some time, and we plead with you—select them now, while you can read the inside dittles in peace, to say nothing of finding suitable sentiments for one and all. The drippy sentimental abominations have a way of hanging around, while the clever, witty and unusual greetings are picked while collections are new.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

For many months Elaine Barrie was publicized as John Barrymore's "radio protégée." Then they were married, and the other evening she finally got on the air—so far as we know, for the first time on any network of consequence. Mr. and Mrs. Barrymore were interviewed briefly on the Hollywood Hotel show along with scores of other cinema notables. The hour was devoted to a review of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's musical hits since the beginning of sound pictures, a preview of "Born to Dance," and the previously mentioned interviews with celebrities in the audience at Graumann's Chinese theater.

It was a real clambake and must have made Cecil B. De Mille, director of the rival CBS Radio theater, green with envy. Mr. De Mille's dish for tonight is "Conversation Piece" with Lily Pons and Adolphe Menjou, and he is throwing in Cotton Warburton and his selections for the all-American football team.

Andre Kostelanetz and Miss Pons, who are plotting marriage [if they are not wed already], have been having a peachy time this week-end. Mr. Kostelanetz flew to Hollywood from New York Saturday, taking along with him a new piano as a birthday gift for Miss Pons. Tonight they will fly back east. And, no doubt, the piano will be taken right back, since Miss Pons plans to spend the winter in New York doing operatic, concert, and radio work. She is to appear on the Kostelanetz program from time to time.

Gracie Allen and George Burns are on their way east and will stop off here Wednesday to do their broadcast from local CBS studios. Jimmy Newell is to do his final singing with them on this occasion. Next week they are to introduce Tony Martin in his place.

Hutchins Finds Education in a Vicious Circle

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Education in America has a tremendously long way to go before it is worthy the name, President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago told the New Jersey State Teachers' association convention here tonight.

He said that "in the University of Chicago High school not less than 10 per cent of the pupils are functionally illiterate; in a metropolitan high school 50 per cent. They can read words, but have no idea what most of them mean. An even larger group will not learn from books even if they are able to; they are handminded, not interested in reading.

"We are in a vicious circle. Teachers are badly educated. They educate their students badly. Some of the students become teachers, and so on it goes."

Ridiculing bitterly the attempts "under guise of patriotism to suppress freedom of teaching, inquiry, and discussion," Dr. Hutchins suggested that patriots force loyalty oaths also upon the parents, comic strip artists, movie and radio stars. "Nobody with any intelligence or independence," he said, "will become a teacher if teachers are submitted to dictation."

Dr. Hutchins argued for a general education, which "we know does not exist today. It will facilitate social change and make it more intelligent."

A. F. OF L. COUNCIL FAVORS SECURITY ACT AMENDMENT

Tampa, Fla., Nov. 15.—(AP)—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor, in its report to the federation's annual convention starting here tomorrow, called today for a constitutional amendment, if such be needed to save the social security act.

The council also proposed repeal of social security pay roll taxes, suggested an appropriation as soon as congress convenes for work relief, and urged speedy enactment of the Wagner low cost housing bill.

Unemployment Discussed.

Although William Green, federation president, recently said the Black-Connery 30 hour week bill and the O'Mahoney industrial licensing bill would top the A. F. of L. legislative program this winter, no mention of either measure appeared in the report. Broadening the scope of the Walsh-Healy government contract act was recommended. The act now covers contracts of only $10,000 or more.

In discussing unemployment since NRA's end, the council said:

"The shorter work week and the six hour day furnish the real solution to the insistent problem of unemployment. It is the responsibility that private industry must accept in order to give the necessary balance to economic expansion."

The council reported a membership of 3,422,398 on Aug. 31—the greatest since 1921. About 1,000,000 would be lost by the proposed expulsion of the ten unions in the Lewis rebellion.

Urge State Security Laws.

The report heartily approved of a federal social security program and urged adoption of state laws that would give labor the greatest possible benefi from the federal statute.

If the federal law is unconstitutional, the council said, "it is clear that its provisions must be changed or that sanction must be afforded to them through an amendment to the constitution.

"If unemployment benefits are to go to those out of work who have complied with the provisions set forth in the act, funds must be made available, but the wisdom of obtaining these funds through a pay roll tax which to a great extent is to be paid directly or indirectly by the workers involved is subject to question.

"Weekly and annual earnings have not yet reached such levels that the wage earners can afford substantial reductions for the purpose of giving them limited benefits during the periods of unemployment."

Look to Federal Government.

The council also suggested that funds for payment of old age compensation should be made available by congress each year "on the basis of estimated need."

In closing, the report said.

"Labor feels that the burden of insecurity should be lifted from its shoulders and that the cost should be a social responsibility. We believe that our federal government has the power to levy and collect taxes to be used to further social security purposes."

The federal government, the council said, would have to be the keystone in the nation's permanent relief program.

"Planning a long time program of relief, we must accept the principles of federal responsibility," the report addede. "Conservation of our nation is a social obligation we cannot delegate to private charity or trust to the chance of individual conscience."

Better coördination of federal, state, and local welfare relief agencies with an expanded social security program that would include health insurance war recommended for the permanent relief program.

War Veterans' Memorial Dedicated at Justice Park

A plot of ground in Bethania cemetery at Justice Park, Ill., set aside as a memorial to world war veterans, was dedicated yesterday by Hiram J. Slifer post, No. 135, American Legion. The cemetery is interdenominational. The Rev. W. F. Jehn officiated at the ceremonies, which were arranged by G. L. Siebert, past commander of the post. A crowd estimated at 15,000 attended.

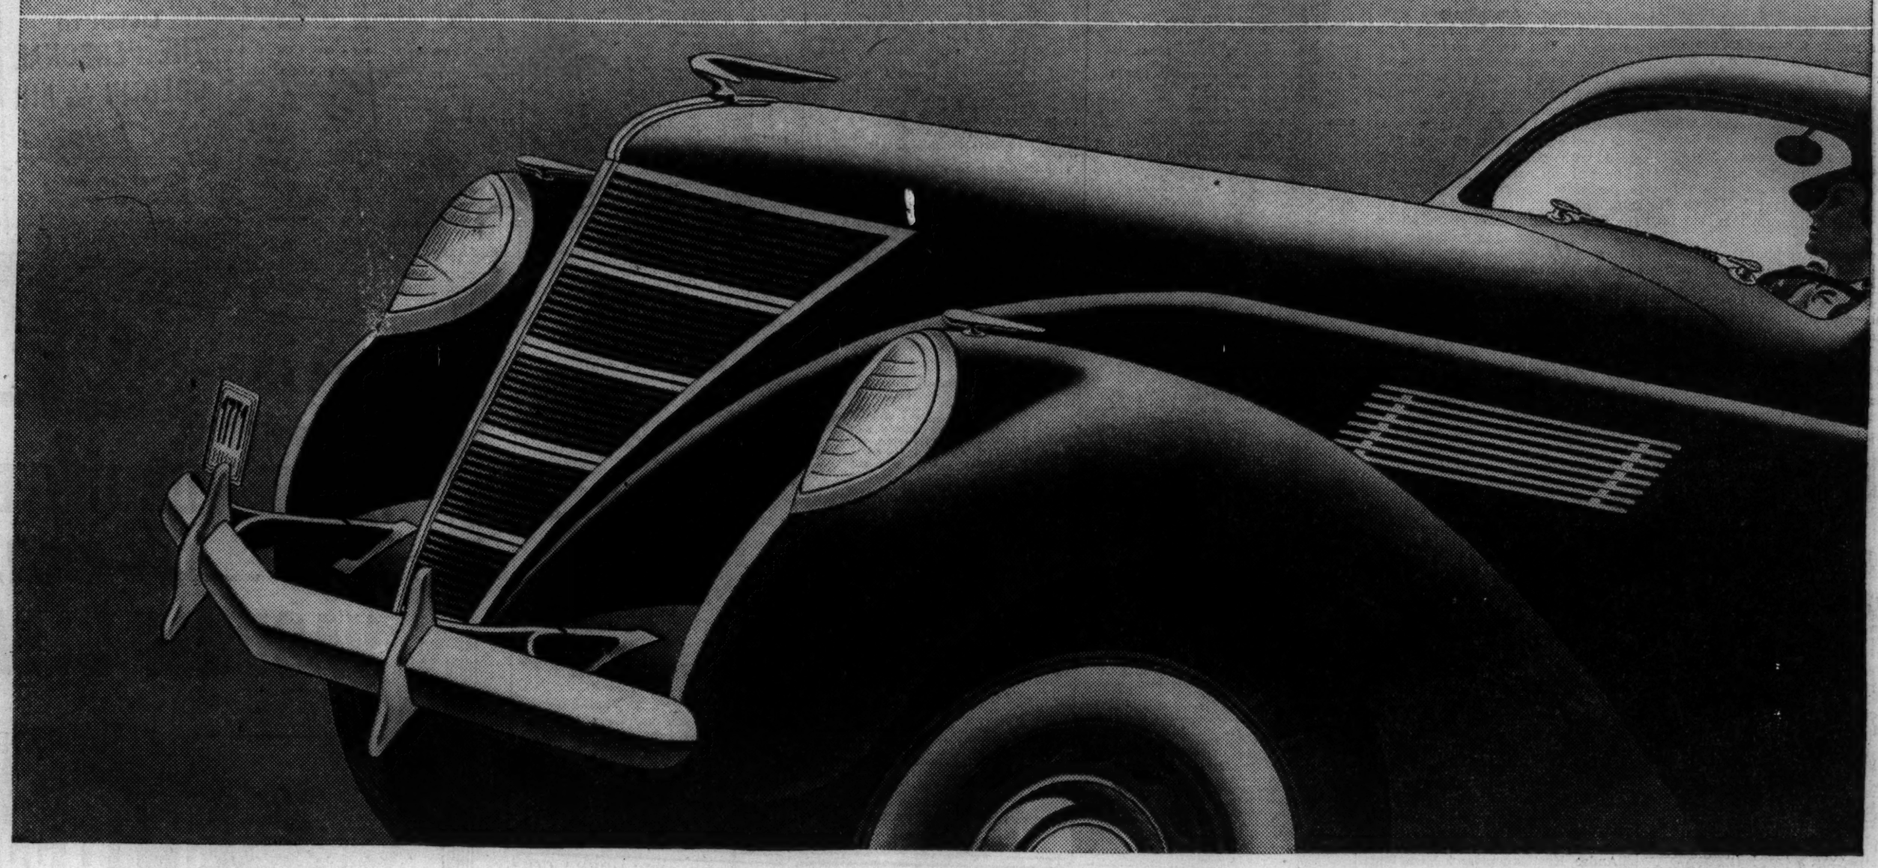
THE NEW KIND OF CAR THAT IS ROLLING UP NEW RECORDS



LINCOLN ZEPHYR

V·12 FOR 1937

BEFORE you go to the Automobile Show, let us tell you what to look for in the 1937 LINCOLN-ZEPHYR V-12.

This is the new kind of car built by Lincoln, and the only car of its kind! It has established new standards of performance, comfort and economy.

Look at the interior. (The LINCOLN-ZEPHYR has a wheelbase of 122 inches.) Where else in the medium-price field will you find these inches of extra space . . . this head room, foot room, elbow room . . . this luxury of appointment . . . this quality of decoration and upholstery?

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Chicago's Cardinals, appearing more like a National league football team than at any time this season, achieved their second consecutive victory yesterday by defeating the Pittsburgh Pirates, eastern division leaders, 14 to 6, in one of the roughest games ever played at Wrigley field.

A small crowd of 3,856 saw the Cardinals take a 7 to 0 lead in the first period on George Grosvenor's nine yard run around end, add seven points in the second quarter on Pug Vaughan's 38 yard pass to Bill Smith, and maintain an advantage throughout after Pittsburgh had scored on a 48 yard pass, Ed Matesic to Warren Heller, just before the end of the half.

Players Are Belligerent.

Vicious tackling and jarring blocks aroused bitter feeling as early as the first quarter and by the second half the Pittsburgh squad, which has come to be known as the Pitiless Pirates, found the Cardinals more than a match in belligerency. Several fights broke out among players and in the final minute of the game Billy Wilson of the Cardinals and Dick Sandefur of the Pirates were expelled for mixing it while the Pirates were making their last futile assault on the Cardinal goal. Even the fans were in a fighting mood and police were kept as busy in the stands as the embattled linemen on the field.

Long passes, sensational runs, and repeated scoring threats by both teams in the second half featured the game, which aside from its water front aspects was exceptionally well played. The Pirates, striving to remain in the race, for the eastern division title and seeking victory as a stimulus for the gate at their game in Los Angeles next week, fought fiercely to overthrow a Cardinal defense that held as stoutly as a six inch cable.

Cardinals Hurry Passer.

Matesic's passes, which have been the Pirates' offense all season, were hurried by a charging Cardinal line, which on all but one occasion also kept the Pirate ball carriers well bottled up. Matesic succeeded in getting off only two good passes, the one on which Heller scored and another for 55 yards to Wilbur Sortet in the final minute, which placed the ball on the Cardinals' 8 yard line.

George Grosvenor, Jimmy Lawrence, and Pug Vaughan, operating behind the inspired red shirted forwards, led the Cardinal attack. Grosvenor was especially effective, getting away for several sizable runs. The glory, however, belonged to the line, where Tony Blazine, Smith, Wilson, Coach Milan Creighton, Harry Field, Bill Volok, and Conway Baker turned in sparkling performances.

The statistics reveal the Cardinal line's effectiveness. Pittsburgh was able to gain only 65 yards by rushing, while Cardinal backs went scooting through gaping holes in the Pirate line for 245 yards. The Pirates attempted 21 passes and completed 8 for 160 yards. The Cardinals threw 8 passes and completed 3 for 93 yards. The total yardage gained was 338 yards for the Cardinals and 225 for the Pirates. The Cardinals led in first downs, 14 to 10.

Grosvenor Kicks Accurately.

The Cardinals, taking advantage of a sturdy north wind, resorted to a kicking game in the first quarter. This strategy led to the first score of the game, late in the period, when Grosvenor punted 49 yards out of Boston, Mass., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The relentless offensive power of the Chicago Bears carried them to a 26 to 0 victory over the Boston Redskins in a National league professional football game before 12,000 at Fenway park today. It was their eighth victory of the campaign and kept them in a tie for first place in the western division.

A pass from Bernie Masterson to Bill Hewitt was good for forty-six yards and the first touchdown in the first period, after Masterson had set up the play by intercepting a pass. Jack Manders' twenty-one yard field goal in the second period gave the Bears a 10 to 0 lead at the half, and in the last half Chicago put over two more touchdowns and a field goal.

Nagurski Plunges Over.

Bronko Nagurski plunged over from the three yard line to climax a forty-eight yard drive early in the third period and Manders ran thirty-six yards around the Boston flank for another touchdown in the final period. Masterson completed the scoring by place kicking a second field goal from the 30 yard line in the closing minutes of the game.

Chicago rolled up seventeen first downs to six for Boston and outrushed the Redskins, 225 yards to 56, on the ground. The Bears also completed five out of fifteen passes for 123 more yards and gained 53 yards on lateral pass plays. Boston completed five out of twenty-three passes for sixty yards.

Masterson Intercepts Pass.

Masterson's interception of Britt's pass, back on the Chicago 35 yard line, finally started the Chicagoans on their way. Masterson ran the ball back to the Boston 45 yard line. On first down, Masterson flicked a flat pass to Hewitt near the left side line. Hewitt caught the ball in front of Riley Smith, and ran 30 easy yards for a touchdown when Smith missed the tackle. Manders kicked the extra point from placement and the Bears led 7 to 0.

After Chicago took possession for the second time in the second period the Bears started from their own 26 yard line. Gene Ronzani and Molesworth drove out successive first downs in two rushes at the Boston tackles. A Ronzani to Hewitt pass made 30 more yards and brought the ball to the Boston 22 yard line. Two rushes and an incomplete pass left the Bears needing two yards for a first down. Manders then placed kicked his sixth successive field goal of the season, from the 21 yard line, giving the Bears a 10 to 0 lead.

Kicks Into End Zone.

Stydahar kicked off for Chicago, the ball going into the end zone for a touchback. Boston took possession on its own 20 yard line, but could not

Ed Matesic, Pittsburgh half back, charges through Cardinal line. Howard Tipton (No. 27) reaches for the runner and Milan Creighton (No. 35) makes a leaping effort to get into the play. This episode occurred as the Pirates and Cardinals battled yesterday at Wrigley field. The Chicago team won, 14 to 6, scoring on a nine yard run by Grosvenor and a 38 yard pass, Vaughan to Smith. The Pirates got their points on a spectacular pass from Matesic to Heller. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

MACCABEES TIE, LOSE IN FINAL GAMES IN U. S.

In the first game the Chicago Maccabees defeated the Palestine Reserves, 4 to 0. The second game saw the regular team tied by the Chicago Sparta eleven, 1 and 1. The game was a hard fought battle with Sparta having the better part of the play, scoring their goal midway of the first 45 minutes to play. Vicek and Monro teamed to score for Sparta. Vicek worked his way through the Palestine team down the left side, kicked over to Monro, who then drove a fast shot past Goalie Sida.

After the interval the Maccabees put on their strongest pressure, rushing the ball down the field with beautiful kicking. Herman finally drove past Sebak with the tieing score. Sebak just managed to get his hands on the ball, but it was too solid a drive and he could not hold it.

The Chicago Maccabees had little trouble in defeating the Palestine reserve players. Pearlman scored the first goal on a close up shot. The reserves threatened several times, but Goalie Fisher made some clever stops at the brink of the net. Lillie, Molvie, and Cuthburt were other Maccabees to find the net.

Packers' Passing Attack Crushes Dodgers, 38 to 7

Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The Green Bay Packers overwhelmed the Dodgers today in a National Football league game at Ebbetts' field, 38 to 7. A crowd of 25,325 saw the Wisconsin team continue its successful invasion of the east, with a display of power such as has not been seen here this year.

The Packers making their first appearance in New York in two years, scored late in the first period on a field goal by Paul Engebretsen and then really began to display their power in the second period, when their great passers, Arnie Herber and Bob Monnett began to pass all over the field to Don Hutson and Joe Laws.

Packer Passes Too Good.

The Packers took the offensive from the very beginning when, after Kercheval missed a forty-two yard field goal, they brought the ball to the Brooklyn 23 yard line, where Engebretsen missed a field goal.

Monnett went in and Green Bay started to roll again. Two forwards, Monnett to Laws and Monnett to Clemens, brought the ball to the Dodgers' 37 yard line. The Green Bay attack stalled for two plays and then another Monnett to Laws aerial picked up twenty yards for a first down. The Packers were again held by the Brooklyn line so Engebretsen dropped back and kicked a field goal to give the Packers a 3 to 0 lead.

Herber to Hutson.

Early in the second quarter Smith blocked a Kercheval kick and the Packers had possession on the Brooklyn 18 yard line. Miller rounded right end for six yards. Herber cut loose a pass to Miller that took the ball to the Brooklyn 5 yard line. From there Hutson caught a pass from Herber for a touchdown. Smith added the extra point.

After another exchange of punts the Packers got the ball on their own 35 yard line. Herber's forty-five yard aerial to Hutson was allowed when the officials detected interference. Hinkle picked up three yards on a line buck and then another Herber pass, this time to Monnett, who lateraled to Hutson, made it first down on the 14 yard line. Two more passes from Herber to Monnett and Herber to Hutson gave the Packers their second touchdown of the period. Ernie Smith again added the extra point to give the Packers a 17 to 0 lead at the half.

The Packers really ran wild in the third period when they scored three touchdowns. Clark Hinkle ran the opening kickoff back 40 yards to the Dodger 23 yard line. Bobby Monnett passed to Joe Law, who carried the ball to the Brooklyn 10 yard line. Hinkle shot off right tackle for the touchdown. Monnett added the extra point from placement.

Laws intercepted a Kercheval pass and the Packers again started to go places. Monnett picked up 15 off left tackle to put the ball on the Dodger 6 yard line and then a pass from Monnett to Laws gave the Packers another touchdown. Monnett converted, and the Packers led, 31 to 0.

The crowd which was the largest pro football gathering at Ebbets field in six years, saw the Packers give a final display of power, near the close of the third quarter when Monnett intercepted a pass from Bobby Wilson, and lugged the ball to the Dodger 25 yard line. A pass, Monnett to Laws, gave the Green Bay team the ball on the 14 yard line and Monnett shot another aerial to Wayland Becker for the final Packer touchdown. Monnett place kicked Green Bay's final point.

PRO GOLF STARS OPEN PLAY FOR U. S. TITLE TODAY

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 15.—The national professional tournament, main event of golf's bread and butter league and generally considered the most wearing competitive test in the game, will open tomorrow morning on the No. 2 course of the Pinehurst Country club with the first 18 holes of the 36 hole qualifying round. The medal play examination will be completed with another 18 holes on Tuesday, the low 64 scorers for the two days becoming eligible for the match play bracket, which will open Wednesday.

Johnny Revolta of Chicago's Evanston club, the curly haired, jutting jawed Italian boy who fought his way to last year's championship, has been on the premises since Friday ready to defend his title against a field of 117 of the most talented paid hands in the business. John is exempt from the medal play qualifying rounds, but, following a custom of former champions, will play the 36 holes, regardless. From Wednesday morning on, however, Revolta will be on his own, with full knowledge that the 63 remaining players are all not only out to beat him but quite capable of doing it.

Chicagoans Seek Title.

Revolta is not the only Chicagoan ready to go after this biggest of all-big American championships. Ten other members of the Illinois section, including Tom Armour of Medinah, runner-up to Revolta last year, are present. The others are Horton Smith of Oak Park, Harry Cooper of Glen Oak, Dick Metz of the Mill Road Farm course, Frank Walsh of Bryn Mawr, Abe Espinosa of Evergreen, Ky Laffoon of Northmoor, Jim Foulis of Ruth Lake, Eddie Williams of River Forest, and Harold Beer of Oak Park.

Pitted against these will be four other former champions, notably Walter Hagen, who once exercised an almost permanent monopoly on the title, winning it five times, four of them consecutively; Gene Sarazen, three time champion, who has just returned from a profitable tour of the antipodes; Leo Diegel, twice a winner, and small, able Paul Runyan, champion in 1934.

The original field of 121 has been reduced to 117 by one death and four withdrawals. Francis Schwartz of St. Louis, who led the country in the

Detroit Is Undefeated in Four Starts.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 15.—(AP)—For the second time in two nights the champion Detroit Red Wings and the Montreal Maroons, leaders of their divisions in the National Hocky league a year ago, battled tonight to a 2 to 2 overtime tie.

The Red Wings, leading the American division and undefeated in their first four starts, took the lead in the first period on Herbie Lewis' short shot past the veteran Alex Connell, only to see Earl Robinson knot the count after 5:49 of the second period.

Larry Aurie, the other wing on the Red Wings' first line, put Detroit ahead for a second time by snaring a loose puck in front of the Maroon goal, feinting Connell and lifting a shot into an upper corner of the nets.

Jimmy Ward scored the final tying goal after 2:17 of the third period, a hard drive past Normie Smith after picking up a rolling pass.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

A free-for-all fight among practically all members of the Chicago Blackhawks and the Toronto Maple Leafs, in the last minute of an overtime 1 to 1 hocky game at the Stadium last night, supplied much more excitement than the game itself produced at any stage.

The combatants fought for five minutes before ushers got on the scene. The players then continued to fight for seven minutes after inviting the ushers into the mêlée. The Stadium is without police protection at all events because of a quarrel between the building management and the city police department over complimentary tickets. The riot, said to be the most violent in the 10 year history of major league hocky in Chicago, started within seconds of the end of the overtime period, which itself was tying a lot of records for placidity.

March and Metz Start It.

Mush March of the Hawks and Nick Metz of the Leafs got the brawl started when they went to it directly in front of the visitors' bench. While they were exchanging blows Red Horner, known as hocky's foremost bully, who was on the bench, reached over the rail with his stick and slashed March over the left eye, a wound which later required two stitches. Two stitches also were required to close a cut in his chin. This act brought up the whole Hawk cast, led by Paul Thompson, who has had a feud with Horner for a long time.

Thompson and Horner tried to fight a duel, but by this time everybody was swinging wildly, hitting everybody and anything in range.

Jackson Menaces Spectators.

Harvey Jackson, Leaf star, suddenly lost his head as spectators surged forward, and began swinging his stick at the customers. Earl Seibert halted this frenzied behavior by taking a sock which bowled over Jackson, possibly preventing the riot from spreading throughout the Stadium, in which there were 14,500 spectators.

In the absence of police the ushers made their march, but soon were thrown back by the upholstered athletes.

Andy Frain, boss of the ushers who sought to take charge of the situation in the absence of police, was clipped twice on the chin. Manager Clem Loughlin of the Hawks biffed an usher who sought to hold him.

Just as it appeared the brawl had spent its force March and Metz again went to it. Then Thompson and Horner resumed slugging. Not to be outdone by the others, Jackson and Seibert resumed their bout.

Players Go to Hospital.

Players other than March got treatment in the hospital after the game, among them Frank Finnigan, who had two stitches taken over his right eye. He said a spectator clouted him. Before the riot the game had seen two other unusual actions based on behavior. In the first period Earl Seibert was given a ten minute penalty for "misconduct" on cussing

St. Teresa [Decatur], 57; St. James [Springfield], 0.
St. Patrick, 62; St. Michael, 6.

Leo yesterday won the east section championship in the Catholic High School Football league race for the third consecutive year, and will meet Fenwick of Oak Park, west section title holder, for the league championship next Sunday.

In scoring its sixth consecutive victory Leo triumphed over St. Rita, 26 to 7, before 6,000 spectators. Fenwick captured the west section title last week, but finished its schedule yesterday undefeated in seven games, adding St. Philip to its list of victims by winning, 39 to 7.

To Play for Charity.

The winner of the Catholic league title will meet the City league champion at Soldiers' field on Nov. 28. The game, which will be the fourth annual, will be sponsored by Mayor Edward Kelly to provide clothing for 65,000 poor children. Tickets for this game are on sale at all Catholic and public schools, and at 33 North La Salle street.

Galvin Leads Attack.

Galvin was the leader of the Leo attack against St. Rita, scoring two touchdowns. In the first quarter he skirted around his own left end from the 14 yard line. In the third period he scored again when he caught a 20 yard pass thrown by Mackey.

The Fenwick backfield, led by Larry Ryan, who made two touchdowns, scored in each quarter.

Clare Raynor scored seven touchdowns to lead St. Patrick to a 62 to 6 victory over St. Michael.

Boston Shamrocks Beat New York Yankees, 12-7

New York, Nov. 15.—(AP)—The Boston Shamrocks of the American Professional Football league beat the New York Yankees, 12 to 7, today before a crowd of 16,000. The breaks of the game, coupled with a good deal of fumbling by the Yankees, gave the Shamrocks the game in spite of a record of 22 first downs by the New Yorkers to 3 for the visitors. A Yankee powerhouse attack in the last 5 minutes of play failed of its objective by inches.

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Notre Dame again has carried New York by the usual Democratic majority. . . . J. Shamus O'Shaughnessy, celebrated subway alumnus, is even claiming Maine and Vermont. The 80,000 who jammed into Yankee stadium yesterday to watch the Irish whip the Army for the 16th time in their 23 year old series, made up the largest crowd that has seen a football game this season. . . . There were enough kibitzers perched atop apartment buildings surrounding the stadium to make up an average attendance at Stagg field. . . . Even as far away as the new courthouse on the grand concourse, two blocks from the field, the roofs were black with people. . . . Lou Gehrig, who had a seat near the press section, said that many of these long range fans undoubtedly thought the Yankees were playing the Giants.

The groundskeeper at the stadium played a mean trick on the subway alumni. . . . As usual, they rushed onto the field at the end of hostilities to carry away pieces of the goal posts for souvenirs, but in five seconds after the final gun the posts had disappeared. . . . The magic was performed by four young men who jerked four chains and—presto—the posts were buried in coffin-like boxes in the ground. . . . It happened so quickly few knew they were gone. Cotter pins hold the cross bar to the uprights and chains release the bar, which slides into a trench in the ground. . . . Then the posts are dropped into grooves with the upper half folded over. . . . The lid closes on the trench and that's all there is.

In the opinion of this department the quick thinking of Andy Puplis turned what started out to be a rout of the Irish into a brilliant victory. . . . The Army came onto the gridiron with the fire and dash of a race horse that has just had a shot of heroin. . . . They marched straight up the field after receiving the kickoff 10 and 12 yards at a crack until they had reached Notre Dame's 6 yard line. . . . Cadet Craig then shot a fast pass that would have landed in Cadet Stromberg's arms for a touchdown had it not been for the alertness of Puplis, who grabbed the ball off Stromberg's finger tips and stood perfectly motionless in the end zone. . . . The natural impulse when you suddenly find yourself in possession of the ball is to run with it. . . . Had Puplis run and been downed after lugging it over the line, Notre Dame would have been in a desperate hole. . . . But because he remained motionless, the play became a touchback, the impetus having come from the Army, and Notre Dame got the ball on its own 20 yard line. . . . The officiating was high class. . . . This is understandable when you consider that Jim Masker, John Schommer, Ernie Vick, and Fred Young, all from the Big Ten, had charge of the game. . . . They don't come any better. . . . Followers of the fighting Irish were bewildered by the names of the players—O'Reilly, O'Neill, Sweeney, McCarthy, McCormick, Murphy, et al. . . . They were convinced this still was Notre Dame, however, when Wojeihovski and Kopczak got into the game.

Cadet Charles Meyer, whose 55 yard return of a punt gave Army its only touchdown, was born at West Point in 1913, the year the Notre Dame-Army series began. . . . His father is a colonel. . . . Nobody can accuse Elmer Layden of trying to run up a score on the Cadets. . . . He rushed so many substitutes into the Notre Dame lineup after the third touchdown that the trafic between the bench and the field was heavier than at Times square. . . . The Notre Dame bandmen, wearing shamrocks on top of their white hats, got a big hand between halves when they played "The Wearing of the Green." . . . The Irish athletes wore green jerseys. . . . Lieut. Gar Davidson, Army coach, said Notre Dame yesterday was a much better team than his, but Layden didn't go that far. . . . "A fumble and an intercepted pass gave us two of our three scoring opportunities. Army had tough luck," he stated.

Ten Years Ago Today—A crowd of 8,000 was expected to watch professional ice hocky make its debut when the Chicago Blackhawks meet the Toronto Maple Leafs at the Coliseum. . . . C. C. Pyle's professional tennis troupe arrived in Chicago to play a series of matches. . . .

Getting to the contest itself, it may be pointed out that it was the third tie for the Hawks in four games played this year.

March scored for the Hawks on a pass from Gottselig in 3:30 of the first period, and the Leafs effected the tie in 14:07 of the same period on a goal by Bob Davidson, assisted by Horner.

The first score of the game was one of skill and grace. Gottselig took the puck over the blue line in middle ice and passed to March who had gone ahead and to Gottselig's right. March picked up the puck and carried it in a big arc to his left. When he had passed Goalie Hainsworth's toes he rammed home the puck. He then fell on his tummy and even his slide to the boards was graceful.

Seibert Goes Out.

The Hawks maintained their 1 to 0 advantage until a couple of penalties put them in the hole in the fourteenth minute. Seibert, who scored both of the Hawk goals against the Leafs in Toronto Saturday night, was chased for calling Referee McCurry something besides his preferred name, which is Duke. Under the rules governing this situation a substitute was allowed.

A few seconds later McCurry chased Burke for checking into the boards.

This second jailing was the signal for the Leafs to gang on Goalie Karakas. After a spasm of swinging and kicking the red light was turned on, signifying a tying goal—time 14:07.

The Hawks protested the puck had been kicked in. McCurry was being given a sendoff when he bit his whistle in two and retired to his basement dressing room to get another, thus missing most of the demonstration. The goal was credited to Davidson and Horner was given an assist.

HOLD PING-PONG MEET.

Play in the B'nai B'rith Youth Organization ping-pong tournament will start next Sunday. Singles and doubles competition will be held.

Silvers Boxes Harry Thomas at Marigold

The clever 178 pound boxer demonstrated considerable ability to halt the comeback march of Leo Lomski by beating the old Aberdeen Assassin at Marigold July 20. He floored Lomski for an eight count in the first round.

Thomas, who is employed as an engineer by the Southern Pacific railroad, with a run from Los Angeles to Bakersfield, Cal., is a versatile gent. In addition to boxing with more than average success, the hard hitting Minnesotan formerly was a catcher with the Los Angeles Angels, played football at Trinity college, Morningside, Ia., and was employed as a cowpuncher at a ranch near Intake, Mont.

Nick Peters, San Antonio, Tex., lightweight, will be in quest of his eleventh straight triumph in the five round semi-final against Pedro Rivera. Harvey Mortenson, heavyweight night watchman, will make his first start in a comeback against Bernie Bowman in one of three matches at four rounds. Billy Marquart, Winnipeg, Man., who won the Canadian Olympic featherweight championship, will make his first professional start in his Chicago debut against Babe La Varra. Phil Rosenberg, hard hitting west side welterweight, is paired with Al Latie. A wrestling exhibition also is scheduled.

Bill Weidner, California claimant of the light heavyweight wrestling title, will meet José Manuel in Joe Coffey's main event tonight at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. The match is booked for one fall with a 60 minute time limit. Supplementary bouts at 30 minutes involve Jack Conley and Red Vagnonne, Ernie Peterson, and Jack Kogut, Andy Chikos and Jerry Meeker, and Joe Buffalo and Frank Buresch.

Bob Wiley, Englewood bantamweight, and Dave Schimmel, Franklin park, will clash in a feature contest in the amateur show tonight at the Johnny Coulon club, 1154 East 63d street. Sonny Ballard is paired with Gene Johnson at 135 pounds, and Hyman Lander will meet Lenny Swartz at 140. . . . Mike Adler, 1935 Catholic Youth organization heavyweight title holder, and Tony Musto, Blue Island, have been matched for five rounds in the third annual amateur show sponsored by the Duncan Y. M. C. A., 1515 Monroe street, Wednesday.

SORENSON WINS 30 LAP MIDGET AUTO FEATURE

Shorty Sorensen, 225 pound driver, won the 30 lap feature event in the midget races at the 124th Field Artillery armory last night, leading his nearest competitor, Jimmy Snyder, present indoor champion, by a comfortable margin. In was his ninth victory at the armory since the opening of the season. Third place went to Tony Willman after Harry MacQuinn went out in the 18th lap when he struck a track marker. Results:

FIRST RACE, 12 LAPS—Won by Shorty Sorensen; Emil Andres, second; Harry MacQuinn, third. Time, 2:45.

SCHWABENS AND OLYMPIAS WIN IN TRIBUNE SOCCER

Mooseheart Takes Junior Championship.

The Olympias defeated the Vikings, 4 to 1, at Olympia stadium and the Schwabens triumphed over the Swedish-Americans, 4 to 2, at Winnemac park in yesterday's class A Chicago semi-finals of the Tribune soccer tournament. The winners joined two Milwaukee teams, the Croatian Eagles and the Wacker Deltas, in the interstate semi-finals which are to be played next Sunday. The pairings will be determined in a draw tomorrow evening.

Swedes and Germans Win.

The Swedish-American Reserves and the German-American Reserves reached the class B Chicago final by victories in yesterday's games. The Swedes beat the Oak Park Acorn B team, 3 to 0, at 7800 Madison street, and the Germans whipped the Kicker Reserves, 1 to 0, at Elston and Kedzie avenues.

Frechette's goal after ten minutes of play in the second period gave Mooseheart its championship.

The Olympias took a 2 to 0 lead in the first half of their game with the Vikings when Tomecek scored after 20 minutes of play and Kotovsky added a goal a few minutes later. The Olympias increased this advantage to 4 to 0 on goals by Keberle and Tomecek. The Vikings then rallied to the attack and kept their opponents on the defensive during the remainder of the game. However, their only goal was made by Dalquist ten minutes before the finish.

The Schwabens were quick to take the lead in their encounter with the Swedish-Americans, Absil scoring twice before his opponents were able to hit their stride. Shortly before the end of the period Johnson made a goal for the Swedes. Wundrlich made it 3 to 1 for the Schwabens soon after the second half began. Then Rasmussen worked in close to beat Metz, bringing it to 3 to 2. Then Absil finished his day's work by booting one past Holmes.

Chicagoland's Rabbits Show NoFeverTrace

BY BOB BECKER.

While pheasant hunting during the last few days we have watched the behavior of every rabbit that has been disturbed in the cover, but we didn't see a sluggish or dopey cottontail, one that appeared to be infected with tularemia, the rabbit fever transmitted to humans under certain circumstances. There is no doubit some of the rabbits in Chicagoland have tularemia. But on our hunts we saw none that gave indications of having this disease. Most of the cottontails we saw stepped on the gas when they were startled by the hunting party and went away on the double quick—a good indication there was nothing wrong with them.

Judging from the number of cottontails that we disturbed while hunting pheasants the crop of these animals is a large one this season, irrespective of tularemia. The spaniels that worked ahead of the hunting parties we were in kicked them out of cornfields, weed thickets, and brush while the search was on for ringnecks.

Pheasant Season Closed.

From now on northern Illinois upland game hunters must be content with rabbit hunting because the pheasant season closed last night. There is practically no quail hunting close to Chicago and the season on Hungarian partridges is closed. Thus the upland game shooting resolves itself into the sport of hunting cottontails in this area.

If there had been an open season on Hungarian partridges it would have been no trouble to bag a fine bunch of them since two good coveys were put up by the dogs with our party. Shortly after sunrise we had a stand at the corner of a cornfield in the hope that a ringneck would come whizzing out of the field where several of the boys were hiking. That didn't happen in this particular field. But the dogs flushed about 16 Hungarian partridges. They came in two waves. Both swung not 30 or 40 feet from us. It would have been easy for any one to drop several of these.

No Gun Standardization.

Apparently there is no standardization in guns or loads for pheasant hunting in the central states. We noticed that hunters were shooting just about everything from 12 gauge, extra long range shells loaded with almost a teacup full of powder, and a tremendous amount of No. 4 or 5 shot, to 20 gauge light loads.

WILDCATS SEEK NATIONAL TITLE IN IRISH CONTEST

56,000 Are Likely to See Battle Saturday.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Northwestern has completed its Western conference schedule undefeated. Notre Dame, although beaten by Pittsburgh and Navy, soundly trounced Army Saturday and previously had won from Ohio State.

Last year Northwestern was the only team which defeated Notre Dame. Now Notre Dame is the only eleven which has a chance to win from the Wildcats. All of which points emphatically to the Northwestern-Notre Dame battle at South Bend this week which undoubtedly will be decided before a capacity crowd of 56,000.

Northwestern has played consistently all season. Saturday at Michigan, the Wildcats founded their 9 to 0 victory on a defense which never faltered except in the fourth period when the Wolverines might have tied the score by a place kick which, however, fell short. Northwestern was superior to Michigan in every department of play, even in the number of fumbles committed. But, quite likely, Coach Lynn Waldorf is better pleased with this game preparatory to the Notre Dame engagement than if his boys had run up four or five touchdowns.

Notre Dame Erratic.

Notre Dame has played in and out, now hot, now cold, this season. At Pittsburgh, where the Irish were overwhelmed 26 to 0, Notre Dame was held for 44 minutes without a first down or completion of a pass. Against Navy, which won, 3 to 0, Notre Dame, by statistical measurement, was stronger, but couldn't score.

Notre Dame rallied after the Pitt debacle to fight its way to a 7 to 2 victory over Ohio State and now has turned in its best game of the year, checking Army's attack completely for three periods and playing accurate, alert offensive football to score three touchdowns.

Titles Awarded Saturday.

Championships were determined in several sections last Saturday. Unfinished business will be completed this week or within ten days.

Marquette university, undefeated, won its seventh consecutive victory at the expense of Mississippi, 33 to 0.

Marquette now plays Duquesne, conqueror of Pittsburgh, and winner from Carnegie Tech, 13 to 0, last Saturday. If victorious, Marquette should be considered as opponent in the Rose Bowl game, a position sought by Fordham and Pittsburgh, in the east; Alabama and Louisiana State, in the south; Texas Christian, in the southwest, and Duke university, champion of the southern conference by virtue of Saturday's 27 to 7 victory over North Carolina.

Washington or Washington State, which meet on Thanksgiving day for the Pacific coast championship, probably will be named to represent the west. Washington is undefeated leader, and a defeat Saturday would only produce a tie with the Cougars. The Huskies trampled Southern California last Saturday, 12 to 0, while Washington State ran over California [Los Angeles], 32 to 7.

Pitt Asserts Line Attack.

Pittsburgh, beaten by Duquesne and tied by Fordham, crushed Nebraska Saturady, 19 to 6, to assert once more its potent line attack. Nebraska, perennial Big Six title holder, previously had lost to Minnesota, 7 to 0, on Andy Uram's last minute return of a kick.

The northwest still insists that the Gophers are the outstanding team of the nation despite loss to Northwestern. To the 52 to 0 slaughter of Iowa the Gophers now have added a 47 to 0 conquest of the University of [illegible].

Seven teams have a chance to share championship honors in the Western conference. All have now won three games and lost one. Either Purdue or Indiana will be eliminated from this consolation race Saturday at Lafayette. Saturday Purdue whipped Iowa, 13 to 0, while Indiana beat Chicago, 20 to 7.

Buckeyes Play Michigan.

Ohio State, beaten in the conference by Northwestern, 14 to 13, Saturday won from Illinois, 13 to 0. The Buckeyes meet Michigan this week in the finale and probably will give the Wolverines their fifth Big Ten licking and the seventh of the campaign.

Minnesota can tie for second place by winning from Wisconsin. The Badgers won their second game of the year from Cincinnati, 27 to 6, and while their linemen can not be expected to stop the Gopher attack, passes may enliven the battle as they did when Wisconsin was losing to Northwestern, 26 to 18.

Iowa now has completed its conference schedule with nothing better to show than a scoreless tie with Illinois. The Hawkeyes play Temple at Philadelphia Saturday. Illinois and Chicago, each with a conference victory, meet Saturday for the leadership of the second division in the final standings.

Outstanding thriller of last Saturday's play was Yale's 26 to 23 victory over Princeton.

Alabama Hard Pressed.

Alabama, tied only by Tennessee, was hard pressed to whip Georgia Tech, 20 to 16, and now will conclude its season on Nov. 26 against Vanderbilt.

Texas Aggies, winner over Utah for its third victory in eight days, still may challenge for the southwest title.

Larbre Broye Wins Prix Montgomery at Auteuil

PARIS, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Larbre Broye, owned by Alberto Duggan, today won the rich Prix Montgomery at Auteuil, finishing one and one-half lengths in front of Count Derivaud's Dugreygall in the 5,500 meter race. A. Hoffman's Rayrame was third. The race had a purse of 250,000 francs [about $11,800] and the winner paid 79 to 10 in the betting.

Washington U. (St. Louis) to Play Army Next Year

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 15.—(AP)—The Washington university [St. Louis] football team will meet Army next Oct. 23 at West Point, N. Y., Coach Jimmy Conzelman said today.

Bears' Power, Passes Beat Boston, 26-0

gain, Riley Smith punting out of bounds at midfield. From the Boston 48 yard line, the Bears launched a drive which netted their second touchdown. With Feathers, Nagurski, and Ronzani battering the Redskins' line, Chicago drove out three successive first downs, the third coming on the Boston 4 yard line. Ronanzi made a yard and then Nagurski blasted over the goal line behind his left guard, Manders again kicked the extra point, and the Bears led 17 to 0.

Intercepted Pass Paves Way.

Early in the fourth period, another pass interception paved the way for the Bears' third touchdown. Molesworth again plucked an Ed Smith pass out of the air near his own 30 yard line, and carried the ball back 40 yards to the Boston 31 yard line. Two rushes dropped five yards, but on third down Manders took a behind the line toss from Brumbaugh, rounded the Boston right end behind perfect interference and lumbered 36 yards for a touchdown, crossing the line untouched. Manders failed to make the extra point when Brumbaugh bobbled the pass from center, and the Redskins closed in before Jack could get a clean kick at the ball. The Bears led 23 to 0.

The offensive surge of the Bears showed no sign of diminishing, and the next time they got the ball, they drove down on runs by Sisk and Corbett and a Corbett to Pollock pass to the Boston 22 yard line. There the Redskins strengthened to hold for three downs, and Manders place kicked his second field goal from the 30 yard line, putting the Bears' total at 26 points.

LIONS CRUSH GIANTS, 38-0

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 15.—(AP)—The Detroit Lions rode roughshod over the New York Giants in a National Professional league football game here today, winning 38 to 0. It was the worst defeat in the history of the Giants.

Taking advantage of Giants' fumbles, runs through the New York line and around its ends and completing most of the few passes attempted, the Lions showed 18,000 fans much of the power which brought them a league championship in 1935.

Giants a Meek Lot.

The Giants exhibited none of their vaunted offensive during the first three quarters. Their drive in the fourth quarter, from their own five yard line to the Lions' 10, was stopped when Ritchhart, Lion center, intercepted a pass from Leemans on his own eight yard line and galloped 92 yards for a touchdown.

Clark and Caddel each got two touchdowns. Clark drop kicked three points after touchdown, and drop kicked a field goal in the second period from the 25 yard line. Presnell place kicked two other extra points.

Until the last period the Giants had gained only 44 yards by both passing and rushing and never threatened the Lion goal.

CHICAGO GUNNERS PLAY 6 TO 6 TIE WITH LOUISVILLE

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 15.—(AP)—The Louisville Tanks, semi-pro football team, held the Chicago Gunners to a 6 to 6 tie today before 4,000 grid fans at Parkway field. Both teams scored in the third quarter on intercepted passes. The Gunners are unbeaten and until today's game unscored on for the season.

Louisville scored first when Wally Cruice, former Northwestern player, hurled a pass from his 19 yard line that was intercepted by Murl Gore, Tank guard. A few minutes later Eddie Crum, standing in midfield, attempted a lateral, but Wally Stanul intercepted and raced 35 yards for the score.

Our Lady of Grace Defeats Orioles, 39 to 0

St. Mary's Is Beaten, 19 to 0, by Santa Clara

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 15.—(AP)—University of Santa Clara maintained an undefeated, untied football record today by defeating its oldest rival, St. Mary's college, 19 to 0. The annual classic, attracting a capacity crowd of 60,000, saw Santa Clara score twice in the opening period on passes and chalk up a third touchdown in the third quarter on a recovered blocked punt.

It was Santa Clara's first victory over St. Mary's since 1923.

Cards Score 14-6 Victory Over Pirates bounds on Pittsburgh's one yard line.

John Gildea, the old St. Bonaventure star, was substituted hurriedly for Silvio Zaninelli, former Duquesne full back, to kick out. His punt was hurried and carried only to the 20 yard line. Grosvenor went inside left tackle for a yard, Nichelini reversed outside right tackle for eight yards and Dowell butted through center for two, bringing the ball to the nine yard line where it was first down.

Grosvenor swung wide around the Pirates' left end, and Ed Skoronski, side stepped Matesic and raced for the corner of the field. His foot struck the goal line, inches in from the sidelines just as he was knocked out of bounds by Karcis. Kellogg and Pangle were substituted for Mikulak and Dowell and Kellogg kicked the extra point giving the Cardinals a 7 to 0 lead.

Cards Score on Pass.

This lead prevailed until midway in the second period, when shortly after Smith had missed an attempted field goal from the 30 yard line Blazine intercepted Matesic's short flat pass to Heller and returned it 8 yards to the Pirates' 38 yard line.

On first down, Vaughan faded back to the right and Smith went straight down the field on the left. Smith got behind Matesic and made a sensational catch of Vaughan's high pass over his shoulder on the 5 yard line, continuing on for a touchdown. Kellogg kicked the extra point again and the Cardinals led by 14 points.

The Pirates opened up with passes after Matesic had returned the kickoff 19 yards to the 31 yard line. Matesic's first attempt was a short toss into the flat at the left where Heller took it, slipped out of Wilson's grasp and went 21 yards to the Cardinals' 48 yard line, where Kellogg dropped him.

Another pass, Matesic to Sortet, failed to gain, but on third down Matesic fired a long one down into the corner of the field toward the visiting dugout where Heller had gotten behind Volok and Pangle. Heller made a spectacular running catch on the 25 yard line, continuing on for the touchdown. Volok and Deskin blocked Kabasic's attempted placekick for extra point.

GERMANY, ITALY TIE IN SOCCER, 2-2; 110,000 ATTEND

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Germany and Italy played a 2 to 2 tie today in a soccer game scheduled to cement the nations' friendship.

A crowd of 110,000 packed the Olympic stadium and a nation-wide radio hookup carried the game to listeners in other parts of the country. All other sport throughout Germany was canceled for the day as 67 special trains carried fans to Berlin.

EAGLES BEATEN BY LOS ANGELES BULLDOGS, 10 TO 7

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 15.—(AP)—The Los Angeles Bulldogs defeated the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Professional Football league here today, 10 to 7, when Full Back Gordon Gore kicked a 44 yard field goal in the fourth quarter.

Outrushing the visitors 182 yards to 55, the Bulldogs, probationary members of the league, stopped the Eagles' running attack cold.

Hornsby Will Be Kept as Browns' Boss

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Manager Rogers Hornsby is tops with the new owners of the St. Louis Browns.

Donald Barnes and Bill Dewitt, president and vice president of the new organization which has acquired the baseball club, came out of a long conference with Hornsby today and announced:

"We intend to give Hornsby our support 100 per cent."

Hornsby will sign a new contract as soon as the Barnes syndicate completes its purchase contract with the Phil Ball estate. Under new terms, Hornsby will relinquish his right to 25 per cent of the club's profits and receive a salary boost.

In Complete Charge.

"Hornsby will have complete charge of the Browns on the field and whatever disciplinary measures he deems necessary to conduct and keep the team at its best morale and playing strength will receive whole hearted approval by us," said Barnes.

Hornsby said he would sign a playing-manager contract, but if he found he was "not up to major league standards," he would bench himself to make way for an active player.

"We've gone over the entire playing personnel of the team," Dewitt said, "and we have an understanding of the merits and demerits of all the players. We've laid some plans for 1937, but, of course, it's too early to divulge them at this time."

May Develop Farms.

Hornsby brightened: "I'm not predicting any overnight pennants, but I do expect much improvement. We're looking beyond 1937."

Both Barnes and Dewitt have in mind the development of a farm system, patterned after that of the Cardinals. The San Antonio team in the Texas league is now the Browns' sole minor league farm.

Louis to Sign with Jacobs for Braddock Bout

Hot Springs, Ark., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Julian Black, co-manager of Joe Louis, said tonight he will leave Tuesday for New Orleans to sign articles with Mike Jacobs, New York promoter, for a 12 round exhibition between the Brown Bomber and Heavyweight Champion Jim Braddock, provided a necessary guarantee is posted before that date.

2 GRID PLAYERS HELD FOR TOSSING BRICK AT WINDOW

Two football players were arrested early today after they allegedly attempted to throw a brick through a window of the 606 South Wabash avenue night club. They identified themselves as Bill McWilliams, 24 years old, 550 Surf street, member of the Chicago Cardinals team, and Gordon McNaughton, 26, 3505 Sheffield avenue, member of a Milwaukee professional football team.

Policemen Louis Loula and Richard O'Leary of the South State street station said the two players had been put out of the club and that they hurled a brick at the club window, but missed.

Brother Kills Athlete in Hunting Accident

Janesville, Wis., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Norman Crosby, 21, former Milton [Wis.] High school football and basketball star, died in a hospital today of wounds received in a hunting accident. Crosby and his brother, Leon, were poking with their weapons at a squirrel they had treed when Leon's shotgun discharged accidentally. The charge struck Norman near the heart.

sectional trials with a 131, died shortly after this feat. His place will be taken by Coleman Morse, also of St. Louis. Al Watrous, a semi-finalist last year, was unable to appear because of an attack of influenza. Charley Lacey, the British born New Yorker, sailed for England three weeks ago. Al Espinosa has gone to his winter base at Mexico City, and Olin Dutra, 1932 champion, is doing so well at his Los Angeles club that he decided to pass up the long trip.

The log of the PGA tournament since it first set sail in 1916 is rich with golfing feats such as no other event boasts. It is the only major show in which professionals meet at match play, and the double round of Wednesday, when two 18 hole battles will be waged, is expected to add to the record of thrillers. In last year's meet at Oklahoma City the first two rounds saw several prominent fatalities, including such names as Walter Hagen, Billy Burke, Henry Picard, Harry Cooper, Ray Mangrum, and Victor Ghezzi.

New Greens Installed.

The 1936 tournament not only brings the strongest field in its history to the firing line but also brings the tourney itself to one of the shrines of American golf. Thirty-nine year old Pinehurst, laid among the towering pines of the Carolina sandhills, has been a mecca for professionals since its inception, but never until now have they been able to give their favorite play on its stages because of sand putting surfaces. These were replaced by grass greens last year, and the course was in perfect condition today, barring frisky gusts of wind. These, however, were unable to prevent Clarence Hackney, Atlantic City veteran, from batting out a 68, four under par, while Leo Diegel followed with a 69.

Football Player Is Shot While Waiting on Sideline

Covington, Ky., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Vernon Cummins, 27, of Newport, Ky., 245 pound tackle on an amateur football team, was shot in the chest today as he stood along the sidelines, waiting to be sent into a game. At a hospital his condition was said to be not serious. Police said they believed Cummins was shot with a small caliber bullet fired by one of two boys observed carrying rifles near the playing field.

● Your first glance at one of these Half-Ton Internationals with streamline panel body will register one thought: beauty. In the long, flowing lines and smoothly curving surface, modern truck design is at its best. But better still, beneath those good looks is all-truck construction that means rugged stamina, and power to spare, in every working part.

International's thirty-five years of building trucks, free from compromise with passenger-car construction, has produced a line that owners praise for economy, and drivers cheer for dependability.

The Half-Ton Model C-1 chassis may be equipped with any body style on two wheelbase lengths—113-inch and 125-inch.

Call on us for complete information about this and the larger Internationals.

You can have LONG-WHEELBASE CAPACITY, too, in this Half-Ton Truck

Knowing that many users of light-delivery trucks want to carry bigger loads in a half-ton truck, International builds the Model C-1 also in 125-inch wheelbase. This makes possible a substantial increase in the payload capacity of this unit and adds to the earning power of the truck and the driver-salesman.

In addition to the panel body, the Model C-1 can be equipped with All-Steel Pick-Up Bodies, Canopy-Top Bodies, Station Wagons, and other adaptations mounted on the same sturdy chassis.

DEMAND EXPANDS FOR HIGH GRADE BONDS LAST WEEK

Federal Liens Are Active and Set New Highs.

New York, Nov. 15.—(AP)—An active demand for United States government and other high grade issues provided the outstanding development of last week's five-day bond market.

This, coupled with the hearty reception accorded $63,579,509 in new bond offerings, demonstrated the preponderance of opinion looking toward a continuation of easy money rates. New offerings totaled only $6,534,520 the week before.

Federal Bonds Unusually Active.

Trading was uncommonly active in the federal section where virtually all issues moved to record high prices. Daily turnover in this quarter ranged between roundly $2,000,000 and $5,000,000, face value, compared with volume of less than $1,000,000 for most sessions through the summer and early fall.

Low yield domestic corporate bonds also enjoyed popularity. Buying of industrials and utilities, while less spectacular, was a highlight of the period. A number of manufacturing company liens went to 1936 peaks.

Railroad Issues Weaken.

Rails bogged down slightly, more from a lack of support than a deluge of offerings. Rock Island General 4s, St. Paul 5s, Alleghany Stamped 5s, Frisco 4½s, and Baltimore & Ohio 4½s sold off moderately.

Foreign loans moved forward on increased activity with South Americans attracting bids. Many of these bonds made highs for the year.

The current week will witness a sharp increase in new flotations, some observers estimating the total gross value amount at close to $100,000,000.

WORLD'S WHEAT FIGURES FAVOR GRAIN GROWERS

Surplus Reduced by Short Harvests.

From a producer's standpoint the world wheat situation is now one of the strongest in recent years, the result largely of small harvests in the four principal growing countries—the United States, Canada, Argentina and Australia—in the last four years. Supplies have been steadily whittled down as consumptive requirements necessitated dipping into surplus stocks.

The world carryover at the start of the new crop season, July 1, last, amounted to only 747,000,000 bushels, compared with 920,000,000 a year earlier and 1,167,000,000 on July 1, 1934, according to department of agriculture figures. The bureau recently estimated that the total available for consumption during the 1936-'37 season, ending July 1, 1937, is 4,209,000,000 bushels.

Wheat Stock Abnormally Low.

At the start of the previous season in 1935 available supplies were 4,503,000,000 bushels. Current stocks are said to be the smallest since 1926-'27.

While the outlook is highly favorable, it has not been translated into higher prices recently. Foreign prices have declined because of the imminence of harvesting operations in the southern hemisphere, which will increase pressure on the markets as wheat is exported to consumers.

Argentina's crop is estimated at 245 million bushels, compared with 140 million produced last year. Australia will harvest 140 million bushels, a decline of 17 millions from 1935. Of this total of 385 millions approximately 235 million bushels will be available for export.

May Reduce Canadian Surplus.

World import requirements during the current season are expected to range between 550 and 560 million bushels, compared with 489 million last season. If this estimate is fulfilled, it will require drawing on the Canadian surplus, which some observers believe will be reduced to approximately 40 million bushels by Aug. 1, next, compared with 128 million last August.

Domestically, wheat yields per acre are again expected to be below normal next year, although somewhat better than those realized recently. The department of agriculture, basing its comments on present moisture conditions and normal weather for the balance of the crop year, predicts a winter wheat harvest greater than that of 1936 in the southern great plains or hard red wheat area.

However, the total probably will fall below average for the the last 10 years. In the hard red spring wheat area a serious moisture shortage exists.

Calls Election New Factor in Trade Outlook

Injection of a new factor in the long range outlook for business has resulted from the recent presidential election, an influence whose ramifications cannot be gauged as the events of the coming year unfold, Col. Leonard P. Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust company, comments in his current monthly review on business conditions. This factor, he says, is that people now look to their government as being able to solve their problems, and they insist that it shall solve them.

"Short range implications of the election are more clearly specific," Ayres writes. "The first is that there will be no sharp change from conditions of late 1936 to those of early 1937.

Predicts Recovery Market.

"We are in a recovery movement which promises to continue for many months. It is predominantly a consumers' goods recovery, and in keeping with that characteristic it promises to produce in this month and next the best holiday trade since prosperity years. It is a recovery strongly supported by governmental expenditures, and that condition is likely to be maintained."

Ayres said three sections of business are still operating at levels far below normal, which account for most of the unemployment. These are construction, capital goods, and export trade. Gradual progress is being made in all of them, he said, but it does not appear probable that election results will either retard or accelerate the rate of improvement.

High Costs Retard Building.

"Construction is held back by high costs," the economist continued. "Capital goods production is dependent on new financing by corporations. The volume of new financing depends on the willingness of business leaders to assume new risks in the hope of making greater profits and long range confidence in the future. World conditions largely beyond our control will determine the immediate foreign trade future."

Ayres said railroad equipment makers face a particularly good period for several years, because of the fact that cars in condition for service have been steadily declining, while freight volume has been increasing. Industrial production, he said, is now at levels prevailing in 1930, on a per capita basis.

TRANSPORTATION GROUP TO OPEN MEETING TODAY

A program designed to preserve private enterprise will be urged upon the members of the Transportation Association of America at its annual meeting which will be opened here today, Donald D. Conn, executive vice president, said yesterday. Conn said the aim of the association, claiming a membership of 33,000, was to "preserve private ownership, initiative, and operation in American industry."

Referring to what he said was the "seriousness of the trend throughout the country which encourages 'flank attacks' and socialistic moves which private industry cannot withstand," Conn issued the following statement:

"Regardless of the future policies and attitude of our national administration, the recent election definitly crystalized the forces working for government ownership and has given un-American minorities a new impatus to demand political support, which is designed to weaken the structure and credit of private ownership, particularly in the transportation and utiliy fields."

OFFER HAMILTON MANUFACTURING 5% BONDS TODAY

Public offering of $1,100,000 in first mortgage 5 per cent sinking fund bonds of the Hamilton Manufacturing company, Two Rivers, Wis., will be made today by Sills, Troxell & Minton, Inc., and the Central Republic company.

The bonds mature Sept. 1, 1951, and are priced at 102 and accrued interest. They carry detachable stock purchase warrants entitling the holders to buy one share of either class A preferential participating or common stock for each $100 principal amount of bonds to Oct. 1, 1942, at prices ranging from $10 to $20 a class A share and $15 to $27.50 a share of common.

STOCKS RECEDE AS TRADERS SEE DANGER SIGNS

Selling from Abroad Is Reported.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 15.—Administration threats to impose a curb on foreign speculation in American security markets and a rather widespread feeling in "informed" trading circles that bullishness was becoming a bit top-heavy have combined to put a crimp in Wall street speculative enthusiasm for the time being.

The week-end saw nearly 4 of the 5½ points which the stock "averages" had gained since election day wiped out in a selling movement which had been bearing down on the list more or less persistently since Thursday morning. Losses for the four sessions ran as high as five and six points in some leading issues. Industrial, railroad, and utility groups fared about equally on the reaction.

Selling from Abroad.

Appropriately enough, much of the liquidation was reported to have come from abroad — supposedly from the same foreign sources which are credited with having provided about 25 per cent of the trading done on the New York exchange since election.

The "after election market" reached its peak last Tuesday when the averages soared to 144.44, the highest they have been since June, 1931, and with that exception the highest since April of that year. This represented a rise of 26 points for the first ten months of the year, 13 of them having been made in the pre-election spurt which got under way around the first of September. Incidentally, traders who still find themselves reverting to the "good old days" noted that the year's high, impressive as it looked in comparison with the "deep" depression lows, were still 62 points below the close of 1929—ten weeks after the big crash.

Bright News Continues.

Just how much further readjustment, if any, the market may require to square itself with its new handicaps is a matter of widely varying opinion. The "prosperity parade" of large extra dividend disbursements, wage melons, announced industrial plant expansion plans, and the like continues in as impressive a fashion as ever, and many observers do not see how the market can resist such an insistent urge to resume its forward march at an early date.

Inflation Still a Factor.

Also the inflation factor continues as strongly as ever in spite of protests from high official sources in Washington. Brokers agree that there is little downright bearish sentiment and week-end market letter comment was singularly free of comment calculated to alarm or even to caution. Almost without exception the indices point to a further gain in business activity along the entire front. True, railroad trafic for last week fell in accordance with seasonal dictates, but the decline was less than might have been expected. The steel industry maintained its high operating rate and the automobile shows in Chicago and New York brought out an unusual batch of optimistic predictions.

The week's array of dividend and bonus news was brightened appreciably in the public imagination by the imposing list of "big names," such as Chrysler and General Motors, figuring in it.

DU PONT DIRECTORS EXPECTED TO DECLARE EXTRA DIVIDEND TODAY

New York, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Unless precedent is broken, directors of E. I. du Pont de Nemours company, largest beneficiary of the recent dividend declaration by the General Motors corporation, will pass along to its stockholders the fruits of its huge investment when they meet tomorrow.

It has ben customary for du Pont directors to vote out in the form of an extra disbursement all income received on its 10 million shares of General Motors common stock. The dividend of $1.50 a share voted last Monday by General Motors contributes $15,000,000 to income received by the du Pont company from sources other than actual operations. This is equivalent to $1.36 a share on the average of 11,050,973 shares of du Pont common stock outstanding at the end of September.

The company reported net profits of $62,567,019, or the equivalent of $5.21 a share for the nine months ended Sept. 30, and thus far this year it has paid out only $4.10 a common share in dividends. Should operating profits for the current quarter approximate those for the three months ended Sept. 30, when roughly $14,697,000, or about 92 cents a share, was earned, profits for the final quarter, including the latest General Motors dividend, would run around $2.30 a share.

This would bring total indicated net for the year to approximately $7.50 a share.

UNITED AIR LINES WILL SELL STOCK TO ITS EMPLOYES

W. A. Patterson, president of United Air Lines, yesterday announced a new development in air line employer-employé relationship. He outlined an employés' stock participating plan which will enable the entire personnel of United Air Lines to purchase stock at a price below the market level in an amount totaling more than $500,000.

The board of directors authorized the setting aside of 50,000 shares of the recent issue of United Air Lines Transport corporation stock for purchase by employés on a basis of seniority and salary. This stock may be acquired by every employé on Jan. 4, 1937, at $11 a share, Patterson said.

"Neither the president nor any director who is not an officer of the company is eligible to participate in this plan," he stated. "The management conceived this plan as a method of giving recognition to the work done by every employé in the company, regardless of rank."

PENNSYLVANIA ROAD MAY SPEND 30 MILLION ON ELECTRIFICATION

New York, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The Pennsylvania railroad is preparing to extend its electrified line from Paoli to Harrisburg, it was learned today.

Although it is understood that the board of directors has not given formal approval, plans are being pushed to start the installation next year. The cost of the project, which may include further electrification of the route from Harrisburg to Baltimore, is estimated at $30,000,000 to $40,000,000. Later electrification from Harrisburg to Pittsburgh, 244.6 miles, is under consideration.

The route from Paoli, near Philadelphia, to Harrisburg is 83.9 miles. Harrisburg is an important junction point on the Pennsylvania system. West of Harrisburg to Pittsburgh the grades and high trafic density present characteristics that engineers consider highly suited to electrical operation.

Last year the Pennsylvania completed electrification of the main line from New York to Washington at a cost of more than $100,000,000, increasing the capacity of the route to carry heavy freight and passenger trafic.

Industrial Board Estimates 8,975,000 Now Unemployed

New York, Nov. 15.—The National Industrial conference, a research organization maintained by large industrial corporations and other organizations, reported today unemployed workers in the country numbered 8,975,000 in September, compared with a maximum of 15,939,000 in March, 1933. Employment in all types of enterprise in September was placed at 43,747,000, compared with 34,631,000 in March, 1933.

Billion Gain in National Income Seen

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15.—(AP)—Eyeing a mounting number of dividends and salary increases, commerce department officials said today they may have to revise upward previous estimates that the 1936 national income would total $60,000,000,000.

Officials said this estimate, made several months ago, may be pushed $1,000,000,000 to $2,000,000,000 higher because of increased wages and declared dividends.

In their discussion of national income, officials referred to "income paid out," which is the total of payments to individuals for their economic services such as labor, management or the lending of capital.

Largest Amount Since 1931.

A commerce department report today showed that income paid out totaled $53,587,000,000 last year, the largest since the $61,704,000,000 reported in 1931. It represented 68.1 per cent of the 1929 figure.

Of income paid out last year the greatest portion — $36,057,000,000 — went for compensation to employés. The next largest part was in withdrawals by owners from their businesses. This portion aggregated $8,701,000,000.

Per capita income of employés last year was $1,201, compared with the depression low of $1,097 in 1933 and with $1,466 in the boom year 1929.

May Be Close to $1,400.

On the basis of national income above $60,000,000,000 this year, officials said, per capita income might be close to $1,400.

The department report showed that in every year since 1929 income paid out exceeded income produced—that payments to individuals have exceeded the valuation of the nation's products.

Last year income paid out exceeded income produced by $628,000,000, compared with the largest depression excess of $8,817,000,000 in 1932. In 1929 income produced exceeded income paid out by $2,402,000,000.

When income produced exceeds that paid out it is classified by the commerce department as "business savings."

Silvercote Products Sales Show 110 Pct. Increase

Silvercote Products, Inc. sales of building and refrigerator insulation and allied materials totaled 6,023,000 square feet in the third quarter, an increase of 110 per cent over the preceding quarter, C. E. Stedman, president, announced yesterday.

STEEL OUTPUT RISES ON EVE OF PRICE ADVANCES

Motor and Railroad Buying Expands.

Although interest in the forthcoming price advances dominated the iron and steel market last week, automobile production rose above the 100,000 mark for the first time in five months, rail awards totaled 118,560 tons, and structural shape contracts increased by about 5,000 tons, thus boosting the national steel works operating average to 74 per cent of the nation's capacity, said the magazine Steel yesterday. The gain was 1 point over the previous week.

Protective buying against the price advances appeared last week, even though the extent of the increases or the effective dates were unknown, it was pointed out by the publication. Both the finished steel composite and the iron and steel index were unchanged.

Large Expansion Programs.

Last week brought forth additional expansion programs and it is now apparent, according to the magazine, that the seven continuous hot strip and sheet mills being constructed or under authorization constitute one of the "most remarkable expansions for any product in any two-year period in the history of the steel industry."

Heavy buying of billets and sheet bars by the Ford Motor company has been the feature of the semi-finished market recently. Steel reported. Strong demand for sheets has resulted in some mills becoming completely booked for the remainder of the year. Adjustment of quantity extras and expected price advances have augmented demand for strip. Tin plate mills now are operating at about 90 per cent of capacity. Bar specifications show prospects of further gains.

Plate Makers Expect Upturn.

Steel pointed out that plate makers are reported to be anticipating an early pickup in orders. Steel wire shipments are heavy and apparently many buyers are preparing for a price adjustment.

Operations last week in the Cleveland district were up 1 point to 80½ per cent; Wheeling, 3 to 92; Birmingham, 7 to 74; Cincinnati, 5 to 96, and St. Louis, 3 to 68. Pittsburgh was down 2 points to 68; Youngstown, 4 to 79, and New England, 15 to 73.

The home you want

Where is the home you want—the home that will meet your requirements as to price, size, type and neighborhood?

One of the best ways to begin the quest for a home—or any other kind of real estate—is in the want ad columns of the Tribune.

The Tribune prints more real estate want advertising, more offers and a greater variety, than any other Chicago newspaper. Chicago's leading real estate want ad medium today, as for more than 20 years, is the Tribune.

EVERY COMMERCIAL SERVICE THAT IS CONSISTENT WITH SOUND BANKING IS OFFERED AT THIS INSTITUTION

In growing measure, the day to day activities of industry and commerce employ the various services of this bank. A major reason for this trend lies in the completeness of the commercial banking facilities. ¶ Every banking service needed by industry is available . . . and available whether the transaction requires domestic or foreign handling. Responsible firms and corporations, both local and national, find that their current needs for credit can be satisfied here. They have established their banking relationships with The Northern Trust Company in the knowledge that sound business will receive every consideration that is consistent with sound banking.

TWA TO OFFER STOCKHOLDERS 207,711 SHARES

Will Buy New Planes with Proceeds.

Directors of Trans-continental and Western Air, Inc., announced yesterday an offering to stockholders of rights to subscribe to 207,711 additional common capital shares of the company at the rate of one-third share for each share now held. The price will be according to market conditions when the offering is made, and it is expected that it will yield between $2,250,000 and $2,500,000. The proceeds will be used in part to buy thirteen twin-engined Douglas transport airplanes which are under construction.

The directors also have approved an employé stock purchase plan which will become effective upon approval by stockholders. It provides that 50,000 shares shall be set aside for sale from time to time to officers and employés.

For the three months ended Sept. 30, TWA reported a net income of $139,880 after charges and normal taxes. This was equal to 22.4 cents each on the 623,135 outstanding $5 par capital shares. For the nine months to Sept. 30 net income was $158,305, or 25.4 cents a share. In the September quarter last year the company reported a net income of $70,140, or 11.2 cents a share.

Chicago Trafic Increases.

Reduced fares placed in effect Nov. 1 by Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., resulted in a gain in passenger trafic out of Chicago of more than 100 per cent during the first two weeks of the low rates, John C. Graves, regional trafic manager, said yesterday.

Including advance registrations booked through Nov. 15 trafic will exceed that for the whole month of November last year, he said. During the first fourteen days demand for space from Chicago was so great that twenty-two sections were operated in excess of scheduled flights.

Also Report Gains.

Chicago and Southern Airlines, which also reduced fares at the same time, said that if present volume of business continues for the balance of November, the month will be the best in the company's history, despite the fact that summer months normally witness the heaviest trafic.

Last Friday, the 13th, jinx day for the superstitious, was the biggest day in the history of air transportation from the Chicago Municipal airport. Edward Eidson, manager of the consolidated air lines ticket office, reported that a total of 535 passengers departed on seven air lines serving Chicago on that day.

American Home Products.

Investors' Guide: Please send me full information on American Home Pock and kindl. advise if same is a good investment.—W. B. K.

Answer: American Home Products corporation is one of the leading producers of drugs and drug accessories and medicinal and toilet articles. It also turns out oil and rubber products.

This corporation was formed in 1926 through merger of 16 smaller companies, some of which had been established 50 years. Further acquisitions have been made subsequently, mainly by issuance of stock. The largest single addition, made early this year, was Affiliated Products, Inc., whose "Edna Wallace Hopper," "Angelus," "Kissproof," and other brands round out the American Home line of cosmetics.

The company also has acquired "Petrosyllium," "Three-in-One Oil," and Rubbersan Products, Inc., in the last year.

Best sellers include Kolynos dental cream, BiSoDol, Anacin, Jad Salts, Petrolagar, Freezone, Old English floor wax and polish, and Hill's Cascara Quinine.

Advertising has been an important factor in the success of this corporation in keeping the names of its brands constantly before the public. Competition is keen in the fields covered.

A period of reduced profit margins and resulting lower net income appears to have ended this year. Net income for the first nine months of 1936 was $2,158,000, or $2.91 a share on the 741,060 shares of $1 par stock, which constitute sole outstanding capitalization. There is no funded debt. The record of earnings follows:

	Sales.	Net income.	Inc. per share.
1934	16,171,000	2,031,000	3.02
1933	14,707,000	1,996,000	2.97
1932	15,356,000	2,644,000	3.93
1931	16,492,000	3,374,000	5.52

[Note: Per share figures based on 672,100 shares outstanding in 1932, 1933, 1934, and 1935 before issuance of stock for Affiliated Products. Record 1931 figure is based on 611,000 shares.]

The corporation's financial position is good, current assets being $6,453,000, and current liabilities $1,511,000 at the end of 1935.

Dividends at the rate of 20 cents a share each month have been paid since October, 1933. For the three years until the second quarter of 1933 dividends had been at the rate of 35 cents a month. The rate was 25 cents a month in the intervening months.
